General Information

The Association's 120th Annual Meeting will be held in Philadelphia at the Philadelphia Marriott Downtown, Loews Philadelphia, and Courtyard Philadelphia Downtown hotels. Many of the profession's most distinguished members will be present to deliver papers and over 1,200 scholars, including 107 foreign scholars, will participate in the three-and-one-half-day meeting. In addition, more than four dozen specialized societies will be meeting in conjunction with the AHA. Each society will be holding its own sessions, luncheons, and/or meetings, as well as joint sessions with the Association. James J. Sheehan of Stanford University will deliver the presidential address on the evening of January 6, and recipients of the 2005 book awards, honorary foreign membership, the Awards for Scholarly Distinction, the Troyer Steele Anderson Prize, the Eugene Asher Distinguished Teaching Award, the Beveridge Family Teaching Prize, the William Gilbert Award, the John O'Connor Film Award, and the Nancy Lyman Roelker Mentorship Award will be announced.

Noted below are the locations of various events:

Accommodations

The AHA has reserved substantial blocks of rooms at eight downtown hotels, all within blocks of the hotels where events are scheduled: Marriott, Loews, Courtyard, DoubleTree Philadelphia, Hilton Garden Inn Philadelphia Center City, Wyndham Philadelphia at Franklin Plaza, Hampton Inn Philadelphia Center City, and Holiday Inn Express Philadelphia-Midtown. The Philadelphia Marriott Downtown (<http://www.marriott.com>; 215-625-2900) at 1201 Market Street, will serve as headquarters. The Loews Philadelphia (<http://www.loewshotels.com/philadelphia>; 215-627-1200) at 1200 Market Street, will serve as co-headquarters and is adjacent to the Marriott. Events have also been scheduled at the Courtyard Philadelphia Downtown (<http://www.PhiladelphiaDowntownCourtyard.com>; 215-496-3200), at 21 Juniper Street. Additional blocks of rooms have been reserved at the DoubleTree Philadelphia (<http://www.doubletree.com>; 215-893-1600) at 237 South Broad Street; the Hilton Garden Inn Philadelphia Center City (<http://www.hiltongardenshilly.com/>; 215-923-0100) at 1100 Arch Street; the Wyndham Philadelphia at Franklin Plaza (<http://www.wyndham.com>; 215-448-2000) at 17th and Race Streets; the Hampton Inn Philadelphia Center City (<http://www.hamptoninn.com>; 215-665-9100) at 1301 Race Street; and the Holiday Inn Express Philadelphia-Midtown (<http://www.hiexpress.com>; 215-735-9300) at 1305-11 Walnut Street.

Rates at the Marriott and the Loews are $99 single and $109 double. Rates at the Wyndham are $97 single and $107 double. Rates at the DoubleTree, Hilton, and Holiday Inn are $95 single and double. Rates at the Courtyard are $94 single and $104 double and at the Hampton Inn $93 single and $103 double. All rooms are subject to city and state occupancy taxes of 14 percent per room, per night. Rates are in effect three days before and after the meeting dates (January 5–8) and are available for only a limited number of rooms at each property.

Reservations

Beginning September 6, 2005, hotel reservations must be made exclusively with ITS, the Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau's exclusive housing vendor, based in Deerfield, Illinois. Requests for reservations will be accepted by ITS via the Internet (through a special link on the AHA annual meeting web page, <http://www.historians.org/annual>), which will take the user to housing bureau's online services for the AHA meeting, as the AHA itself cannot process reservations. Make your reservations via the Internet for best availability and immediate confirmation.

The housing bureau will also accept reservations via the call center, fax, or mail (only if accompanied by a check deposit) through 5:00 P.M. CST, December 14, 2005.

ITS's call center (toll-free, 800-650-6835) will accept reservations from the United States and Canada during the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M. Central Standard Time, Monday through Friday. International callers may call 847-282-2515 to make reservations during normal business hours. Phone reservations are limited to five per call—requests for more than five must be submitted in writing.

Faxes from the U.S. and Canada may be sent 24 hours a day, seven days a week to 800-521-6017, but will be processed during business hours. International attendees may fax to 847-940-2386. Please use one form per room, making copies as needed. Only fully completed forms will be accepted.

Reservations for suites can be made by through the call center, Internet, or the housing form.

Reservation requests can be sent by mail only if payments are made by check, and should be sent to AHA Housing Bureau, 108 Wilmot Road, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 825, Deerfield, IL 60015-0825. The checks should be made payable to AHA Housing Bureau, in U.S. funds, drawn on a U.S. bank. Only fully completed forms will be accepted.

Confirmation

The Housing Bureau will send a confirmation of all new reservations, modifications, and cancellations. The bureau will send out confirmations by mail, fax, or e-mail no later than 72 hours of processing reservations. Room reservations made by Internet and phone are confirmed immediately with a confirmation number. Please note that the individual hotels will not send out a separate confirmation.

Deposit

A deposit is required for all reservations. For standard room reservations, the deposit is $125 per room. The deposit is $250 for a one-bedroom suite and $375 for a two-bedroom suite. Deposits can be guaranteed via credit card or by check payment. If payment is to be made by a check, payable to the AHA Housing Bureau, in U.S. funds, drawn on a U.S. bank, must accompany the completed housing request form. If payment is to be by credit card, the card will be billed immediately. ITS accepts American Express, MasterCard, Visa, Diner's Club, and Discover cards. The bureau does not accept money orders, wire transfers, or invoices for room deposits. Please note that reservations will not be processed without a deposit.

Cutoff Date

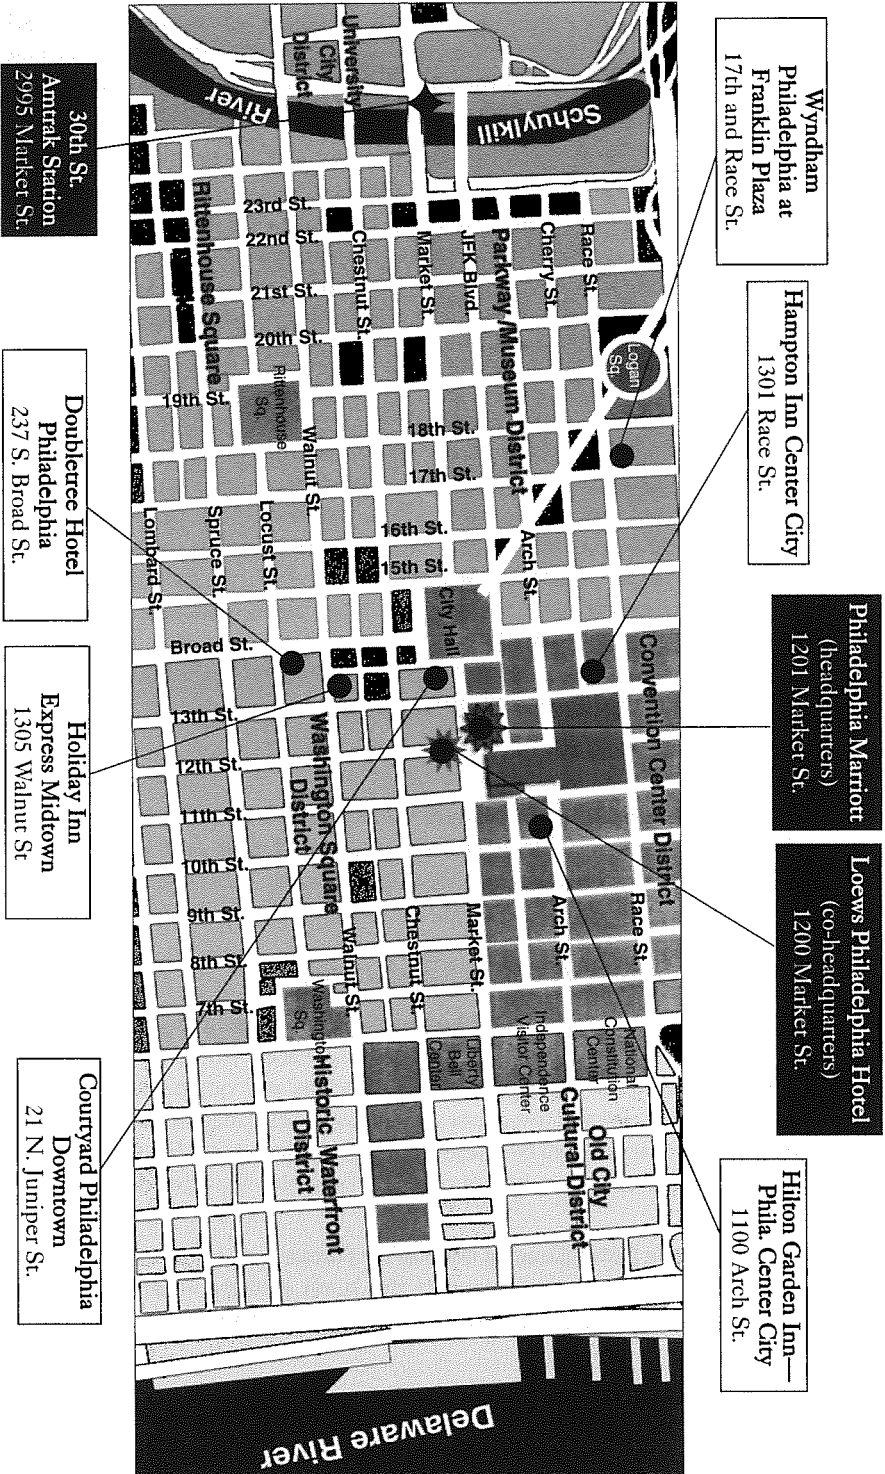

The cutoff date for the AHA's official block is 5:00 P.M. CST, December 14, 2005. After this date, remaining inventory in the block will be released and rooms will be available at the discounted convention rates only on a space-available basis. If all hotels sell out, the AHA will work with the bureau to secure additional hotel rooms.

Changes, Cancellations, and Refunds

Meeting attendees can continue to make and modify (depending on availability) or cancel reservations from September 6 through December 14, 2005, 5:00 P.M. CST by telephone, fax, in writing, or through e-mail. Attendees will not be penalized for any cancellation made on or before December 14. Reservations canceled after December 14 but prior to 72 hours of arrival will be subject to an $18 processing fee. Cancellations will be refunded through the same method of payment by which the attendee originally paid the deposit.

Do not contact the hotel directly until after December 19, 2005. After that date, attendees who wish to cancel must contact the hotel directly. Reservations canceled within 72 hours of arrival date are subject to forfeiture of the entire amount of the deposit.

Map of the Area

Arrangements for Persons Requiring Physical, Sight, or Hearing Accessibility

To facilitate hotel reservations and participation in the meeting for those who need physical, sight, or hearing accessibility, the following information is provided. Guests should advise the housing bureau about specific needs when room reservations are made.

If you require a scooter, rentals are available by contacting: ScootAround Inc., toll-free at 888-441-7575, by e-mail at info@scootaround.com, online at <http://www.scootaround.com>, or by fax at 204-478-1172.

The city of Philadelphia hosts a web site, Access Philadelphia (<http://www.phila.gov/aco>) to provide up-to-date information on access to city facilities, procedures for requesting reasonable accommodations, and other important information relating to accessibility.

All hotels have accessible lobbies; several have autoslide doors. Thresholds and doormats are in compliance with ADA regulations and doorman services are available at most properties. Lobbies have marble floors and/or low-pile area carpeting. All hotels have accessible registration desks or provide clipboards to guests to complete registration documentation. Elevators connect all levels of each hotel, and have keypads that are wheelchair accessible, Braille numerals beside each control button, and audible direction. Restrooms in lobbies and on meeting room floors are accessible by guests using wheelchairs and have tactile signage.

All hotels have accessible guest rooms—the quantity at each property is noted in the listing below. These rooms feature among other amenities wheelchair-accessible doors, lever/lever door handles, security peepholes, ample room space, grab bars in restrooms, low sinks with insulated pipes, accessible towel racks, and accessible mirrors. The following auxiliary aids are available at most properties: flashing fire alarm, doorbell, and telephone; vibrating alarm clock; closed-caption decoders; Braille signage; and TDD telephones.

Philadelphia Marriott Downtown

Parking: ADA guests are accommodated on the Filbert Street driveway entrance to the hotel by valet parking attendants.

Guest rooms: The hotel has 68 ADA-approved accessible rooms; 52 are non-smoking. Thirty deluxe rooms feature king-size beds and 26 deluxe rooms feature two double beds. Thirty-one of the rooms have roll-in showers and 29 feature tubs, four with grab bars.

Meeting rooms: The meeting rooms are located on floors 3, 4, and 5, are accessible by elevator, and are fully carpeted. All meeting room doors are ADA compliant.

Restaurants: Allie's American Grille and Champions Sports Bar are located in the hotel's lobby level and are entirely accessible. JW's Steakhouse is located on the mezzanine level (access via elevator from lobby) and is also accessible.

Loews Philadelphia

Parking: ADA guests are accommodated at the 12th Street valet parking entrance by hotel staff or by the doorman at the Market Street entrance if arriving by taxi.

Guest rooms: The hotel has 17 ADA-approved accessible rooms, including one suite.

Meeting rooms: All meeting rooms-located on the second, third, and fourth floors of the hotel-are accessible via elevator, and can be set up to accommodate wheelchair requirements.

Restaurants: Solefood Restaurant, Bar, and Lounge is on the lobby level and is entirely accessible.

Courtyard Philadelphia Downtown

Parking: Hotel guests are accommodated by valet parking.

Guest rooms: The hotel has 21 guestrooms with roll-in showers, offering a mix of king beds and two queen beds. All but two of the accessible rooms are nonsmoking.

Meeting rooms: The hotel's eleven meeting rooms are located on the first floor and the mezzanine level, and are accessible via elevator.

Restaurants: Junipers Café, open for breakfast, and the Lobby Lounge and Restaurant, open for lunch and dinner, have accessible areas of seating.

DoubleTree Philadelphia

Parking: ADA guests are accommodated at the garage entrance by valet parking.

Guest rooms: The hotel has 10 ADA-approved accessible rooms.

Restaurant: Standing O is located on the lobby level and Academy Café on the second floor and both are accessible.

Hilton Garden Inn Philadelphia Center City

Parking: The parking garage has four designated spaces on each floor directly located next to elevators. An elevator that leads into the hotel lobby provides accessibility to the hotel.

Guest Rooms: The hotel has 10 ADA-approved accessible rooms. Three have roll-in showers and accessible tubs and seven have roll-in showers only. The hotel also has 12 TTY-machines for hearing impaired guests. Guests' swimming pool on the second floor is handicap accessible Restaurant: The Tenth Floor Grill and Lounge has accessibility to all areas of dining.

Wyndham Philadelphia at Franklin Plaza

Parking: There are 10 spaces each on "P1" and "P2" levels of the hotel's garage that can accommodate vans up to 6 feet, 4 inches. The elevator from the garage level accesses directly into the main lobby.

Guest rooms: The hotel has 22 ADA-approved guestrooms with roll-in showers and has 15 TTY transmitters for hearing-impaired guests.

Restaurants: Shula's Steak House and Terrace Restaurant are located on the lobby level and are accessible. The lobby bar has ramp access to the bar and seating area.

Hampton Inn Philadelphia Center City

Parking: ADA guests are accommodated on 13th Street/Main Lobby entrance of the hotel by valet parking staff.

Guest rooms: Ten guest rooms are accessible to individuals in wheelchairs.

Holiday Inn Express Philadelphia-Midtown

Parking: The hotel has self parking with a number of designated parking spaces. An elevator from the garage leads to the lobby. The hotel has wheelchair ramps for easy accessibility to all hotel entrances.

Guest rooms: The hotel has eight accessible guest rooms.

Restaurants: The Breakfast Bar located on the first floor is equipped with wheelchair ramps.

Transportation to Philadelphia

Association Travel Concepts (ATC) is the official travel agency for the annual meeting. As such, ATC has negotiated discounts with United Airlines, US Airways, American Airlines, Amtrak, Avis Rent A Car, and Enterprise Rent-A-Car to bring attendees special air, rail, and car rental rates that are lower than those available to the public. These cost-saving options may be booked online at the AHA Travel Center web site—just follow the member travel links from <http://www.atcmeetings.com/aha>. Individuals can also fax 858-362-3153 or e-mail: reservations@atcmeetings.com. ATC staff are available for reservations from 9:00 A.M.–7:00 P.M. EST, Monday through Friday.

Air Travel

By calling ATC, attendees will secure discounts of 10 to 15 percent off the lowest available fare for United (ID number 510CK) and 10 to 15 percent off applicable classes of service for US Airways (ID number GF65653502) and American (ID number A6416AH) on tickets purchased more than 30 days prior to the meeting. For tickets purchased less than 30 days prior, the discounts will be 5 to 10 percent. Some restrictions may apply and service fees will vary. Discounts apply for travel Monday, January 2 through Wednesday, January 11, 2006.

ATC will also search for the lowest available fare on any airline serving the Philadelphia International Airport. ATC provides personalized service, advance seat assignments, special meal requests, frequent flier program updates, electronic ticketing, e-mail access for convenient booking of your tickets, and more.

These cost saving options may also be booked online by going to the AHA's Travel Center (<http://www.atcmeetings.com/aha>) and following the member travel link. Low fares available only on the Web can be found using the ATC search engine. Attendees can explore region-to-region flat zone rates and consolidator and net fares without a Saturday night stayover to find lower fares.

Rail Travel

Amtrak offers a 10 percent discount off the lowest available fare to/from Philadelphia. Discount fares available December 30, 2005, through January 14, 2006. To book space, call your travel agent or Amtrak at 800-872-1477 and refer to fare order number X92H-947 when making the booking. Fares cannot be booked via the Internet. Special high-speed Metroliner Service is available every hour along the Northeast corridor. Fare is valid on Metroliner and Acela service for all departures seven days a week, except for holiday blackouts (for a list, see <http://www.Amtrak.com>). The offer is also valid with sleepers, business class, or first class seats with payment of the full applicable accommodation charges. The offer is not valid on Auto Train.

Car Rental

Attendees can also arrange to rent a car through Avis (ID number J952801; 800-331-1600) or Enterprise (ID number 32H7476; 800-593-0505), with discounted rates effective January 2 through January 11, 2006.

Philadelphia Mass Transit

Philadelphia's mass transit system is operated by the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority (SEPTA) (<http://www.septa.org>). SEPTA operates a coordinated system of bus, subway, elevated train, and trolley lines that covers all of Philadelphia and parts of the surrounding counties. Suburban Station and Market East Station serve the AHA's meeting hotels and are in the heart of the business, shopping, and hotel districts. Also, 30th Street Station provides quick connections with Amtrak. Each of these stations connects the entire rail system with the city's Airport Rail Line. SEPTA also operates a large fleet of buses and street cars through the city and suburbs with highly concentrated service in the Center City area. Two subway lines—the Market-Frankford (east-west) and Broad Street (north-south)—crisscross the city. Bus Route 42 connects Center City with the Civic Center and University City. The Broad Street Line connects Center City with the sports complex in South Philadelphia.

Cash fare on most routes is $2 (exact change required). Discounted tokens and passes are available at SEPTA sales offices and at commercial sales outlets. During off-peak hours, senior citizens ride buses and streetcars for free; $1 on the train. The easiest way to travel to all of Philadelphia's sights and attractions is with SEPTA's Day Pass. The tourist-friendly pass is good for one day of unlimited riding on all City Transit vehicles, plus a one-way trip on the Airport Line. A Day Pass costs $5 and can be purchased at the Visitors Center at 6th and Market Streets. Visit the web site or call (215-580-7800) to check latest fares and packages. Calls are answered 6:00 A.M.–midnight daily.

Stops within the central Philadelphia area are at four locations: University City Station (Convention Avenue at South Street) is located near the University of Pennsylvania, Drexel University, and the Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology; 30th Street Station (30th and Market Streets) is located directly in the Amtrak station; Suburban Station (16th and Market Streets) is located in the heart of the central Philadelphia business and shopping districts; and Market East Station (10th and Market Streets) is located in the Gallery Shopping Mall.

The following stops serve AHA meeting hotels: Market East Station for the Marriott (direct entrance), Courtyard, Loews, Hilton, Hampton Inn, and Holiday Inn Express. Suburban Station for the DoubleTree and Wyndham (several blocks).

Arriving by Air

The Philadelphia area is served by the Philadelphia International Airport (PHL), and is served by all major domestic carriers. The new international terminal features 13 international gates and 56 U.S. immigration booths. To review a terminal layout, see <http://www.phl.org>. The airport is located seven miles from downtown. Incoming visitors can reach hotels via taxi, van shuttle, limo, or mass transit.

TAXI SERVICE

Taxis are readily available outside the baggage claim area of the airport. Exit the terminal and walk to Zone 5 where the taxicab dispatcher will hail a cab for you. The taxi fare from the airport to Center City Philadelphia is a $25 flat fee, one way, not including an optional gratuity. The trip takes approximately 20 minutes, though longer in rush hours.

AIRPORT SHUTTLE

Lady Liberty Airport Shuttle provides airport shuttle service to all Philadelphia hotels. Reservations are not necessary. The Lady Liberty van runs 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The one-way fare between Philadelphia International Airport and Center City Philadelphia is $8 per adult, $4 per child 6–12 years, and free for children under 6 years of age. After luggage is collected, go to the Ground Transportation Desk (a staffed desk with monitors, not to be confused with the bank of phones connecting to local hotels). Pick up the phone and dial 27, or call 215-724-8888. Tell the dispatcher which terminal you are in and your destination and follow the instructions you receive. Remain in the seating area near the Ground Transportation Counter (open 5:00 A.M. to midnight) and you will be called when your driver arrives. The shuttle vans are waiting in a holding lot at the airport and are dispatched into the terminals once a call is received. The average wait time is 10 to 15 minutes. Two pieces of luggage plus one carry-on piece per passenger are allowed. Excess luggage will be charged at the discretion of the dispatcher and driver—it's best to get a quote from the driver before boarding.

For return transfers, call Lady Liberty at least 24 hours in advance at 215-724-8888. Transfers are available between 5:00 A.M. and midnight daily, with departure from the hotel scheduled by reservation. Allow a minimum of two hours for the return trip. Since Lady Liberty's last shuttle is at midnight, taxi or train are the only options after that time. It is customary to tip the shuttle driver, usually $1 per suitcase.

EXECUTIVE AIRPORT AND LIMOUSINE SERVICE

CAR ONE Sedan and Limousine (<http://www.car1limo.com>) is the leader in chauffeured transportation to and from the Philadelphia International Airport. CAR ONE Express Service offers the option of a town car or limousine from the airport to the hotel. Reservations must be made at least 24 hours in advance by calling 800-787-2271, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Town car service is $52, plus an 18 percent gratuity charge; limousine service is available for $124 plus gratuity. Sedans can hold up to 4 people comfortably and limousines can hold up to 8 people comfortably. By providing full flight information details in advance, arrangements can be made for pick up at the airport upon arrival. After collecting luggage, dial x48 on one of the courtesy phones in the baggage claim areas and let the guest service agent know your terminal. Proceed to the Ground Transportation Counter where attendants direct passengers once the car has arrived at the curb. For an additional $5, the driver can meet the passenger in the baggage claim area.

MASS TRANSIT

SEPTA's R1 Airport Line (<http://www.septa.org>) provides fast and convenient service to and from the five airport terminals, departing every 20 minutes from the airport. Each terminal has a station located between the security checkpoint and baggage claim. The R1 Airport Line costs $5.50 for one-way fare downtown. The trip takes about 20 minutes, with trains departing every half hour from 6:00 A.M. to midnight.

Arriving by Train

Amtrak's 30th Street Station is located at 30th and Market Streets, a 10-minute taxi ride ($6) from the hotels. Riders can also transfer from Amtrak to a SEPTA Regional Rail train for no extra charge by showing the conductor the Amtrak ticket stub (which should be saved for the return trip as well). If purchasing a SEPTA ticket, the special fare for travel between 30th Street, Suburban, and Market East Stations is only sold as a round-trip fare for $3.50.

Driving

Directions to downtown: From the north, take I-95 South to Exit 22 (previously 17) I-676W and follow Independence Hall signs, turn right onto Callowhill Street, then follow signs to "8th Street South-Chinatown," then to Pennsylvania Convention Center—meeting hotels are clustered around the center. From the south, take I-95 North to Exit 22 (previously 17) I-676 W. Bear right and exit onto Callowhill Street, then follow signs to "8th Street South-Chinatown," then to Pennsylvania Convention Center. From the east via Ben Franklin Bridge, bear left after crossing the bridge and follow signs to "8th Street South-Chinatown," then to the convention center. From the east via Walt Whitman Bridge, take I-76 West toward Central Philadelphia and exit at Exit 344 (previously 38), which leads to I-676 East to Broad Street, then exit to Vine Street. From the west, take I-76 East to Central Philadelphia, to exit 344 (previously 38), I-676 E to Broad Street exit to Vine Street. For more specific directions, key in the convention center address (1100 Arch Street) on MapQuest (<http://www.mapquest.com>).

Parking

Parking at Hotels and Convention Center: Current published rates at the hotels for each 24-hour period are: Marriott—no self park, $32 valet park; Loews—no self, $30 valet; Courtyard—no self, $32.20 valet; Doubletree—$18 self, $22 valet; Hilton Garden Inn—no self or valet service; Wyndham—$20 self, $22 valet; Hampton Inn—$15 self, $18 valet; Holiday Inn—$18 self, no valet.

Additional Parking Options in Philadelphia: Philadelphia has more than 7,000 metered and non-metered timed spaces in the central business and shopping areas. There are several thousand additional spaces throughout the city. Meter rates are either $1.00 or $.50 per hour depending upon whether the meter is in a central location. Meter times vary from one to four hours. Most meters take quarters only; some still take dimes and nickels. Drivers should pay attention to the posted meter and regulation signs. Red signs will indicate when parking is prohibited; the green signs indicate when and how long drivers can park.

In addition to street parking, there are more than 40 parking lots in downtown within the vicinity of the meeting hotels. Daily rates range from $12–$24. The Philadelphia Parking Authority (PPA) (<http://www.philapark.org>) operates several garages and lots throughout the city. The PPA's Parking Locator allows users to search the city's more than 1,000 off-street parking locations for the best parking options based on price, proximity, and hours of operation. PPA parking facilities in downtown Philadelphia include: Parking Plaza Garage, 8th and Filbert Streets (operates Monday–Saturday, 6:00 A.M.–midnight; Sunday 9:00 A.M.–7:00 P.M.; $10 for 24-hour period); AutoPark at the Gallery Mall, 9th and Market Streets (operates Monday–Sunday, 6:00 A.M.–midnight; $12.50 for 24 hour-hour period); AutoPark at JFK Plaza, 15th and Arch Streets, with entrances on Arch Street at 16th and on Cherry Street (operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week; hourly rates during the day and $7 for overnight, from 4:00 P.M.–6:00 A.M.); AutoPark at City Center, 15th and Arch Streets (operates Monday–Friday, 5:30 A.M.–9:30 P.M. and Saturday, 8:00 A.M.–4:00 P.M.; $15 for 24-hour period); Philadelphia Gateway Parking Garage, 1540 Vine Street, with entrances on Spring and 16th Streets (operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week; $14 for 24-hour period); AutoPark at Jefferson, southwest corner of 10th and Ludlow Streets (operates 6:30 A.M.–11:30 P.M.; charges $12 for 24-hour period).

Sign Interpreting

In order to make the necessary arrangements, hearing-impaired members who will need sign-interpreting service at the AHA annual meeting must notify the Headquarters Office and register for the meeting by December 2, 2005. After reviewing the program, but not later than December 2, members who have made such requests should inform Headquarters of the sessions they plan to attend. Headquarters will then, with the assistance of the Local Arrangements Committee and the Registry of Interpreters, secure the services of appropriate interpreters. The AHA will assume the cost for up to nine hours of interpreting service or a maximum of $400 per member, whichever is less.

In addition, if a member so requests, an interpreter will be provided for the General Meeting (Friday, January 6, 8:30 P.M.) and the Annual Business Meeting (Saturday, January 7, 4:45 P.M.). Please contact Sharon K. Tune, Convention Director, AHA, 400 A Street SE, Washington, DC 20003, by December 2; e-mail: stune@historians.org.

CONDUCTING JOB INTERVIEWS IN A PRIVATE SUITE?

Your candidates can find out the location at the Job Register. Please let the AHA staff know the hotel and room number as soon as possible. Visit the Job Register Information Booth in Marriott's Grand Ballroom Salon H and help us help your candidates arrive at their interviews on time!

Meeting Registration

Intending participants are urged to preregister at the reduced rates of $75 members; $95 nonmembers; $45 student members; $55 student nonmembers; $45 unemployed; and $20 precollegiate teachers (evidence of employment is required for the precollegiate teachers' rate). The AHA also offers special preregistration rates of $50 for middle and high school teachers and $100 for undergraduate teachers each leading groups of up to five students. A preregistration form is included as an insert in the program and is available through the AHA headquarters office. Attendees can also preregister online beginning September 23, 2005 via a link on the AHA's web site (<http://www.historians.org/annual>). Please note that preregistration for the 2006 meeting will be handled by a processing service and forms should be sent to the address on the form and not to the AHA office. Preregistrants will receive confirmation within four to six weeks.

Advance registration must be received by Wednesday, January 4, 2006. Registration materials, including badges, will be distributed at the meeting during the regular business hours noted below. Individuals who have preregistered should go to booths designated for preregistrants in the Marriott's Liberty Ballroom.

Fees for registering at the meeting will be $90 members; $110 nonmembers; $50 student members; $60 student nonmembers; $50 unemployed; and $25 precollegiate teachers (evidence of employment is required for the precollegiate teachers' rate).

The registration desks will be located in the Marriott's Liberty Ballroom and will be open during the following hours:

Thursday, January 5	12:00 P.M.—7:00 P.M.
Friday, January 6	8:00 A.M.—6:00 P.M.
Saturday, January 7	8:30 A.M.—4:00 P.M.

Admission to all sessions, exhibits, and the Job Register requires a Registration Badge.

Refund Policy

Advance registrants who are unable to attend the meeting may request a refund of their registration fee. A written request accompanied by the meeting badge must be postmarked by December 23, 2005, and should include a copy of the preregistration form that was submitted. Proof of payment—copies of front and back of cancelled check or copy of credit card statement—may also be required. All refunds are subject to a $10 processing fee. No refunds will be issued for requests postmarked after December 23, 2005.

Messaging and Internet Center

The AHA will employ an electronic two-way messaging system to allow everyone registered for the annual meeting to communicate electronically with each other. The system will utilize easy-to-use terminals in the Marriott's Grand Ballroom E. The system replaces the traditional locator file and the various inconspicuous hard-to-use message boards. The system will be the designated form of communication for those using the Job Register. Interviewers and interviewees can schedule and confirm interviews. AHA staff answering the phones at the meeting will be able to take messages for attendees and post them directly into the system.

The system will use large monitors to display the names of persons with messages waiting for them. Persons with messages waiting will be able to use any available terminal to log in using a password that will be printed on their badges. Each terminal will have all the simple instructions necessary to receive or send messages to other registered conference attendees.

There will also be a few Internet terminals available for checking regular e-mail accounts. Persons who use the “Telnet” protocol to reach their university’s servers are advised that some universities employ firewalls that prevent access from outside the university system. If you wish to be able to check your e-mail and avoid this problem, you may consider having your e-mail forwarded to one of the commonly available free e-mail services (such as Yahoo or Excite) that are accessible via a web browser.

Business Meeting

The AHA Council, divisions, and committees will report to the Association at the annual business meeting. Reports are subject to discussion and appropriate motions relating to them. Resolutions on other matters for the business meeting will be handled as follows: (1) resolutions signed by 25 members of the Association will be accepted until December 15, 2005, (2) resolutions received by October 15, 2005, will take precedence and will be published in the December issue of Perspectives; and (3) resolutions must be no more than 300 words in length. Resolutions should be sent to the Executive Director at the AHA headquarters, with a copy to the Parliamentarian, Michael Les Benedict, Department of History, Ohio State University, 230 West 17th Avenue, Columbus, OH 43210.

At its meeting on May 15–16, 1980, the Council adopted the following bylaw (as amended May 8–9, 1994) pursuant to Article VII, Sections 1-5, of the constitution: No motion, resolution, or other business shall be passed by a division of the members at the annual business meeting unless there is present a quorum of 100 members in good standing.

Voting Cards

Voting cards will be distributed to members at the meeting.

Affiliated Societies

The foyer of the Marriott’s Liberty Ballroom has been reserved from 11:30 A.M. to 2:30 P.M. on Friday, January 6, for affiliated societies to display materials and to meet with members of the profession.

Exhibit Hall

The exhibits are located in the Marriott’s Franklin Hall on the hotel’s fourth level and will be open during the following hours:

Thursday, January 5	3:00 P.M.–7:00 P.M.
Friday, January 6	9:00 A.M.–6:00 P.M.
Saturday, January 7	9:00 A.M.–6:00 P.M.
Sunday, January 8	9:00 A.M.–12:00 P.M.

Admission to the Exhibit Hall requires an AHA registration badge.

Job Register

The Job Register, located in the Marriott's Grand Ballroom Salon H, on the hotel's fifth level, will be open during the following hours:

Thursday, January 5	12:30 P.M.–6:00 P.M.
Friday, January 6	9:00 A.M.–6:00 P.M.
Saturday, January 7	9:00 A.M.–6:00 P.M.
Sunday, January 8	9:00 A.M.–12:00 P.M.

Admission to the Job Register facility requires an AHA registration badge.

Childcare

The AHA provides the names of the following childcare suppliers as a service to members who may be interested, but the AHA assumes no responsibility for their performance, licensing, insurance, and so on. Both companies note that they are fully insured, licensed, and bonded, and they will make arrangements to provide childcare in the client's hotel room or elsewhere. Pay rates are generally based on a caregiver's training and experience and the requirements of the particular engagement. Typical rates are $13 to $15 per hour.

Local Arrangements: Historians and Philadelphia

For the 120th Annual Meeting, Andrew Lees, Rutgers University at Camden, chair; Kate Wilson, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, co-chair; and members of the Local Arrangements Committee (LAC) will provide Association members with detailed information to make their Philadelphia visit thoroughly enjoyable. LAC members are writing articles on the city and the region for the October, November, and December issues of Perspectives, including guides to museums, points of interests, and restaurants in the area. Look for a pull-out annual meeting guide in the December issue of Perspectives, and bring it with you, as it will contain valuable information.

What Philadelphia Has to Offer

Philadelphia is the second-largest city on the East Coast and ranks fifth in the nation, with a population of 5.8 million. The city is just 100 miles south of New York and 133 miles north of Washington, D.C. Thanks to William Penn, a logical grid pattern for the streets makes Philadelphia easy to navigate. Main thoroughfares of Market Street, running east-west, and Broad Street, running north-south, meet at the central hub of City Hall and form four quadrants around it. Regions include the Parkway Museums, Convention Center, Washington Square, and Rittenhouse Square districts. Old City and Society Hill-Waterfront are Philadelphia's oldest areas. The AHA's meeting hotels and many of the primary tourist destinations are located in downtown (called "Center City") Philadelphia.

Introduction to the City

Visitors who want to do some advance planning for their stay can explore various aspects of the city and the region at a number of web sites, including its hotels, points of interest, and cultural institutions. For a general tourist introduction to the city, visit the web site of the Greater Philadelphia Tourism Marketing Corporation (<http://www.gophila.com>), clicking on "Plan Your Trip" for the Philadelphia Trip Planner (Vacation Guide) for a 58-page booklet of useful information. It contains maps, directions, background information, and suggested itineraries and tours. All information in the Trip Planner can also be found throughout the web site. The site also has an extensive "Events Calendar" and a "Virtual Brochure Rack" with easily downloadable information on the Philadelphia area and its attractions.

The Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau (<http://www.pcvb.org>) provides a free copy of its Visitor's Guide upon request. It has up-to-date information about attractions, shopping, restaurants, hotels, and sports. Visit the web site to submit a request form.

The Philadelphia Multicultural Affairs Congress (<http://www.philadelphia-mac.org>), a division of the Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau, launched the first-ever travel web site in the nation designed specifically to attract people of color to a particular travel destination. Use the site's comprehensive, multicultural visitors guide to "Share the Heritage" of African Americans, Latinos, Asian Americans, and Native Americans.

The Center City District (<http://www.centercityphila.org>) is a business improvement district, encompassing 120 blocks and more than 2,100 properties in downtown Philadelphia. The district's site offers extensive information on Center City's arts and culture, dining, entertainment, and shopping.

Philadelphia's daily newspapers, the Philadelphia Inquirer and Philadelphia Daily News, are online at <http://www.philly.com> and provide current information on city museums, galleries, exhibits, concerts, and other events.

Tours of the City

Once in Philadelphia, the Independence Visitor Center (<http://www.independence-visitorcenter.com>; 800-537-7676, 215-965-7676; One North Independence Mall West, 6th and Market Streets across from the Liberty Bell) is the primary point of orientation for Independence National Historical Park and the city of Philadelphia. It is open from 8:30 A.M. TO 5:00 P.M. seven days a week. The center houses many trip planning exhibits and offers visitor amenities, including easy on-site ticketing for area attractions, multilingual concierge staff, comprehensive daily listing of area events, attraction displays and regional maps, convenient underground parking, restroom facilities, handicap accessibility, and free wireless Internet access.

The AudioWalk™ and Tour is available for rent at the Visitor Center. It offers a self-guided walking tour of historic Philadelphia. The 74-minute narration includes a lightweight CD player and a detailed map that includes 20 historic sites and 64 narrated segments. Charges are $10 for one person, $14 for two people, $16 for three people, and $20 for four people.

The Constitutional Walking Tour of Philadelphia (<http://www.TheConstitutional.com>) is a three-mile outdoor journey featuring more than 30 historical sites in the Independence Mall area. No reservations are required; however, individual site hours, fees, and availability may vary. To take the walking tour, pick up a free brochure at the Independence Visitor Center, National Constitution Center, area hotels, and other historic attractions in the Independence Mall area.

If you prefer to ride rather than walk, Big Bus Tour has 20 stops throughout the city including Old City, Society Hill, Penn's Landing, Independence Mall, the Art Museum, and the Zoo. Tickets permit reboarding privileges for 24 hours from time of first usage. Buses seat 40 passengers on the top deck and 30 on the lower deck. Hours of operation are 9:00 A.M. TO 6:00 P.M. with buses departing every half hour. Charges are $25 for adults, $22 for seniors 55 and older, $15 for children 4–12.

Additionally, visitors can explore other tour options at the Visitors Center such as the 76 Carriage Company Tour, the Mural Arts Tour, Philadelphia Trolley Works, and Quest for Freedom: The Underground Railroad Walking Tour, and various neighborhood tours.

Visitor Passes

If you prefer visiting the city's attractions on your own and setting your own schedule, consider a visitor's pass. With CityPass (<http://www.citypass.com>) visitors can save 50 percent on admission fees and avoid ticket lines for six of the city's top attractions: National Constitution Center, Philadelphia Trolley Tour, Franklin Institute Science Museum, Philadelphia Zoo, Academy of Natural Sciences, and the Independence Seaport Museum. The package price is $39.50 for adults and $24 for children 3–11. Visitors have nine days to visit each attraction (once) beginning with the day of first use of the CityPass. They can be purchased at any of the Philadelphia attractions or online. Visitors present the CityPass at each attraction. The agent removes that attraction's ticket—they are void if removed by anyone else.

The Philadelphia Pass (<http://www.philadelphiapass.com>) provides admission and many special offers to Philadelphia's top destinations. A one-day pass costs $39 and includes admission to 20 top attractions, an 80-page comprehensive guidebook, a detailed souvenir guidebook and map, and discounts at 11 restaurants. Two-, three-, and five-day passes are also available. In addition to the day and night attractions, the Philadelphia Pass provides discounts on shopping, sporting events, tours, and dining throughout the city. Passes can be purchased online or by calling 888-567-7277.

Benjamin Franklin Tercentenary (<http://www.benfranklin300.com>)

Several Philadelphia based organizations created a consortium in 2000 to mark the 300-year anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth (1706–2006). Major initiatives include:

- ❖ Benjamin Franklin: In Search of a Better World: a traveling exhibition featuring more than 250 original Franklin artifacts as well as interactive installations to demonstrate and explore Franklin's life, character, and achievements. The exhibit makes its world debut in Philadelphia's National Constitution Center (additional information on the center is on page 23) from December 15, 2005, through April 30, 2006. Other venues in 2006–08 include St. Louis, Houston, Denver, Atlanta, and Paris.
- ❖ Ben Franklin 300 Philadelphia: a region-wide celebration, complete with Ben-themed exhibitions, concerts, tours, special events and offers. Check the web site for events scheduled during the AHA's annual meeting dates.
- ❖ Benjamin Franklin: In Search of a Better World: a lavish exhibition catalog to be published by Yale University Press in fall 2005. It will feature new essays from leading Franklin scholars.
- ❖ The Frankliniana Database: a permanent electronic record of the surviving objects owned or used by Franklin, to include Franklin images created during his lifetime. To be available on the web site beginning fall 2005. Additional resources on the web site include downloadable lesson plans at three grade levels, an image bank, timelines, bibliographies, fact sheets, and links to other useful Franklin sites.

The Tercentenary is sponsoring two sessions on the AHA program: "Benjamin Franklin at 300: Three New Works" (Session 140) will be presented on Saturday, January 7, 2:30-4:30 P.M., at the National Constitution Center. Richard R. Beeman, University of Pennsylvania, will chair. Authors Walter Isaacson (Benjamin Franklin: An American Life), Gordon S. Wood (The Americanization of Benjamin Franklin), and Stacy Schiff (A Great Improvisation: Franklin, France, and the Birth of America) will discuss their works. On Sunday, January 8, 8:30–10:30 A.M. in the Loews' Regency Ballroom Section A, a roundtable on "Benjamin Franklin at 300: Printer, Scientist, and Promoter of American Liberties" (Session 167) will feature discussions by James Green, Library Company of Philadelphia; E. Philip Krider, University of Arizona; and Ellen R. Cohn, Yale University. J. A. Leo Lemay, University of Delaware, will chair the session.

Tours Organized by the Local Arrangements Committee

The Local Arrangements Committee (LAC) has organized the following tours. Advance registration is highly recommended. Sign-up details and fees required (if any) will be posted on the AHA's web site (<http://www.historians.org/annual>) after September 15. Individuals who wish to join a tour but have not registered in advance can check at the AHA information desk on Level Five at the Marriott up to 20 minutes prior to scheduled departure of the tour to see if space is still available. Additional information about these tours and recommended commercial tours of the city and neighboring areas will appear in fall issues of Perspectives.

All tours convene in the Marriott's Room 310 unless otherwise indicated. Individuals should gather at least 10 minutes prior to the scheduled start time of the tour.

Tour 1: Behind the Scenes at Independence National Historic Park

Date, time: Thursday, January 5, 2:00–4:00 P.M.

Meeting site: The Independence Living History Center on Third Street between Chestnut and Walnut Street at 2:00 P.M., or join a walking group leaving the Marriott's Room 310 at 1:30 P.M.

Description: Spend an afternoon exploring new interpretations at Independence National Historic Park with research and curatorial staff. Venture behind the scenes of the Todd House and Bishop White House, two 18th-century houses that present contrasts in household technology, socio-economic status, and lifestyles, demonstrating the complexities of urban life during the early republic. Talk with the curatorial staff about a new interpretation of the Todd House set at the time of the 1793 Yellow Fever epidemic, which devastated the Todd family and left Dolley Todd (later Dolley Madison) a widow. (Limit: 20 people. No fee for this tour.) directions: Walk east on Market Street to Third Street. Walk one block south on Third Street to Chestnut Street where the Independence Living History Center is located on the southeast corner of the intersection. There are also eastbound buses with the destination "Penn's Landing" on either Market or Chestnut Streets.

Tour 2: Curator's Tour of "Benjamin Franklin: In Search of a Better World"

Date, time: Friday, January 6, 9:00–11:00 A.M.

Meeting site: National Constitution Center entrance at 8:50 A.M., or join a walking group leaving the Marriott's Room 310 at 8:40 A.M.

Description: Enjoy a private tour of the new exhibit "Benjamin Franklin: In Search of a Better World," at the National Constitution Center, with Page Talbott, the exhibit's Chief Curator. The multimedia exhibit conveys the original genius, wit, and imagination of Ben Franklin through a series of interactive exhibit features combined with the largest collection of original Franklin materials ever assembled. (Fee: $8.50 per person, collected at the door.)

Tour 3: Behind the Scenes at the Academy of Natural Sciences

Date, time: Friday, January 6, 2:00–4:00 P.M.

Meeting site: Marriott's Room 310 at 1:30 P.M. for a bus to the academy.

Description: The oldest natural sciences institution in the Western Hemisphere, the academy was founded in 1812 "for the encouragement and cultivation of the sciences, and the advancement of useful learning." The academy's collection embodies the historical development of the sciences and Americans' changing understandings of their natural environment. Go behind the scenes with academy curators to explore natural history collections dating back to the 16th century, including Lewis and Clark's specimens, Thomas Jefferson's fossil collections, and early natural history books. (Limit: 15 people. Fee: $19 per person.)

Tour 4: Philadelphia's Civil Rights Struggle

Date, time: Saturday, January 7, 10:00 A.M.–1:00 P.M.

Meeting site: Marriott's Room 310 at 9:45 A.M. for the trolley.

Description: Join V. Chapman-Smith, regional administrator for the Mid-Atlantic Region of the National Archives and Records Administration, for an exploration of the civil rights history of North Philadelphia, which was the epicenter of Philadelphia's civil rights struggle. Visit Girard College and learn about dramatic protests that brought about the integration of this school that once only admitted white boys. Take in the incredible murals at the Church of the Advocate and celebrate the leadership of local civil rights icons. Enjoy lunch with community members at the church at the conclusion of the tour. (Limit: 30 people. Fee: $15 per person, lunch included.)

Tour 5: Eastern State Penitentiary Tour

Date, time: Saturday, January 7, 1:30–3:30 P.M.

Meeting site: Marriott's Room 310 at 1:00 P.M. for a bus to the penitentiary.

Description: Visit the 19th-century prison whose inmates included notorious criminals such as Al Capone. Eastern State opened in 1829 as part of a controversial movement to change the behavior of inmates through "confinement in solitude with labor," otherwise known as the "Pennsylvania System." It is estimated that more than 300 prisons worldwide are based on the penitentiary's radial, panopticon floor plan. After 142 years of consecutive use, Eastern State Penitentiary was completely abandoned in 1971, stabilized and opened for tours in the 1990s, and featured in the film, 12 Monkeys. Tour participants should bear in mind that the Eastern State Penitentiary is an unheated ruin, so bundle up if it's cold and wear walking shoes! (Fee: $7.50 per person.)

Philadelphia Points of Interest

The following information about points of interest in Philadelphia is listed alphabetically and is compiled from the web sites indicated.

Academy of Natural Sciences (<http://www.acnatsci.org>), 1900 Ben Franklin Parkway. Hours: 10:00 A.M.–4:30 P.M. Monday–Friday, 10:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Saturday–Sunday. Admission: $10 adult, $8 children 3–12, $8.25 senior and military, free for children under 3; college students $1 discount with valid ID. Founded in 1812, the academy is the oldest continually operating museum of its kind in the Western Hemisphere. It sponsored some of the seminal explorations for American wildlife and fossils, and by the early 1900s, expanded those explorations to Africa, Asia, and the Antarctic. In addition to Dinosaur Hall, one of the leading permanent exhibits on paleontology in the country, the attractions include a world-class collection of animal habitat dioramas, a Live Animal Center, and the region's largest indoor exhibit of live tropical butterflies.

African American Museum in Philadelphia (<http://www.aampmuseum.org>), 701 Arch Street. Hours: 10:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Tuesday–Saturday, 12:00–5:00 P.M. Sunday. Admission: $8 adults, $6 children, senior, students, and physically challenged. Founded in 1976 as the Afro-American Historical and Cultural Museum in celebration of the nation's Bicentennial, the museum was the first institution funded and built by a major municipality to preserve, interpret, and exhibit the heritage of African Americans. The museum currently houses four galleries and an auditorium, each offering exhibitions anchored by one of the museum's three dominant themes: the African Diaspora, the Philadelphia Story, and the Contemporary Narrative.

Atwater Kent Museum of Philadelphia (<http://www.philadelphiahistory.org>), 15 South 7th Street. Hours: 1:00–5:00 P.M. Wednesday–Sunday. Admission: $5 adults, $3 seniors 65 and older, $3 youth 13–17, free for children 12 and under. Founded more than 60 years ago as the city's history museum, the Atwater Kent Museum of Philadelphia provides visitors with many distinct and creative opportunities to learn about the city. Experience Philadelphia! is on permanent exhibition, and is anchored by a 40-by-40-foot Rand McNally map of the region. The Real Thing and Why It Matters is on exhibit through March 19, 2006. Objects from the museum's Philadelphia history collection are showcased with commentary by a group of Philadelphia citizens about their importance today.

City Hall, Broad and Market Streets. Directly in the heart of Philadelphia, on Center Square, this National Historic Landmark is the geographical center of William Penn's original plan for Philadelphia. Known today as Penn Square, it is the home of Philadelphia's City Hall. An example of French Second-Empire Architectural style, it is the tallest and largest masonry building in the world and features a 37-foot bronze statue of Penn and 250 other sculptures created for the interior and exterior of the building. The tower has an observation deck open to the public and some of the interior can also be visited. Visitors should go to the City Hall Tour Information Center Room 121 at the East City Hall Entrance for information and tickets.

Cliveden House (<http://www.cliveden.org>), 6401 Germantown Avenue. Hours: 12:00–4:00 P.M. Thursday–Sunday. Admission: $8 adult, $6 student, free for children under 6. Cliveden, a National Trust for Historic Preservation site, is one of the nation's premiere historic sites and is located in the Germantown neighborhood of Philadelphia's Historic Northwest. The property is the scene of the annual reenactment of The Battle of Germantown (October 1777), and home to the descendants of the original owner until 1972. Visitors will see original furnishings and decorative arts, including examples of colonial Philadelphia craftsmanship by James Reynolds, Jonathan Gostelowe, and Thomas Affleck.

Civil War and Underground Railroad Museum of Philadelphia (<http://www.netreach.net/~cwlm>), 1805 Pine Street. Hours: 11:00 A.M.–4:30 P.M. Thursday–Saturday. Admission: $5 adults, $4 seniors 62 and older, $3 students with valid ID, $2 children 3–12, free for children under age 3. The museum is known for its research facilities—more than 12,000 volumes, 100 linear feet of archival/manuscript material, more than 100 reels of microfilm, and nearly 5,000 photographs—the facility is one of the most comprehensive Civil War libraries in the country. The museum displays artifacts, uniforms, flags, weapons, and period art and tells of Philadelphia's role in the Civil War.

Franklin Institute Science Museum (<http://sln.fi.edu>), 222 North 20th Street. Hours: 9:30 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Sunday–Saturday. Admission: $13.75 adults, $11 children 4–11 and seniors 62 and older. The museum offers a Science Center with three floors of hands-on exhibits and the Fels Planetarium, the Mandell Center with two floors of innovative science exhibits, the Tuttleman IMAX Theater with shows daily, and additional science demonstrations and daily programs throughout the museum, including the Liquid Air Show, It's Electric! Show, Space Survival, Ben's Curiosity Show.

Historical Society of Pennsylvania (<http://www.hsp.org>), 1300 Locust Street. Library hours: 12:30–5:30 P.M. Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday; 12:30–8:30 P.M. Wednesday. Library admission: $6 nonmembers, $3 students with current student identification card. Reservations are not required to use the services of the library. However, all researchers are asked to sign in on a daily basis. First-time visitors are asked to complete a registration form and present a current photographic identification. Researchers are asked to indicate their address and research interest, and acknowledge an understanding of society guidelines governing the use of society collections.

Founded in 1824 in Philadelphia, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania is one of the oldest historical societies in the United States. The society's building, listed on the City of Philadelphia's Register of Historical Places, houses some 600,000 printed items and over 19 million manuscript and graphic items. The society is one of the largest family history libraries in the nation, has preeminent printed collections on Pennsylvania and regional history, and offers superb manuscript collections renowned for their strength in 17th-, 18th-, and 19th-century history. With the addition of the holdings of The Balch Institute for Ethnic Studies in 2002, the society has become a chief center for the documentation and study of the ethnic communities and immigrant experiences shared by people whose American history began more recently—between the late 19th century and our own times.

Independence National Historical Park (<http://www.nps.gov/inde>), 313 Walnut Street. Many of the city's—and the nation's—most famous sights are preserved in the downtown's Independence National Historical Park. The following is a list of park sites open to the public: Liberty Bell Center, Independence Hall, Great Essentials Exhibit, Congress Hall, Old City Hall, Second Bank of the U.S., New Hall Military Museum, Carpenters Hall, Franklin Court, Christ Church, Declaration House, National Constitution Center, Independence Center, Free Quaker Meeting House, and Philosophical Hall. Several of these sites are highlighted below.

Security: The Liberty Bell Pavilion, Independence Hall, Old City Hall, Congress Hall, and the Great Essentials Exhibit are all within a secured area of the park. Visitors must access these sites through the security entrance located along the west side of 5th Street, between Chestnut and Market Streets. The security entrance to these sites opens at 8:30 A.M. and closes at 4:45 P.M.

Independence Hall (<http://www.nps.gov/inde/indep-hall.html>), Chestnut Street between 5th and 6th Streets. Visitors are admitted free of charge by tour only, with tours beginning in the East Wing. No reservations are accepted, and all tours are operated on a first come, first served basis. The Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution were signed here. The building, inside and out, has been restored whenever possible to its original late-18th century appearance. Most of the furnishing are period pieces.

Historic Christ Church and Burial Ground (<http://www.oldchristchurch.org>), Second Street above Market. Christ Church visiting hours: 9:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Monday–Saturday, 12:30–5:00 P.M. Sunday. Admission is free, but there is a suggested donation of $2 for adults and $1 for students to help maintain the church. Burial Ground visiting hours: 10:00 A.M.–4:00 P.M. Monday–Saturday, 12:00–4:00 P.M. Sunday. Admission: $2 adults, $1 students. The burial ground is the final resting place of 1,400 men and women, including five signers of the Declaration of Independence, the founders of the American Navy, and America's early medical pioneers—most notably Benjamin Franklin, Dr. Benjamin Rush, and Commodore William Bainbridge.

Liberty Bell Center (<http://www.nps.gov/inde/liberty-bell.html>), Market Street between 5th and 6th Streets. The famous cracked bell occupies a separate pavilion at Independence Mall can be visited free of charge. Ordered in 1751 by the Pennsylvania Assembly, the bell was cast by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry in London and arrived in Philadelphia in September 1752. Six months later the bell was hung in the steeple of the Pennsylvania State House (now Independence Hall). The bell cracked the first time it rang. Although recast twice, a crack started to appear again somewhere in the first half of the 19th century but was repaired. The current crack dates from 1846 when the bell rang in honor of the birthday of George Washington. In 1852 the bell was taken down from the steeple and put on display in the Declaration Chamber in Independence Hall. In 2003 the bell moved to the Liberty Bell Center, a modern pavilion at the Independence National Historical Park.

National Constitution Center (<http://www.constitutioncenter.org>), 525 Arch Street on Independence Mall. Hours: 9:30 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Sunday–Friday, 9:30 A.M.–6:00 P.M. Saturday. Admission: $9 adults, $7 children 4–12 and seniors 62 and older, free for children under 4, college students with ID, and active military. The National Constitution Center is an independent, nonpartisan, nonprofit organization dedicated to increasing public understanding of the U.S. Constitution and its relevance to Americans' daily lives. Opened on July 4, 2003, the museum tells the story of the Constitution from Revolutionary times to the present through more than 100 interactive, multimedia exhibits, film, photography, text, sculpture, and artifacts, and features an award-winning theatrical performance, "Freedom Rising."

Philosophical Hall, American Philosophical Society (<http://www.nps.gov/inde/philhall.html>), 105 South 5th Street. On view are exhibitions that explore the intersections of history, art, and science, with a focus on the early days of Philadelphia and the nation. The Hall is the headquarters of the American Philosophical Society, which was founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1743 to "promote useful knowledge among the British plantations in America."

Independence Seaport Museum (<http://www.phillyseaport.org>), 211 S. Columbus Boulevard and Walnut Street. Hours: 10:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. daily. Admission: $9 adults, $6 children 3–12, $8 seniors 65 and older and students with valid school ID. The museum is dedicated to exploring the maritime history of the Delaware River, Bay, and tributaries. It offers hands-on exhibits, historic ship tours, a working boat shop, and educational programs that lead visitors on a journey through the history and traditions of the maritime past.

Library Company of Philadelphia (<http://www.librarycompany.org>), 1314 Locust Street. Reading Room and Exhibition Gallery hours: 9:00 A.M.–4:45 P.M. weekdays, Print Room by appointment only. The library is a nonprofit independent research library with collections documenting every aspect of the history and background of American culture from the colonial period to the end of the 19th century. Its holdings number more than 500,000 books, over 75,000 graphics, and 160,000 manuscripts. Benjamin Franklin and 50 other Philadelphians founded the library in 1731 as a subscription library; it is the only major colonial American library that survives virtually intact. As Franklin and his friends did 274 years ago, Library Company memberships may still be purchased.

National Archives and Records Administration-Mid Atlantic Region (<http://www.archives.gov/midatlantic>; 215-606-0100), 900 Market Street (ground level of the Nix Federal Building) with entrance on Chestnut Street between 9th and 10th Streets. No admission fee. Hours: 8:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Monday–Friday. The Mid Atlantic Region archives facility is the depository for the original archival records generated by the federal government in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia. The records date from the 1780s to 1980s. Historical records, as well as select court bankruptcy records, are open to the public at regional locations. To use archival records, visitors must present a NARA researcher identification card. Applicants must apply in person and show official identification with a photograph, such as a driver's license, passport, school, or business ID. Applicants complete a form providing their name, address, telephone number, and a brief description of their research. NARA researcher ID cards are valid for 1 year.

Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts (<http://www.pafa.org>), 118 N. Broad Street. Hours: 10:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Tuesday–Saturday, 11:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Sunday. Admission: $15 adults, $12 seniors 62 and older and students with valid ID, $10 children 5–18, free for children under 5. Tours are given at 11:30 A.M. and 12:30 P.M. on weekdays, and noon and 1:00 P.M. on weekends. Tours are free with admission. Founded in 1805, the academy has been home to America's artists for 200 years. The academy collects and exhibits the work of distinguished American artists. The school will grow from nearly 300 to 400 full-time students by the 2007–08 academic year with outreach programs that serve an additional 16,000 children and adults annually.

Philadelphia Museum of Art (<http://www.philamuseum.org>), 26th Street and Benjamin Franklin Parkway. Hours: 10:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Tuesday–Sunday, Friday until 8:45 P.M. Admission: $12 adults, $9 seniors 62 and older, $8 students with ID and youth 13–18, free for children under 12; voluntary contributions on Sunday. Known as the Parthenon on the Parkway (its grand front staircase was made famous by the film Rocky), this temple of art houses more than 300,000 objects in a half-million square feet of space. The collection has depth in Asian and Near East art, works from a millennium of European history, and a significant collection of Impressionist and Post-impressionist paintings. Some of the 200 galleries include complete historic sites such as a Buddhist temple. Its paintings collection includes works from renowned artists like Picasso, Van Gogh, Rubens, and Renoir.

Please Touch Museum (<http://www.pleasetouchmuseum.org>), 210 North 21st Street. Hours: 9:00 A.M.–4:30 P.M. daily. Admission: $9.95 adults and children, free for children under age one. Please Touch Museum is a hands-on museum for children ages one to seven where adults and children can learn and explore together. Founded in 1976 by a group of artists, educators, and parents, the founders envisioned an educational, cultural, and public service institution; a new mix of museum, art gallery, library, and community center; a place to learn, play, study, enjoy, and grow. The museum has a number of permanent exhibitions including Move It, which is all about transportation; Studio PTM, a child-size television studio; and SuperMarket Science, which lets kids take over the food preparation from shopping (or selling) in a child-size grocery store to whipping up culinary masterpieces in the kitchen.

Reading Terminal Market (<http://www.readingterminalmarket>), 12th and Arch Streets. Hours: 8:00 A.M.–6:00 P.M. Monday–Saturday. Many consider the Reading Terminal Market one the best farmers markets in the United States, blending state-of-the-art systems technology without sacrificing its historical integrity. It's not only a popular hometown attraction but also is the most popular Philadelphia tourist destination after the Liberty Bell and Independence Hall. More than 80 merchants offer fresh produce, meats, fish, groceries, flowers, baked goods, crafts, books, and clothing, as well as hard-to-find specialties and ethnic foods. Note that many of the market's restaurants close after 3:00 P.M.

Rosenbach Museum & Library (<http://www.rosenbach.org>), 2008 DeLancey Place. Hours: 10:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday and Saturday–Sunday; 10:00 A.M.–8:00 P.M. Wednesday. Admission: $8 adults, $5 students and seniors, free for children under 5. The Rosenbach Museum & Library was the home of two brothers who were legendary dealers and collectors of rare books and manuscripts and the fine and decorative arts. Founded in 1954 to preserve the two brothers' personal collections and company archive, the Rosenbach is home to one of the nation's great collections of rare books and manuscripts, as well as a beautiful, historic townhouse filled with fine art and antiques. The eclectic treasures include manuscripts such as James Joyce's Ulysses, Charles Dickens' Pickwick Papers, and Joseph Conrad's Lord Jim; the world's largest collection of portrait miniatures painted in oil on metal; and more than 10,000 drawings and manuscripts by acclaimed children's book author/illustrator Maurice Sendak.

Society Hill. This neighborhood, loosely defined as the area between Walnut, Lombard, Front, and 8th Streets, contains the largest concentration of original 18th- and early 19th-century architecture of any place in the United States. The district is named after the 18th century Society of Free Traders, which had its offices at Front Street on the hill above Dock Creek. Located close to both the river and Philadelphia's civic buildings including Independence Hall, the neighborhood soon became one of the city's most popular areas. Several market halls, taverns, and churches were built alongside brick houses of Philadelphia's affluent citizens. Today, Society Hill contains many interesting historic buildings, such as the Society Hill Synagogue and St. Peter's Church.

Edgar Allan Poe National Historic Site (<http://www.nps.gov/edal>), 530 North 7th Street, the northwest corner 7th and Spring Garden Streets. Hours: 9:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Wednesday–Sunday. Admission: Free. Poe's six years in Philadelphia, 1838–44, were his most productive. Not only did Poe edit and provide critical reviews for very successful magazines, but he also invented the modern detective story. While in Philadelphia, Poe penned such classics as "The Tell-Tale Heart," "The Fall of the House of Usher," and the poems "The Haunted Palace" and "To Helen." During these years, Poe went from the high of being a popular lecturer to the despair of learning that his wife Virginia was ill with tuberculosis. The brief and tragic life of the author, his times, and literary legacy are interpreted in the building that once sheltered Poe and his family.

Rodin Museum (<http://www.rodinmuseum.org>), Benjamin Franklin Parkway at 22nd Street. Hours: 10:00 A.M.–5:00 P.M. Tuesday–Sunday. Admission: $3 per person suggested contribution. The Rodin Museum was the gift of movie theater mogul Jules E. Mastbaum to the city of Philadelphia. He assembled the largest collection of Auguste Rodin's (1840–1917) works outside Paris, including bronze castings, plaster studies, drawings, prints, letters, and books. The most famous of Rodin's works, The Thinker (1880), can be seen outside the museum, in the front yard. Entering the museum building, visitors pass through the Gates of Hell (1890). Inside the museum are several rooms with many more of the artist's works on display, including The Kiss (1886), Eternal Springtime (1884), and Burghers of Calais, a monument commissioned in 1884 by the City of Calais.

United States Mint (<http://www.usmint.gov>), 151 North Independence Mall East. Hours: 9:00 A.M.–3:00 P.M. Monday–Friday. For same-day tours, the general public may line up at the mint's visitor entrance, located on 5th Street between Arch and Race streets. Tours are offered on a first come, first served basis pending availability. Adults will be asked to provide government-issued photo identification for security purposes. If the Department of Homeland Security level is elevated to Code Orange, the mint will be closed to the public unless otherwise noted.

Philadelphia Zoo (<http://www.philadelphiapark.org>), 34th Street and Girard Avenue. Hours: 9:30 A.M.–4:00 P.M. daily. Admission: $16.95 adult, $13.95 children 2–11, free for children under 2. America's first zoo is one of the Philadelphia region's leading family attractions, welcoming more than a million visitors a year. It has more than 1,600 rare and exotic animals from around the world, 42 acres of picturesque Victorian gardens, and outstanding art and historical architecture. It has a primate reserve, a rare animal conservation center, a reptile and amphibian house, and a carnivore kingdom, which has the first giant otters exhibited in the United States. Among the animals on permanent display are snow leopards, red pandas, and clouded leopards. The zoo offers hundreds of educational programs and family workshops, special public events, ecotourism travel opportunities, and ADOPT-an-animal programs.

Meetings of the AHA, Affiliated Societies, and Other Groups

Those historical societies and groups that have arranged special meetings or social functions and have notified the AHA are listed below. Groups that have not yet notified the AHA headquarters office should send their requests for room space by November 15 to the AHA Convention Director, Sharon K. Tune, AHA, 400 A St., SE, Washington, DC 20003, not to the hotel. They should specify date, inclusive hours, attendance forecast, equipment desired, and telephone number of the organization officials who can clear details. When room assignments have been cleared with the AHA convention director, refreshments and other arrangements should be made final between the hotel and the organization directly. Room arrangements required at the time of the annual meeting should be made through the AHA convention director in the Marriott's Registration 1 (fifth level). Audiovisual requirements for affiliated society sessions and events should be arranged with the executive officer of the society, either prior to or during the meeting.

Complete details of sessions are on pages indicated.

Of special note: Affiliated society representatives are invited to attend the annual meeting of affiliates and the AHA Committee on Affiliated Societies on Friday, January 6, 4:45–6:15 P.M. in the Marriott's Room 306. Chair: Linda K. Kerber, University of Iowa, president-elect of the AHA and chair of the committee.

AHA Workshop: Directors of Graduate Studies and Other Interested Parties

Co-sponsored by the Carnegie Initiative on the Doctorate (CID), Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1:30–4:30 P.M.

Marriott, Grand Ballroom Salon I

The Education of Historians for the Twenty-first Century, a report of the AHA Committee on Graduate Education, funded by the Carnegie Corporation, recommended workshops for directors of graduate studies. The American Historical Association first sponsored such a workshop for department chairs and directors of graduate studies at the 2005 annual meeting in Seattle. Another was held in August 2005. This is the third workshop.

Note: Participation in this free interactive workshop is open to everyone but particularly to DGS's and chairs of history departments. This workshop is for networking and problem solving. Workshop speakers will be posted on the AHA's web site (<http://www.historians.org/annual>). Please check for an updated program and list of presenters. Although there is no charge for the workshop, advance registration is required no later than December 9, 2005. To register contact Noralee Frankel, e-mail: nfrankel@historians.org.

1:30–2:30 P.M. Problems and Solutions

Moderators: Chris M. Golde, Research Director, Carnegie Foundation Initiative on the Doctorate

Noralee Frankel, American Historical Association

Participants who attend should bring with them one challenge they face as DGS and one piece of advice for other DGS's. The group will discuss solutions to pressing problems faced by DGS's. The emphasis in this session is on practical problem-solving and strategic advice.

2:30–2:45 P.M. Break

2:45–3:30 P.M. Tools for Planning Graduate Programs

Speakers: Lori Homer, Survey Director, Center for Innovation and Research in Graduate Education, University of Washington

Discussion of a survey of Social Science PhDs—Five+ Years Out funded by the Ford Foundation. History PhDs represent 2,200 or 25% of the total survey population. Includes data on the career paths and doctoral program evaluation for history PhD's.

Chris Golde, Carnegie Foundation Initiative on the Doctorate

Discussion of data collection and use for DGS's, including AHA data and publicly available national data.

3:30–4:30 P.M. What Is the Role of the DGS in Proposing and Implementing Change in Graduate Studies

Departmental leaders from history departments participating in the Carnegie Initiative on the Doctorate (CID) will discuss lessons learned, such as when and how to propose change, promising practices, enlisting graduate students as agents of change, the role of data and evidence in supporting change, and what strategies do graduate programs have for collecting, maintaining, and using data about their students and programs.

23. Exchange of Views: Doing American History at Historic Sites

Marriott, Room 403

Sponsored by the AHA Professional Division

Chairs: Linda Shopes, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission
Barbara Silberman, Heritage Philadelphia

At this experimental session, the executive directors and staff of Philadelphia-area museums and historic sites will host a conversation about the challenges of public history with ten scholars specializing in a field of interest to each site. After an orientation during this morning session, scholars and site staff will conduct site visits in the afternoon. Scholars will submit written comments to the sites by February 15, 2006, and will receive a $250 honorarium upon receipt of these comments. Participating sites and areas of interest are listed below. Sites are subject to change; contact the AHA for a final list. AHA members interested in participating in this session must submit a letter of interest and short (two-page) c.v. by November 21, 2005. The letter should identify the site the member would like to visit, note the member's research interests and public history interest and experience, and state briefly why the member would like to participate in the program. Letters of interest and any questions should be addressed to Debbie Ann Doyle at the American Historical Association (ddoyle@historians.org). Those selected to participate in the program will be notified in early December.

Funding for this session is provided by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission and by the Heritage Philadelphia program funded by the Pew Charitable Trusts and administered by the Independence Visitor Center.

Site: Stenton

Home of James Logan, William Penn's secretary. Located in Germantown.

Site: Wyck

Home to nine generations of one Quaker family, located in Germantown.

Site: The Mill at Anselma

Remarkably intact 18th-century flour mill interpreting industrial history with three centuries of milling machinery, equipment, and outbuildings.

Site: Awbury Arboretum

Urban park in Germantown surrounded by National Register Quaker neighborhood. Extensive landscape training program for recovering substance abusers.

Site: Betsy Ross House

Restored row house (not actually Betsy's).

Site: Elfreth's Alley

Site: Atwater Kent Museum of Philadelphia

Interprets the city's history through the artifact collection of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and a collection on 19th-century industrial Philadelphia.

Site: Rosenbach Museum and Library

Collection acquired by two brothers who became rare book dealers. Outstanding exhibits and programs that incorporate a multi-disciplinary approach.

Site: St. Joseph's Church

One of first Catholic churches in the city, developed many other significant city institutions.

Site: Civil War and Underground Railroad Museum of Philadelphia

Collection of both Union and Confederate materials currently undergoing inventory and reinterpretation.

Site: Mother Bethel AME Church

First African American congregation in the colonies, founded by Richard Allen, who was active in saving yellow fever victims. The mother church of the AME church.

Site: Christ Church Preservation Trust

Extremely significant church and burial ground. Excellent leadership with intense interest in developing a new history exhibit.

NHC Open Forum

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 4:45–5:45 P.M.

National History Center Open Forum

Marriott, Room 407

The Planning Committee of the National History Center welcomes AHA members and guests to a forum on the center to discuss its goals, progress, and current status.

Created by the AHA in 2002, the NHC is a national center with an international mission that embraces all fields of history, encourages teaching and research, and fosters public access to historical perspectives on contemporary issues through a program of seminars, public events, and publications.

The National History Center is still in its formative period and the committee actively seeks the ideas and participation of AHA members in carrying to fruition one of the principal aims of the Association's founders.

Presiding: Wm. Roger Louis, University of Texas at Austin

Attendees are invited to attend a reception in the Marriott's Room 406 from 5:45–6:45 P.M.

139. Poster Session

Loews, Millennium Hall

New for the 2006 Annual Meeting, this poster session is a venue for the newest developing historical research. Though relatively new to the humanities, poster sessions have long been utilized at professional meetings in scientific fields. In sessions with several panel participants, audience interaction is limited to brief discussion periods—usually only a few people are able to ask questions and each presenter may not have time to discuss their research fully. The two-hour poster session addresses this common problem, allowing for considered dialogue and engaging interaction.

The 2006 Program Committee encourages meeting attendees to visit the posters on display in the Loews' Millennium Hall. The following presenters will be available to discuss their posters between 2:30 and 4:30 P.M. on Saturday, January 7:

Statement on Standards of Professional Conduct

2005 Edition

Introduction to the 2005 Edition

Under its 1889 charter from the U.S. Congress, which specifically authorizes the American Historical Association to act “in the interest of American history, and of history in America,” the AHA bears a special obligation to address principles of conduct and practice among historians. Thus, in 1974 the Association established the Professional Division, the profession's only elected body specifically charged with responsibility for ethical concerns, and in 1987 the Professional Division, in turn, drafted the Statement on Standards of Professional Conduct to serve as the benchmark for all professional behavior within the historical profession.

This wholly revised edition of the Statement on Standards is the most comprehensive revision of the document since its development. The most important revisions include:

- ❖ Streamlining the text to impose a more uniform style and voice on the whole, without sacrificing or altering any of the important statements of principle it contains.
- ❖ Addressing the entire profession to be more inclusive of the full range of professional historians working in many different institutional settings.
- ❖ Speaking to common values by opening with two new sections, “The Profession of History” and “Shared Values of Historians.”
- ❖ Consolidating policies to synthesize and integrate AHA guidelines concerning professional conduct as they have evolved over the years.

The Professional Division and the AHA Council believe that the Statement on Standards of Professional Conduct will be of use not just to professional historians, but also to students, journalists, employers, scholars in allied fields, and anyone interested in questions pertaining to ethical conduct in the practice of history. They urge individuals to share this document, whether by ordering additional copies, photocopying this publication, or linking to the online version at <http://www.historians.org>.

Statement on Standards of Professional Conduct

(Wholly revised in 2005 from an earlier statement adopted May 1987; amended May 1990, May 1995, June 1996, January and May 1999, May 2000, June 2001, and January 2003.)

This Statement on Standards of Professional Conduct addresses dilemmas and concerns about the practice of history that historians have regularly brought to the American Historical Association seeking guidance and counsel. Some of the most important sections of this Statement address questions about employment that vary according to the different institutional settings in which historians perform their work. Others address forms of professional misconduct that are especially troubling to historians. And some seek to identify a core set of shared values that professional historians strive to honor in the course of their work.

1. The Profession of History

History is the never-ending process whereby people seek to understand the past and its many meanings. The institutional and intellectual forms of history's dialogue with the past have changed enormously over time, but the dialogue itself has been part of the human experience for millennia. We all interpret and narrate the past, which is to say that we all participate in making history. It is among our most fundamental tools for understanding ourselves and the world around us.

Professional historians benefit enormously from this shared human fascination for the past. Few fields are more accessible or engaging to members of the public. Individuals from all backgrounds have a stake in how the past is interpreted, for it cuts to the very heart of their identities and world views. This is why history can evoke such passion and controversy in the public realm. All manner of people can and do produce good history. Professional historians are wise to remember that they will never have a monopoly on their own discipline, and that this is much more a strength than a weakness. The openness of the discipline is among its most attractive features, perennially renewing it and making it relevant to new constituencies.

What, then, distinguishes a professional historian from everyone else? Membership in this profession is defined by self-conscious identification with a community of historians who are collectively engaged in investigating and interpreting the past as a matter of disciplined learned practice. Historians work in an extraordinary range of settings: in museums and libraries and government agencies, in schools and academic institutions, in corporations and non-profit organizations. Some earn their living primarily from employment related to the past; some practice history while supporting themselves in other ways. Whatever the venue in which they work, though, professional historians share certain core values that guide their activities and inform their judgments as they seek to enrich our collective understanding of the past. These shared values for conducting and assessing research, developing and evaluating interpretations, communicating new knowledge, navigating ethical dilemmas, and, not least, telling stories about the past, define the professional practice of history.

2. Shared Values of Historians

Historians strive constantly to improve our collective understanding of the past through a complex process of critical dialogue—with each other, with the wider public, and with the historical record—in which we explore former lives and worlds in search of answers to the most compelling questions of our own time and place.

Historians cannot successfully do this work without mutual trust and respect. By practicing their craft with integrity, historians acquire a reputation for trustworthiness that is arguably their single most precious professional asset. The trust and respect both of one's peers and of the public at large are among the greatest and most hard-won achievements that any historian can attain. It is foolish indeed to put them at risk.

Although historians disagree with each other about many things, they do know what they trust and respect in each other's work. All historians believe in honoring the integrity of the historical record. They do not fabricate evidence. Forgery and fraud violate the most basic foundations on which historians construct their interpretations of the past. An undetected counterfeit undermines not just the historical arguments of the forger, but all subsequent scholarship that relies on the forger's work. Those who invent, alter, remove, or destroy evidence make it difficult for any serious historian ever wholly to trust their work again.

We honor the historical record, but understand that its interpretation constantly evolves as historians analyze primary documents in light of the ever-expanding body of secondary literature that places those documents in a larger context. By "documents," historians typically mean all forms of evidence—not just written texts, but artifacts, images, statistics, oral recollections, the built and natural environment, and many other things—that have survived as records of former times. By "secondary literature," we typically mean all subsequent interpretations of those former times based on the evidence contained in primary documents. This distinction between primary and secondary sources is among the most fundamental that historians make. Drawing the boundary between them is a good deal more complicated than it might seem, since determining whether a document is primary or secondary largely depends on the questions one asks of it. At the most basic level, though, the professional practice of history means respecting the integrity of primary and secondary sources while subjecting them to critical scrutiny and contributing in a fair-minded way to ongoing scholarly and public debates over what those sources tell us about the past.

Honoring the historical record also means leaving a clear trail for subsequent historians to follow. This is why scholarly apparatus in the form of bibliographies and annotations (and associated institutional repositories like libraries, archives, and museums) is so essential to the professional practice of history. Such apparatus is valuable for many reasons. It enables other historians to retrace the steps in an argument to make sure those steps are justified by the sources. Apparatus often evaluates evidence to indicate gaps in the historical record that might cast doubt on a given interpretation. Knowing that trust is ultimately more important than winning a debate for the wrong reasons, professional historians are as interested in defining the limits and uncertainties of their own arguments as they are in persuading others that those arguments are correct. Finally, the trail of evidence left by any single work of history becomes a key starting point for subsequent investigations of the same subject, and thus makes a critical contribution to our collective capacity to ask and answer new questions about the past. For all these reasons, historians pride themselves on the accuracy with which they use and document sources. The sloppier their apparatus, the harder it is for other historians to trust their work.

The trail of evidence in bibliographies, notes, museum catalogs, databases, and other forms of scholarly apparatus is crucial not just for documenting the primary sources on which a work of history depends, but the secondary sources as well. Practicing history with integrity means acknowledging one's debts to the work of other historians. To copy the work of another and claim it for one's own is plagiarism—an act historians abhor. Plagiarism violates the historical record by failing to reveal the secondary sources that have contributed to a given line of argument. It is a form of fraud, and betrays the trust on which the historical profession depends. Much more will be said about it later in this Statement on Standards.

Among the core principles of the historical profession that can seem counterintuitive to non-historians is the conviction, very widely if not universally shared among historians since the nineteenth century, that practicing history with integrity does not mean being neutral or having no point of view. Every work of history articulates a particular, limited perspective on the past. Historians hold this view not because they believe that all interpretations are equally valid, or that nothing can ever be known about the past, or that facts do not matter. Quite the contrary. History would be pointless if such claims were true, since its most basic premise is that within certain limits we can indeed know and make sense of past worlds and former times that now exist only as remembered traces in the present. But the very nature of our discipline means that historians also understand that all knowledge is situated in time and place, that all interpretations express a point of view, and that no mortal mind can ever aspire to omniscience. Because the record of the past is so fragmentary, absolute historical knowledge is denied us.

Furthermore, the different peoples whose past lives we seek to understand held views of their lives that were often very different from each other—and from our own. Doing justice to those views means to some extent trying (never wholly successfully) to see their worlds through their eyes. This is especially true when people in the past disagreed or came into conflict with each other, since any adequate understanding of their world must somehow encompass their disagreements and competing points of view within a broader context. Multiple, conflicting perspectives are among the truths of history. No single objective or universal account could ever put an end to this endless creative dialogue within and between the past and the present.

What is true of history is also true of historians. Everyone who comes to the study of history brings with them a host of identities, experiences, and interests that cannot help but affect the questions they ask of the past and the answers they wish to know. When applied with integrity and self-critical fair-mindedness, the political, social, and religious beliefs of historians can appropriately inform their historical practice. Because the questions we ask profoundly shape everything we do—the topics we investigate, the evidence we gather, the arguments we construct, the stories we tell—it is inevitable that different historians will produce different histories.

For this reason, historians often disagree and argue with each other. That historians can sometimes differ quite vehemently not just about interpretations but even about the basic facts of what happened in the past is sometimes troubling to non-historians, especially if they imagine that history consists of a universally agreed-upon accounting of stable facts and known certainties. But universal agreement is not a condition to which historians typically aspire. Instead, we understand that interpretive disagreements are vital to the creative ferment of our profession, and can in fact contribute to some of our most original and valuable insights.

Frustrating as these disagreements and uncertainties may be even for historians, they are an irreducible feature of the discipline. In contesting each other's interpretations, professional historians recognize that the resulting disagreements can deepen and enrich historical understanding by generating new questions, new arguments, and new lines of investigation. This crucial insight underpins some of the most important shared values that define the professional conduct of historians. They believe in vigorous debate, but they also believe in civility. They rely on their own perspectives as they probe the past for meaning, but they also subject those perspectives to critical scrutiny by testing them against the views of others.

Historians celebrate intellectual communities governed by mutual respect and constructive criticism. The preeminent value of such communities is reasoned discourse—the continuous colloquy among historians holding diverse points of view who learn from each other as they pursue topics of mutual interest. A commitment to such discourse—balancing fair and honest criticism with tolerance and openness to different ideas—makes possible the fruitful exchange of views, opinions, and knowledge.

This being the case, it is worth repeating that a great many dilemmas associated with the professional practice of history can be resolved by returning to the core values that the preceding paragraphs have sought to sketch. Historians should practice their craft with integrity. They should honor the historical record. They should document their sources. They should acknowledge their debts to the work of other scholars. They should respect and welcome divergent points of view even as they argue and subject those views to critical scrutiny. They should remember that our collective enterprise depends on mutual trust. And they should never betray that trust.

3. Scholarship

Scholarship—the discovery, exchange, interpretation, and presentation of information about the past—is basic to the professional practice of history. It depends on the collection and preservation of historical documents, artifacts, and other source materials in a variety of institutional settings ranging from libraries to archives to museums to government agencies to private organizations. Historians are committed to protecting significant historical evidence wherever it resides. Scholarship likewise depends on the open dissemination of historical knowledge via many different channels of communication: books, articles, classrooms, exhibits, films, historic sites, museums, legal memoranda, testimony, and many other ways. The free exchange of information about the past is dear to historians.

Professional integrity in the practice of history requires awareness of one's own biases and a readiness to follow sound method and analysis wherever they may lead. Historians should document their findings and be prepared to make available their sources, evidence, and data, including any documentation they develop through interviews. Historians should not misrepresent their sources. They should report their findings as accurately as possible and not omit evidence that runs counter to their own interpretation. They should not commit plagiarism. They should oppose false or erroneous use of evidence, along with any efforts to ignore or conceal such false or erroneous use.

Historians should acknowledge the receipt of any financial support, sponsorship, or unique privileges (including special access to research material) related to their research, especially when such privileges could bias their research findings. They should always acknowledge assistance received from colleagues, students, research assistants, and others, and give due credit to collaborators.

Historians should work to preserve the historical record, and support institutions that perform this crucial service. Historians favor free, open, equal, and nondiscriminatory access to archival, library, and museum collections wherever possible. They should be careful to avoid any actions that might prejudice access for future historians. Although they recognize the legitimacy of restricting access to some sources for national security, proprietary, and privacy reasons, they have a professional interest in opposing unnecessary restrictions whenever appropriate.

Historians sometimes appropriately agree to restrictive conditions about the use of particular sources. Certain kinds of research, certain forms of employment, and certain techniques (for instance, in conducting oral history interviews) sometimes entail promises about what a historian will and will not do with the resulting knowledge. Historians should honor all such promises. They should respect the confidentiality of clients, students, employers, and others with whom they have a professional relationship. At much as possible, though, they should also strive to serve the historical profession's preference for open access to, and public discussion of, the historical record. They should define any confidentiality requirements before their research begins, and give public notice of any conditions or rules that may affect the content of their work.

4. Plagiarism

The word plagiarism derives from Latin roots: plagiarius, an abductor, and plagiare, to steal. The expropriation of another author's work, and the presentation of it as one's own, constitutes plagiarism and is a serious violation of the ethics of scholarship. It seriously undermines the credibility of the plagiarist, and can do irreparable harm to a historian's career.

In addition to the harm that plagiarism does to the pursuit of truth, it can also be an offense against the literary rights of the original author and the property rights of the copyright owner. Detection can therefore result not only in sanctions (such as dismissal from a graduate program, denial of promotion, or termination of employment) but in legal action as well. As a practical matter, plagiarism between scholars rarely goes to court, in part because legal concepts, such as infringement of copyright, are narrower than ethical standards that guide professional conduct. The real penalty for plagiarism is the abhorrence of the community of scholars.

Plagiarism includes more subtle abuses than simply expropriating the exact wording of another author without attribution. Plagiarism can also include the limited borrowing, without sufficient attribution, of another person's distinctive and significant research findings or interpretations. Of course, historical knowledge is cumulative, and thus in some contexts—such as textbooks, encyclopedia articles, broad syntheses, and certain forms of public presentation—the form of attribution, and the permissible extent of dependence on prior scholarship, citation, and other forms of attribution will differ from what is expected in more limited monographs. As knowledge is disseminated to a wide public, it loses some of its personal reference. What belongs to whom becomes less distinct. But even in textbooks a historian should acknowledge the sources of recent or distinctive findings and interpretations, those not yet a part of the common understanding of the profession. Similarly, while some forms of historical work do not lend themselves to explicit attribution (e.g., films and exhibitions), every effort should be made to give due credit to scholarship informing such work.

Plagiarism, then, takes many forms. The clearest abuse is the use of another's language without quotation marks and citation. More subtle abuses include the appropriation of concepts, data, or notes all disguised in newly crafted sentences, or reference to a borrowed work in an early note and then extensive further use without subsequent attribution. Borrowing unexamined primary source references from a secondary work without citing that work is likewise inappropriate. All such tactics reflect an unworthy disregard for the contributions of others.

No matter what the context, the best professional practice for avoiding a charge of plagiarism is always to be explicit, thorough, and generous in acknowledging one's intellectual debts.

All who participate in the community of inquiry, as amateurs or as professionals, as students or as established historians, have an obligation to oppose deception. This obligation bears with special weight on teachers of graduate seminars. They are critical in shaping a young historian's perception of the ethics of scholarship. It is therefore incumbent on graduate teachers to seek opportunities for making the seminar also a workshop in scholarly integrity. After leaving graduate school, every historian will have to depend primarily on vigilant self-criticism. Throughout our lives none of us can cease to question the claims to originality that our work makes and the sort of credit it grants to others.

The first line of defense against plagiarism is the formation of work habits that protect a scholar from plagiarism. The plagiarist's standard defense—that he or she was misled by hastily taken and imperfect notes—is plausible only in the context of a wider tolerance of shoddy work. A basic rule of good note-taking requires every researcher to distinguish scrupulously between exact quotation and paraphrase.

The second line of defense against plagiarism is organized and punitive. Every institution that includes or represents a body of scholars has an obligation to establish procedures designed to clarify and uphold their ethical standards. Every institution that employs historians bears an especially critical responsibility to maintain the integrity and reputation of its staff. This applies to government agencies, corporations, publishing firms, and public service organizations such as museums and libraries, as surely as it does to educational facilities. Usually, it is the employing institution that is expected to investigate charges of plagiarism promptly and impartially and to invoke appropriate sanctions when the charges are sustained. Penalties for scholarly misconduct should vary according to the seriousness of the offense, and the protections of due process should always apply. A persistent pattern of deception may justify public disclosure or even termination of a career; some scattered misappropriations may warrant a formal reprimand.

All historians share responsibility for defending high standards of intellectual integrity. When appraising manuscripts for publication, reviewing books, or evaluating peers for placement, promotion, and tenure, scholars must evaluate the honesty and reliability with which the historian uses primary and secondary source materials. Scholarship flourishes in an atmosphere of openness and candor, which should include the scrutiny and public discussion of academic deception.

5. Teaching

Teaching is basic to the practice of history. It occurs in many venues: not just classrooms, but museums and historic sites, documentaries and textbooks, newspaper articles, web sites, and popular histories. In its broadest definition, teaching involves the transmission of historical knowledge to people who do not yet have such knowledge. Whether it occurs in the classroom or the public realm, it performs the essential work of assuring that the past remains a part of living memory in the present.

Good teaching entails accuracy and rigor in communicating factual information, and strives always to place such information in context to convey its larger significance. Integrity in teaching means presenting competing interpretations with fairness and intellectual honesty. Doing so can support one of the most important goals of teaching: exciting the interest of those who are encountering a new historical topic for the first time, leading them toward the insight that history is a process of living inquiry, not an inert collection of accepted facts.

The political, social, and religious beliefs of history teachers necessarily inform their work, but the right of the teacher to hold and express such convictions can never justify falsification, misrepresentation, or concealment, or the persistent intrusion of material unrelated to the subject of the course. Furthermore, teachers should be mindful that students and other audience members have the right to disagree with a given interpretation or point of view. Students should be made aware of multiple causes and varying interpretations. Within the bounds of the historical topic being studied, the free expression of legitimate differences of opinion should always be a goal. Teachers should judge students' work on merit alone.

Course offerings, textbooks, and public history presentations should address the diversity of human experience, recognizing that historical accuracy requires attention both to individual and cultural similarities and differences and to the larger global and historical context within which societies have evolved. The American Historical Association is on record as encouraging educational and public history activities to counter harassment and discrimination on campuses and in the public realm. It encourages administrators to speak out vigorously against such incidents. At the same time, the Association disapproves of efforts to limit or punish free speech. We condemn the violation of First Amendment rights to free speech, as well as the harassment and vilification to which individuals have sometimes been subjected for exercising these rights.

6. History in the Public Realm

Because interpreting the past is so vital to democratic debate and civic life in the public realm, historians regularly have the opportunity to discuss the implications of their knowledge for concerns and controversies in the present—including present controversies about past events. It is one of the privileges of our profession to share historical insights and interpretations with a wider public, wherever the locus of our employment. We should welcome the chance to do so, and the institutions that employ historians should recognize the importance of this aspect of our work. Historians should not be subject to institutional or professional penalties for their beliefs and activities, provided they do not misrepresent themselves as speaking for their institutions or their professional organizations when they are not authorized to do so.

Practicing history in the public realm presents important challenges, for when historians communicate with a wider public, they must represent not just a particular interpretation or body of facts, but the best practices of the discipline of history itself. This means they must inevitably walk a tightrope in balancing their desire to present a particular point of view with their responsibility to uphold the standards and values that underpin their professional authority as historians. This challenge can be especially complex for public historians, whose daily working lives frequently require multiple levels of accountability, and for historians working in advocacy roles.

Public discussions of complex historical questions inevitably translate and simplify many technical details associated with those questions, while at the same time suggesting at least some of the associated complexities and divergent points of view. While it is perfectly acceptable for historians to share their own perspectives with the public, they should also strive to demonstrate how the historical profession links evidence with arguments to build fair-minded, nuanced, and responsible interpretations of the past. The desire to score points as an advocate should never tempt a historian to misrepresent the historical record or the critical methods that the profession uses to interpret that record.

Historians who work in government, corporate, and nonprofit institutions, as well as those occasionally entering public arenas as political advisers, expert witnesses, public intellectuals, consultants, legislative witnesses, journalists, or commentators, may face a choice of priorities between professionalism and partisanship. They may want to prepare themselves by seeking advice from other experienced professionals. As historians, they must be sensitive to the complexities of history, the diversity of historical interpretations, and the limits as well as the strengths of their own points of view and experiences and of the discipline itself. In such situations, historians must use sources, including the work of other scholars, with great care and should always be prepared to explain the methods and assumptions in their research; the relations between evidence and interpretation; and alternative interpretations of the subjects they address.

7. Employment

The American Historical Association firmly supports fairness and due process in all decisions involving the appointment, promotion, and working conditions of historians. Institutions should develop published rules governing their employment practices, and it should go without saying that they should follow these rules.

Although some historians are self-employed, most work for academic institutions, corporations, government agencies, law firms, archives, historical societies, museums, parks, historic preservation programs, or other institutions. To the extent they can influence the policies and practices of their workplace, the AHA encourages historians to do whatever they can to persuade their institutions to accept and enforce rules to ensure equity in conditions of employment. If they work in an academic institution, they should urge it to accept the 1966 Statement on Government of Colleges and Universities, jointly formulated by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP), the American Council on Education, and the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges.

Fairness begins with recruitment. Historians have an obligation to do all possible to ensure that employment opportunities in the field are widely publicized and that all professionally qualified persons have an equal opportunity to compete for those positions. This means not only the placement of job notices in appropriate publications (for example, the AHA's Perspectives) but also the inclusion in such notices of a completely accurate description of the position and of any contingencies, budgetary or otherwise, that might affect the continued availability of the position. An institution should not deceive possible candidates by omitting qualifications or characteristics that favor certain candidates over others (for example, a preference for unspecified minor fields). If an employer decides to alter a job description or selection criteria, the institution should re-advertise.

Fairness also involves equal treatment of all qualified applicants and procedures that are considerate to all applicants. For example, an employing institution should promptly acknowledge all applications and, as soon as practicable, inform applicants who do not meet the selection criteria. Likewise, it should keep competitive applicants informed of the progress of the search and promptly notify those who are no longer under consideration. It should do everything possible to accommodate finalists in arranging interviews, including the payment of expenses, where appropriate. Finally, it should ensure that those who conduct interviews adhere to professional standards by respecting the dignity of candidates, focusing their questions on the qualifications needed for the position, and avoiding questions that violate federal or state antidiscrimination laws.

Employment decisions always involve judgments. But, except in those cases in which federal law allows a specific preference, institutions should base hiring decisions as well as all decisions relating to reappointment, promotion, tenure, apprenticeship, graduate student assistantships, awards, and fellowships solely on professional qualifications without regard to sex, race, color, national origin, sexual orientation, religion, political affiliation, veteran status, age, certain physical handicaps, or marital status. A written contract should follow a verbal offer in a timely manner, and institutions have an obligation to explain as clearly as possible the terms of such contracts. Once signed, a contract should be honored by all parties as both a legal and ethical obligation.

Employers have an obligation to clarify all rules and conditions governing employment and promotion.

Once employed, any person deserves the professional respect and support necessary for professional growth and advancement. Such respect precludes unequal treatment based on any nonprofessional criteria. In particular, it precludes any harassment or discrimination, which is unethical, unprofessional, and threatening to intellectual freedom. Harassment includes all behavior that prevents or impairs an individual's full enjoyment of educational or workplace rights, benefits, environment, or opportunities, such as generalized pejorative remarks or behavior or the use of professional authority to emphasize inappropriately the personal identity of an individual. Sexual harassment, which includes inappropriate requests for sexual favors, unwanted sexual advances, and sexual assaults, is illegal and violates professional standards.

Historians should receive promotions and merit salary increases exclusively on the basis of professional qualifications and achievements. The best way to ensure that such criteria are used is to establish clear standards and procedures known to all members of the institution. An institution should have an established review process, should offer candidates for promotion or merit raises opportunities to substantiate their achievements, should provide early and specific notification of adverse promotion or salary decisions, and should provide an appeal mechanism.

Of particularly grave concern to historians are those institutional decisions that lead to disciplinary action—most important, questions of suspension and dismissal, because they may involve issues of intellectual freedom. All institutions employing historians should develop and follow clearly written procedures governing disciplinary action. These procedures should embody the principles of due process, including adequate mechanisms for fact-finding and avenues for appeal. Academic institutions should adhere to the AAUP's 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure. Other institutions that employ professional historians should provide a comparable standard of due process.

Historians who work part time or off the tenure track should receive compensation in proportion to the share of a full-time work load they carry, including a proportionate share of fringe benefits available to their full-time colleagues; they also should have access to institutional facilities and support systems, and appropriate involvement in institutional governance.

8. Reputation and Trust

Historians are obligated to present their credentials accurately and honestly in all contexts. They should take care not to misrepresent their qualifications in resumes, applications, or the public record. They should apply the same rigor and integrity in describing their own accomplishments as their profession applies to the historical record itself.

The status of a book, article, or other publication that is still in the production pipeline is often an important piece of information for search committees, tenure/promotion review committees, and fellowship committees. Yet the profession has no standardized terminology for works in progress, often rendering their status unclear. The AHA suggests the following lexicon.

- ❖ “In Press”: the manuscript is fully copyedited and out of the author’s hands. It is in the final stages of the production process.
- ❖ “Forthcoming”: a completed manuscript has been accepted by a press or journal.
- ❖ “Under contract to . . .”: a press and an author have signed a contract for a book in progress, but the final manuscript has not yet been submitted.
- ❖ “Submitted” or “under consideration”: the book or article has been submitted to a press or journal, but there is as yet no contract or agreement to publish.

Historians should not list among the completed achievements on their resumes degrees or honors they have never earned, jobs they have never held, articles or books they have never written or published, or any comparable misrepresentations of their creative or professional work.

Historians should be mindful of any conflicts of interest that may arise in the course of their professional duties. A conflict of interest arises when an individual’s personal interest or bias could compromise (or appear to compromise) his or her ability to act in accordance with professional obligations. Historians frequently encounter such situations as participants in some form of peer review—for example, reviewing grant applications, vetting manuscripts for publication, evaluating annual meeting program proposals, or selecting prize or award recipients. Historians should identify and, where appropriate, recuse themselves from any decisions or other actions in which a conflict of interest or the appearance thereof arises; they should avoid situations in which they may benefit or appear to benefit financially at the expense of their professional obligations. An individual should normally refuse to participate in the formal review of work by anyone for whom he or she feels a sense of personal obligation, competition, or enmity.

9. Additional Guidance

This Statement on Standards of Professional Conduct offers general guidance about core values and practices of the historical profession. Because no document of this sort could ever be comprehensive, the AHA typically amends this Statement only when some new issue arises that is of such general concern that a formal policy declaration seems warranted.

For additional advice about ethics and best practices among professional historians, readers are urged to consult other declarations and publications of the American Historical Association, including best practice statements and wise counsel documents readily available on the AHA web site.

Valuable insights can also be gleaned from the publications of several other historical associations, for instance, the Ethics Guidelines of the National Council on Public History; the Statement of Professional Standards and Ethics of the American Association for State and Local History; the Evaluation Guidelines of the Oral History Association; and the Principles and Standards for Federal Historical Programs of the Society for History in the Federal Government, among others.

We encourage all historians to uphold and defend their professional responsibilities with the utmost seriousness, and to advocate for integrity and fairness and high standards throughout the historical profession.

INVENTING AMERICA

Second Edition

PAULINE MAIER

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

MERRITT ROE SMITH

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

ALEXANDER KEYSSAR

Harvard University

DANIEL J. KEVLES

Yale University

"You will envy the students who use this book."

—Malcolm Jones, Newsweek

In its acclaimed First Edition, Inventing America broke new ground by integrating the cultural, social, and political dimensions of the American story around the unifying theme of innovation—the impulse to make things new, to improve in the face of challenge and change. For the Second Edition, the authors have expanded on this theme, added helpful new pedagogy, and pared detail to create a more concise and readable text.

Available Spring 2006

The Seagull Edition of Give Me Liberty! provides the full content of Eric Foner's renowned text in a more affordable format. Available for spring 2006 courses.

"Achieves the best balance of length and depth, is strikingly clear, and manages to blend political, social, and cultural history almost seamlessly." —Charlie Mitchell, Elmira College

"Foner's book received the highest praise from my students of any book I've used to date."

—Jeffrey Fortin, University of New Hampshire

"This is history writing that will engage and challenge students at all levels." —Don Palm, Sacramento City College

THE AMERICAN FOUNDING ERA COLLECTION

The Dolley Madison Digital Edition

Edited by Holly Shulman

"Highly recommended for all public, academic, and special libraries serving researchers in history, gender studies, or political science. . . . [The Dolley Madison Digital Edition] bodes well both for the future of online scholarship and Rotunda."

—Cheryl LaGuardia, Library Journal

BLACKWELL

Blackwell is a leading, long-established academic publisher of books and journals in History with a range of titles covering the whole spectrum of sub-disciplines. Our publishing extends from student texts and trade biographies to reference works and learned journals.

We publish nearly 20 journals in history and related fields – many in partnership with leading international academic societies and institutions, and many edited and written by highly-cited and highly-regarded authors in the field. We currently work with three of the 16 journals listed in the history of social sciences category in ISI, including the second ranked journal.

Blackwell's book publishing program focuses on all aspects of European, US, and World history. The list has notable strengths in medieval and early modern history, and we have a rapidly growing presence in modern, US, and Latin American history.

THE TRANSNATIONAL HISTORY OF A CHINESE FAMILY

Immigrant Letters, Family Business, and Reverse Migration

Haiming Liu

"The book provides valuable insights into lesser known aspects of these immigrant lives, and allows us to understand Asian American history through the well-documented experiences of a family."—Yong Chen, author of Chinese San Francisco, 1850–1943: A Transpacific Community

256 PAGES • 16 B&W ILLUSTRATIONS • PAPER $23.95 • 0-8135-3597-2

NATIONS AND NATIONALISM

A Reader

Edited by Philip Spencer and Howard Wollman

Nationalism has become a topic of wide-ranging significance and heated debate over recent years, with a huge expansion in the amount of literature available. Bringing together the best and most representative of these writings, Nations and Nationalism is an essential reader for students of political theory, history, and related fields.

WOMEN'S STUDIES FOR THE FUTURE

Foundations, Interrogations, Politics

Edited by Elizabeth Lapovsky Kennedy and Agatha Beins

"This valuable collection contributes an important discussion of contemporary epistemological and political debates within women's studies. It provides insight on the institutional 'next steps' that will advance the field and answers many of the academy's questions regarding the role and scope of our mandate."

—Susan Van Dyne, Smith College

EUGENE LANG COLLEGE THE NEW SCHOOL FOR LIBERAL ARTS

Bernard and Irene Schwartz New-York Historical Society & The New School Postdoctoral Fellows Program

The Bernard and Irene Schwartz Postdoctoral Fellows Program was established in 2005 to foster a vibrant relation between the New-York Historical Society and Eugene Lang College The New School for Liberal Arts. Postdoctoral fellows are invited to help build this connection through research, teaching, and public history programming. In the course of a one-year (non-renewable) fellowship, Bernard and Irene Schwartz fellows are expected to develop a major research project with the resources of the New-York Historical Society, to teach two undergraduate courses at Eugene Lang College, and to share in both institutions' commitments to public history.

The successful candidate will be a recent PhD with a strong record of previous teaching.

Candidates must submit a curriculum vitae, a 2-3 page proposal describing the theme of the major research project, two detailed syllabi outlining the undergraduate courses they envision teaching, and a one page overview of their background and interest in public history.

For application details please go to: www.lang.edu/fellowship

Application deadline: postmark February 15, 2006

INTELLECTUAL

HISTORY

Launched in 2004, this important new journal serves as a focal point and forum for scholarship on intellectual history and related fields in cultural history from 1650 onwards, with primary attention to Europe and the United States but also to transnational developments that encompass the non-West. MIH enquires into this era's intellectual discourses and texts, their contextual origins and reception, and the recovery of their historical meanings. The term "texts" encompasses various forms of intellectual and cultural expression, including political thought, philosophy, religion, literature, the social sciences, the natural sciences, and the visual arts.

history journals

agricultural history

The official journal of the Agricultural History Society, Agricultural History explores agricultural developments over time, in all geographies, and among all peoples. Agricultural History publishes a range of articles on institutions, organizations, methodologies, and sciences—all of which have been contributing factors in agricultural growth.

pacific historical review

For over 70 years, the Pacific Historical Review has accurately and adeptly covered the history of American expansion to the Pacific and beyond, as well as the post-frontier developments of the 20th-century American West. Published quarterly for the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association.

oral history review

The Oral History Association brings together people from many professions and disciplines, providing a forum for in-depth discussion of methodology and a context for the cross-fertilization of ideas. Membership provides you with a subscription to the Oral History Review, which explores the multiple ways in which oral history is used to document and make sense of the past.

the public historian

The Public Historian has made its mark as the definitive voice of the public history profession, providing historians with the latest scholarship and applications from the field. Included with your subscription is a membership in the National Council on Public History.

'I Saw a Nightmare...'

Doing Violence to Memory: The Soweto Uprising, June 16, 1976

Helena Pohlandt-McCormick

In this study, the school children of Soweto re-emerge to take a central role in the history of the struggle against apartheid.

Helena Pohlandt-McCormick

is assistant professor at St. Olaf College.

Commerce, Culture, and Conflict

Taiwan under European Rule, 1623-1662

Tonio Andrade

Tonio Andrade shows how European trade, protection, and occupation played a central role in Taiwan's colonization and incorporation by the Chinese empire.

Tonio Andrade is assistant professor of history at Emory University.

'A Tender Age'

Cultural Anxieties of the Child in the Twelfth and Thirteenth Centuries

William F. MacLehose

The old debate of how childhood existed in the Middle Ages gains new sets of points, counterpoints, paradoxes, and contradictions in this re-examination.

William F. MacLehose teaches history at Temple University.

Where Women Make History

Women as Makers and Tellers of History in Magde, Mozambique

Heidi Gengenbach

In rural Mozambique where women, if asked directly, usually deny any knowledge of history, Gengenbach is able to discover from their unconventional accounts—in voice, markings, and social remappings—that the women have coped and adjusted to colonialism, capitalism, and Christianity with greater strength and resilience than the men.

Heidi Gengenbach is an independent scholar.

'The American Marco Polo'

Excursions to a Virtual China in U.S. Popular Culture, 1784-1912

John Rogers Haddad

Haddad demonstrates that exhibitions of Chinese artifacts held great popular appeal. At the same time, they were the rare occurrence when the Chinese controlled their own representation in America.

John Rogers Haddad is assistant professor of American studies at Penn State, Harrisburg.

The Slender Thread

Irish Women on the Southern Avalon, 1750-1860

Willeen G. Keough

In exploring the lives of Irish-Newfoundland women who co-founded fishing communities along the southern Avalon Peninsula, Keough challenges us to move women from the periphery to the center of migration and early settlement narratives in North America.

Willeen G. Keough is assistant professor of history at Simon Fraser University.

Unto a Good Land

A HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

David Edwin Harrell Jr., Edwin S. Gaustad, John B. Boles, Sally Foreman Griffith, Randall M. Miller, Randall B. Woods

"Unto a Good Land beautifully integrates the character of American religion, values, and idealistic concerns into an excellent narrative history without cant or special pleading and with real judiciousness and balance — a difficult task accomplished with sensitivity and vigor."

— JON BUTLER
Yale University

World History

The World Transformed 1945 to the Present

Michael H. Hunt

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

The World Transformed provides students with an account of the political, socio-economic, and cultural developments that have shaped global events since 1945. The volume's focus on three central and profoundly interconnected stories — the unfolding of the Cold War, the growth of the international economy, and the developing world's quest for political and economic independence — offers students a framework for understanding the past and making sense of the present.

Going to the Source teaches students to approach historical documents with both the enthusiasm and skepticism of practicing historians. Rather than overwhelming students with a patchwork of documents, each of the chronologically arranged chapters uses one type of source to illuminate a particular story in U.S. history, guiding students to explore the qualities unique to that type of source and deepening their understanding of how history is created.
