SPECIAL REGISTRATION RATE FOR TEACHER-STUDENT GROUPS

To nurture interest in history among students and to encourage their mentors, the AHA is offering special registration rates for high school and undergraduate teachers who are accompanied by their students. High school teachers who wish to bring some of their students to the annual meeting can take advantage of this offer and preregister themselves and up to five accompanying students for the special fee of $50 for the group. Undergraduate teachers can preregister themselves and up to five students for $100 for the group.

For administrative reasons, preregistration is required to obtain this special rate. It will not be available, therefore, after the preregistration deadline (December 17, 2010) has passed. Teachers who register for this special group rate will be contacted by AHA staff to get the names of the students and to verify the status of the teacher and students. Only middle or high school history students or undergraduate history majors and minors will be eligible to be included in the groups for this offer.

High school and undergraduate history teachers can take advantage of this special opportunity to introduce their AP history students or history majors to the history profession and its premier professional association. Please note that this special rate is not available for graduate students, teachers at the graduate level, or 9–16 teachers who are not bringing students to the meeting. They will have to register by paying the usual rate at the appropriate level.
