THE NAMES OF THE GROUPS MEETING JOINTLY WITH THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION ARE LISTED
ON PAGES 44 TO 46 OF THIS PROGRAM

Europe's Classical Balance of Power:

A Case History of the Theory and Practice of One of the Great Concepts of European Statecraft. By Edward Vose Gulick, Wellesley College. Here balance-of-power theory is related to statecraft as it was actually practiced. The latter part of the Napoleonic era has been used because this period included alliances, intervention, coalitions, war, and an important peace settlement in which European statesmen consciously tried to create a Europe of balanced power. An important study for the student of European history. December

Middle-Class Democracy and the Revolution in Massachusetts: 1691-1780

By Robert E. Brown, Michigan State University. A well-thought-out and carefully documented "new look" at some of the accepted ideas concerning American society before the Revolution is provided in Professor Brown's study. The extent and development of democratic ways and institutions is of particular concern. December

The Development of
American Petroleum Pipelines: A Study in Private Enterprise and Public Policy, 1862-1906. By Arthur Menzies Johnson, U. S. Naval Academy. Pipelines are a vital part of our transportation network, but their development has been neglected by students of our economic development. Professor Johnson tells the story of a bitter intra-industry struggle, the role pipelines played in the rise of Standard Oil, and other aspects of the growth of petroleum pipelines. December

REGISTRATION: The Bureau of Registration and Information will be located in the Main Lobby of the Mayflower Hotel. It will be open on Tuesday, December 27 from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m., on Wednesday, December 28 from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m., on Thursday, December 29 from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m., and on Friday, December 30 from 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon. The registration fee is $1.50. The registration badge for admittance to the meeting and all tickets for luncheons and dinners will be obtained at the Bureau.

There will be no advanced registrations. Members are asked to fill out in advance the enclosed registration card and present it with the proper fees at the Registration Bureau as soon as possible after arrival. It is hoped that these arrangements will expedite the whole process of registration.

LUNCHEONS AND DINNERS: All luncheons are priced at $3.65, all dinners at $5.60, including taxes and gratuities. Tickets desired should be indicated on the enclosed registration card. All checks covering registration and luncheon and dinner tickets should be made out to the American Historical Association: no refunds can be made.

TRANSPORTATION: Members should confer with their local ticket agents well in advance concerning routes and fares.

JOB REGISTER: At the meeting the services of the Job Register will be available. Candidates for positions may register and departmental representatives seeking staff members may make inquiries. The Association will assist in arranging interviews. Departmental representatives will facilitate arrangements by informing Association headquarters of their needs before the meeting and each candidate should inform the Job Register of his presence and address as soon as he arrives in Washington.

REUNIONS: Information concerning group reunions will be posted on the bulletin board at the Bureau of Registration and Information. Groups desiring to hold such functions should communicate with the Chairman of the Local Arrangements Committee as soon as possible.

MEETINGS OF OTHER GROUPS: Some historical societies or groups have arranged special sessions which cannot be listed in the general program. Mimeographed announcements will be available at registration when these are supplied to the American Historical Association.

A History of Latin America

From the Beginnings to the Present

by HUBERT HERRING, Pomona College

"I like it, primarily because it is written interestingly, especially from the point of view of an undergraduate. That makes it unique, in my opinion, among existing text books on Latin American history."—THOMAS W. PALMER, JR., Boston University.

6¼ x 9½, cloth, 30 maps, 796 pages, $6.50 text

American Epoch

A History of the United States Since the 1890's

by ARTHUR S. LINK, Northwestern University

"No man can pack more information into less space without crowding than Arthur Link, and he has done his usual excellent, succinct job with American Epoch. I don't see how any teacher or student could possibly quarrel with it, either in content or in interpretation."—JOE V. FRANTZ, University of Texas.

6¼ x 9½, cloth, 39 maps, illus., 724 pages, $6.00 text

The American Experience

by HENRY BAMFORD PARKES, New York University

Second Edition, 1955

A brilliant interpretation of the character and civilization of the American people. Not a detailed narrative of historical events, this book discusses those events, deriving from them an understanding and illumination of the American present, of the ideas, ideals, and characteristics that are specifically American.

Land of Their Choice:

THE IMMIGRANTS WRITE HOME

Edited by THEODORE C. BLEGEN. This collection of "America letters" that Norwegian immigrants wrote to friends and relatives in the lands they had left tells a little-known human story that is part of the larger saga of America. It constitutes a kind of composite diary of everyday people at the grass roots of American life. Describing their journeys, the new country, the problems and pleasures of daily life, the letters afford new insight into the American past. $5.75

The Origins of the British Labour Party

By J. H. STEWART REID. The evolution of the British Labour party and its first 20 years as a parliamentary party are the subject of this history. Mr. Reid describes the conditions that brought about the formation of a specifically labor party and explains how it was organized as a coalition of diverse forces. $4.50

Whoop-Up Country:

THE CANADIAN-AMERICAN WEST, 1865-1885

By PAUL F. SHARP. In the frontier days before the railroads crossed the western plains, the Whoop-Up Trail was a high road of adventure and commerce. The trail with the rowdy name wrote its history in whiskey, guns, furs, and pioneer enterprise, but with the passing of the frontier it was forgotten. Now Paul Sharp brings it back to life with its colorful adventurers and solid citizens, Blackfoot warriors, sharpshooting plainsmen, Canadian Mounties, U. S. army regulars, and frontier sheriffs. $5.00

A History of Civilization

by CRANE BRINTON, Harvard University;
JOHN B. CHRISTOPHER, University of Rochester; and
ROBERT LEE WOLFF, Harvard University

Briefly, yet in adequate detail, this new two-volume treatment examines the roots of our twentieth-century civilization. The authors coordinate cultural and intellectual history with social, economic, and political developments. They bring the student close to the people and the times they describe by quoting frequently and at length from original contemporary sources, often making their own translations in order to preserve the freshness of the accounts. They employ the selective principle throughout, believing that a few examples, fully and relevantly developed, are worth more than dozens of meaningless names.

Volume I (prehistory to 1715): 686 pp., 7" x 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ ", April 1955

Volume II (1715 to the present): 722 pp., 7" x 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ ", April 1955

A History of United States Foreign Policy

by JULIUS W. PRATT, University of Buffalo

Clear and comprehensive, this new text studies our foreign policy from 1775 to the end of 1954, with emphasis on the aims and instruments of diplomacy, military policy as related to foreign policy, and the underlying principles that have guided U. S. foreign policy.

808 pages, 6" x 9", April 1955

The United States and World Sea Power

edited by E. B. POTTER, U. S. Naval Academy

Placing U. S. Naval operations within their proper historic setting, this new text provides a thoughtful analysis of what actually happened and why it happened. It presents the sea power struggle as a continuing process with U. S. naval tactics, traditions, and technologies shown as outgrowths of, and as contributions to, the practices of other navies.

Western Civilization: THE STORY OF OUR HERITAGE

Volume I, by C. HAROLD KING, University of Miami
(Earliest Civilization through 1648 A.D.)

This is a fascinating, absorbing and handsome new text for the basic History of Western Civilization course. Written with the beginning student in mind, it comes to grips with those main currents in political and cultural development which make up our heritage. The text is written in a style which is as vivid and colorful as the story it tells. The many maps and illustrations are closely integrated with and an important part of the text. Each of the 32 chapters has a short bibliography in addition to the extensive and scholarly bibliography for the text as a whole.

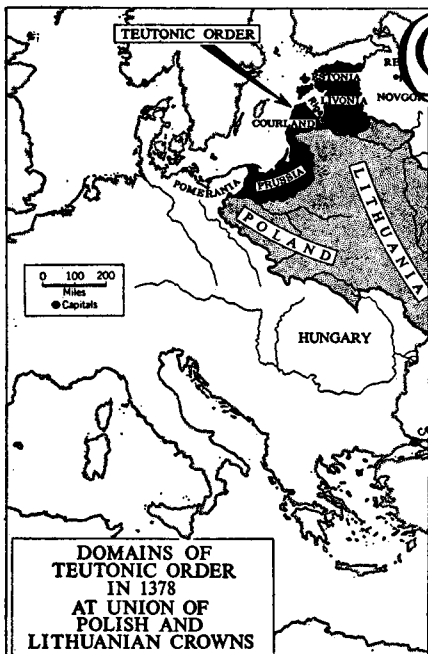

Approx. 550 pp., 103 maps, 56 dia., 300 pictures      Early 1956

Volume II, by ARTHUR J. MAY, University of Rochester
(Mid-seventeenth Century to the Present)

This book surveys in 33 chapters the continuing evolution of western civilization and its planetary impact from the mid-seventeenth century to the present. Emphasis rests upon the fundamentals of the western inheritance. As the present is approached, the narrative broadens out, a quarter of the chapters dealing with developments since 1919. Political happenings are by no means slighted, but other realms of endeavor are allotted due attention. The whole of humanity is brought into focus—the transit of western ways to the Orient and Middle East. An unusual amount of space is devoted to Russia, the Far East and the Americas.

Approx. 550 pp., 42 full & double page maps, 300 pictures      Early 1956

Among the many distinguished books you can see at the Rinehart exhibit are the new texts for your History of Civilization courses:

THE HERITAGE OF THE PAST

by Stewart C. Easton

and

THE MAKING OF THE MODERN WORLD

by Richard M. Brace

Their 165 maps, two of which are shown here in much reduced size, are only one of the many unexcelled features of these widely praised texts.

We urge you to visit our exhibit where our college representatives will be happy to show you these and other of our new publications, and to discuss with you your textbook needs.

THE AMERICAN STORY

Volume I: YOUTH

528 pages, $6.00

Volume II: MATURITY

544 pages, $6.00

By ROBERT E. RIEGEL, Dartmouth College; and DAVID F. LONG, University of New Hampshire. McGraw-Hill Series in History.

Here is a full and fascinating description of American life, its culture, its relationship with the rest of the world, and the personalities who have played a significant role in the growth of the United States since its discovery. Volume I covers the period from early exploration to 1877, carrying the American story through the political reconstruction following the Civil War. Volume II continues the national story of the United States from 1877 to the present. In fusing social—including economic and intellectual—history with the more traditional emphasis on the political story the authors succeed in weaving all the strands of American history into a more meaningful and understandable pattern.

THE UNITED STATES IN WORLD HISTORY

By JOHN B. RAE and THOMAS H. D. MAHONEY, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. McGraw-Hill Series in History. Second Edition, 842 pages, $6.50

This careful revision presents a broad view of United States history, including significant world developments. As part of a general world society it traces its growth from the colonial foundations to its present position of world leadership. Considerable stress is placed on the interrelationship between the United States and the rest of the world of political, economic, social, cultural, and intellectual forces. The text covers the entire period from the discovery of America to the Eisenhower administration.

A SHORT HISTORY OF AMERICAN LIFE

By NELSON MANFRED BLAKE, Syracuse University. McGraw Hill Series in History. 732 pages, $5.75

Set against the dynamic pattern of the transfer of European institutions to American soil and the resultant modifications of Old World heritage this outstanding study achieves within the bounds of a single volume a synthesis of American economic, social, and cultural history. Will lead to a clear and incisive understanding of the social and cultural patterns which have influenced the development of this country.

ABOUT THE FIRST EDITION:

"This work should prove popular with both students and professors who are concerned with the study of introductory college courses in general European history. In their foreword the authors declare that they have taken care to make the work readable, attractive, and accurate. To the mind of the reviewer they have succeeded admirably in doing so. Within the space of a thousand-plus pages the complete story of European history is related beginning with a consideration of the Ancient Near East down to, and including, the cleavage between Russia and the Western Powers. The omission of a welter of detail does not impair in the slightest the clarity and completeness with which the record of Europe is recounted. The major, and really important, details of ancient, medieval, and modern histories of Europe and European nations are presented in an orderly, readable, lucid fashion. The authors have produced an excellent work of synthetization. The volume possesses a sobriety and balanced objectivity in the narration of centuries-long controverted happenings." from The Historical Bulletin

Robert E. Riegel

This third edition presents an accurate, uncluttered narrative of the advance of the American frontier across the continent from the Appalachians to the Pacific Northwest. Basic history (population movement, land sales, territorial organization) is combined with cultural developments. Of special interest are the expanded treatment of the Pacific Coast and the last chapters on the West in literature and the development of frontier theory.

The American Constitution

By ALFRED H. KELLY and WINFRED A. HARBISON

Wayne University

The new revised and expanded edition of this distinguished text gives thorough treatment to all the recent Constitutional changes and pressing issues of the contemporary period. The discussion of civil liberties has been greatly enlarged to include the latest developments in such important areas as racial segregation and trials of Communists. Two new chapters, "The Constitution and the Second World War" and "The Constitution in an Age of Crisis," expand on this theme, dealing with such vital issues as the federal loyalty program, proposed treaty-power limitations, congressional investigations, and national security in the "Cold War." Changes have also been made throughout the book to bring the subject matter into line with recent developments and the latest historical research. The list of selected readings and the table of cases have been revised, expanded, and brought up to date.

Written with clarity, vigor, and a judicious sifting of detail, The American Constitution, Revised Edition, is further strengthening its position as the foremost text in this important field.

World Civilizations

By EDWARD McNALL BURNS, Rutgers University

and PHILIP L. RALPH, Lake Erie College

A new two-volume text for the beginning history course or the basic history course in general education that aims at a broad world view of man's struggles and achievements from earliest times to the present. Like Professor Burns's highly successful Western Civilizations, it emphasizes social and intellectual history; but it enlarges the scope of this treatment to include every major region of the globe, pointing up particularly the increasingly important roles played by Asia and the Americas in the present age.

1955 Maps Illustrations Chronological Tables Index Bibliography

Vol. I: 588 pages, Price, $4.50 Vol. II: 614 pages, Price, $4.50

Western Civilizations

FOURTH EDITION

By EDWARD McNALL BURNS, Rutgers University

This well established and widely used basic text stresses the intellectual, social, and cultural development of the Western World. It presents in a single volume a balanced account of the history of our civilization from the earliest preliterate cultures to the present. In the fourth edition, published in 1954, Professor Burns has not only made a fresh appraisal of the most recent developments but has revised and reorganized many of the materials throughout the entire book.

THE MAKING OF AMERICAN HISTORY REVISED AND ENLARGED

Edited by Donald Sheehan, Smith College. The Revised and Enlarged Edition of this widely used two-volume work offers interpretations of the American past by thirty-five of our most distinguished historians, including selections drawn from both recognized classics and the best of recent scholarship. Like the previous edition, these new volumes cover many aspects of American culture—social, economic, political, intellectual—and offer a practical solution to the problem of supplying students with material for outside reading. Widely adopted. (List $2.90 each volume)

THE MAKING OF MODERN EUROPE

Edited by Herman Ausubel, Columbia University. These two handsome volumes offer eighty essays designed to accompany any of the standard texts in modern European History. "You have come as near to solving the problem of effective outside reading for college classes in European History as can be done," writes Geoffrey Brunn. "The selection, emphasis, and distribution have my unstinted admiration." (List $3.50 each volume)

THE MAKING OF ENGLISH HISTORY

Edited by R. L. Schuyler and Herman Ausubel, Columbia University. Few college libraries can afford to buy enough copies of materials essential for the English History course. Hence the importance of this book, with its seventy essays by some of the leading historians of our century. The work offers an unusually broad view: political, constitutional, social, economic, religious, literary, and intellectual history are represented. (List $5.60)

ECONOMIC FORCES IN AMERICAN HISTORY

By George Soule, Bennington College. Focusing on important developments in American economic growth, Professor Soule traces each theme "vertically," as it unfolds, and "horizontally," to demonstrate the interrelationship of forces. (List $4.75)

Atlas of European History

Edited by EDWARD W. FOX

Associate Professor of History, Cornell University

Assisted by H. S. DEIGHTON

Pembroke College, Oxford University

This new historical atlas, truly a teaching atlas, is designed specifically for classroom use. Intended to supplement courses in European History and the History of Western Civilization, it will improve the student's understanding of history from ancient times to the present.

In terms of the latest scholarship and skillful map-making, the maps included in this new historical atlas treat both historical and physical factors that have had effects on historical events. The Atlas of European History represents an innovation in atlas making—it presents clearly to the teacher and the student the relationship between geography and history.
