The United States and China Since World War II: A Brief History

“Capping a remarkable career of five decades involving personal interaction with many of the scholars and practitioners on both sides of the Pacific, Dr. Chi Wang once again deepens our understanding of the evolving Sino-American relationship.”

Robert Sutter, Professor International Affairs, GWU

“This volume will find an honored place on the bookshelves of scholars, students, and informed citizens alike.”

David M. Lampton, Director of China Studies, SAIS

“Dr. Wang’s comprehensive and balanced analysis provides the insight of someone who has lived his subject matter.”

“He provides in this slim volume essential background for understanding the challenges that lie ahead for the United States in dealing with China’s growing prominence on the world stage.”

Ambassador J. Stapleton Roy

Building A Better Chinese Collection For The Library of Congress

Dr. Chi Wang, former Library of Congress Chinese section chief, chronicles the modest beginnings of the Chinese collection and its transformation into the largest Chinese archives outside Asia.

“Extraordinarily relevant for a new generation of librarians and scholars of Chinese studies.”

Dr. Chenghi Wang, Columbia University
C.V. Starr East Asian Library

“Academic in style and scope, Wang has collected his various writings that center on Chinese culture, publishing and library collections.”

Kirkus Reviews

“Wang makes a significant contribution to the growing body of library literature on Chinese and East Asian collections in the United States, and this volume will be useful in the fields of China studies and library and information science, especially from the historical perspective.”

The new standard in digital history, LaunchPad is an easy-to-use online course space that makes it easier than ever to create assignments, track homework, and access a wealth of relevant learning and teaching resources. LaunchPad takes spectacular content from Bedford/St. Martin’s history resources—the LearningCurve adaptive learning tool, e-books, documents, maps, video, and more—and marries it to a clear, uncluttered and simple interface. It is the ideal learning environment for students to work with the materials of the course. It’s the e-book plus a whole lot more!

LaunchPad includes LearningCurve—a fun, interactive program that adapts to what your students know and gets students to read the textbook and rehearse its contents. By assigning LearningCurve, you can ensure that your students have read textbook material before they come to class. All you have to do is assign due dates to the activities. LearningCurve is also available integrated with select titles at no additional cost. Students receive access when they purchase a new book.
