GENERAL INFORMATION

HEADQUARTERS: All sessions listed in the Program, A.H.A. offices, and all exhibits will be in the New York Hilton, 1335 Avenue of the Americas at W. 53rd Street.

Fifteen hundred rooms have been reserved at the New York Hilton. In addition, approximately 2,000 rooms have been reserved at eight hotels nearby. Locations, rates, and more detailed instructions are given on the enclosed Hotel Reservation form. All room reservations will be arranged by the A.H.A. Housing Bureau operated by the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau. Please do not apply directly to the hotel.

REGISTRATION: There will be no advance registration for the Meeting. The registration badge for admittance to sessions and tickets for the luncheons and dinner listed in this Program may be obtained at the registration desk. The registration desk will be in the Second Floor Promenade (reached by escalators from the lobby) of the New York Hilton. It will be open Tuesday, December 27, from 3 p.m. until 10 p.m.; Wednesday, December 28, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.; Thursday, December 29, from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.; and Friday, December 30, from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

Members are asked to fill out the enclosed registration form in advance and present it with proper fees at the registration desk immediately upon arrival. The registration fee is $1.50. Checks will be accepted if made out to the American Historical Association for the exact cost of registration and meal tickets. No refunds can be made.

LUNCHEONS AND DINNERS: All luncheons are priced at $5.85, and the dinner of the Mediaeval Academy of America at $8.50, including gratuities. Tickets desired should be indicated on the enclosed registration form and purchased at the time of registration. Because the Association must give advance notice to the hotel regarding the number to be served at each luncheon and the Academy dinner, the early purchase of tickets is essential.

LOCATOR FILE: Names of registered members in attendance and their local addresses while at the Meeting will be available at the Locator File adjacent to the Registration Desk in the Second Floor Promenade.

PROFESSIONAL REGISTER: Throughout the Annual Meeting, the Professional Register will be in operation on the fifth floor of the New York Hilton Hotel, P. G. Wodehouse and O. Henry Suites. Candidates may join the Register or bring their papers up to date at the Meeting, if they have not already done so by mail. Prospective employers may review the Register's vita files, and they may also have their staff needs posted. Departmental representatives can further facilitate matters if they notify the Professional Register before the Annual Meeting, by December 14, of their hiring needs.

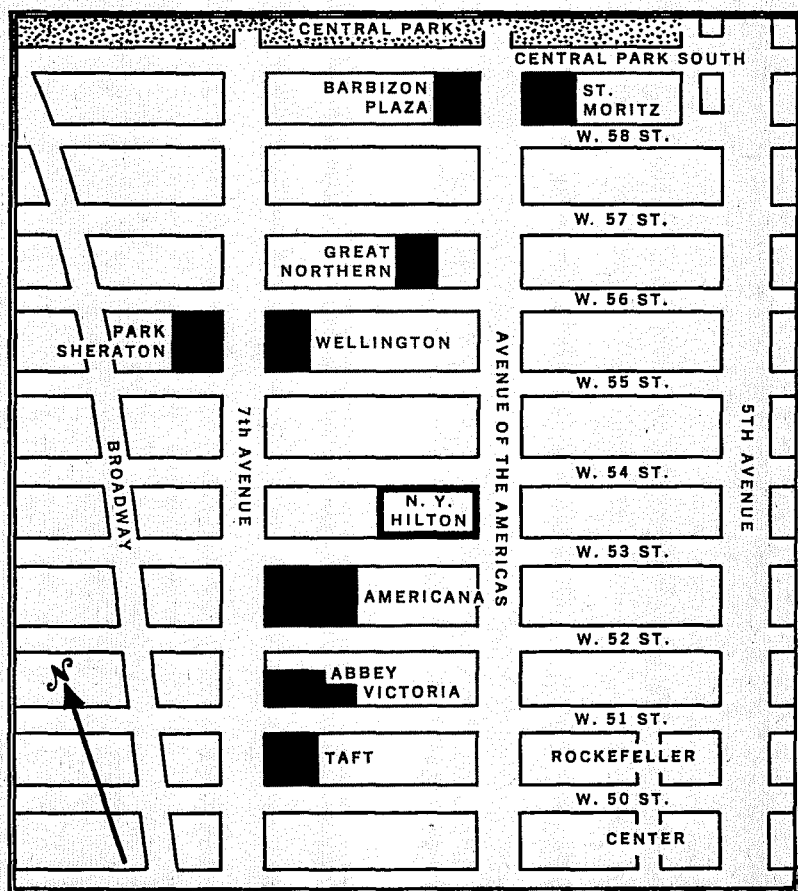

Candidates and employers alike should list their local address with the Professional Register as soon as they arrive in New York, because the Register will make every effort to expedite the interviewing process through the use of five rooms on the fifth floor of the headquarters hotel.

Candidates must be A.H.A. members before joining the Register; they pay an initial fee of $3, with an annual renewal of $1. The services of the Register are available to employers without charge. For additional information see the descriptive sheet inserted in the program, or page 115 of this program, or the December, 1966 AHA Newsletter.

GROUP MEETINGS AND REUNIONS: Some historical societies and groups have arranged special sessions which cannot be listed in the general program. Mimeographed announcements concerning them will be distributed at the Information Desk, Second Floor Promenade, provided they are supplied to the Local Arrangements Committee Chairman.

Information concerning group reunions such as smokers and breakfasts will be posted on the Bulletin Board located in the Second Floor Promenade. All groups desiring to hold gatherings should make arrangements with the Convention and Banquet Sales Department of the New York Hilton, sending a copy of the correspondence to the Local Arrangements Committee Chairman.

COLONIAL SOUTH CAROLINA

A Political History, 1663-1763

By M. Eugene Sirmans

Foreword by Wesley Frank Craven

This absorbing appraisal of colonial South Carolina political history begins with an examination of the origins of the colony and is developed in three parts: "The Age of the Goose Creek Men," covering the period from 1670 to 1712; "Breakdown and Recovery,"—in which the central dispute was over local currency—from 1712 to 1743; and "The Rise of the Commons House of Assembly," from 1743 to 1763.

"Thoroughly researched, thoughtful, and comprehensive," this study is "a solid and important contribution to our knowledge not just of colonial South Carolina, but also of the nature and concerns of early American political life. Without question, it will be the standard work on colonial South Carolina politics for years to come."—Jack P. Greene

A Bold Innovation

THE NORTON ESSAYS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

under the general editorship of
Harold M. Hyman, University of Illinois

W. W. Norton & Company, Inc., is pleased to announce a program of original essays in the interpretation of American history. The Norton Essays will help fill the gap that now exists in the literature of American history between learned-journal articles and book-length manuscripts. Each essay will provide a concise, yet scholarly examination of a significant aspect of America's colonial and national development.

THE NORTON ESSAYS IN AMERICAN HISTORY will be published individually in attractive clothbound and paperbound editions, suitable for use in both undergraduate and graduate courses.

Information on individual titles of
THE NORTON ESSAYS IN AMERICAN HISTORY
will be available at the Norton booth.

Van Nostrand History Books

THE RENAISSANCE

by Robert Ergang, New York University. Approximately 475 pages; February, 1967; about $7.95.

This is a lucid, interpretive survey of Renaissance manifestations in the Netherlands, Germany, France, England, Spain, and Italy. In it the author shows how our modern secular civilization emerged from the medieval civilization. Discussed are politics, commerce, industry, and science in addition to the changes that took place in the various areas of cultural development. The book is ideally suited for courses in the Renaissance and as supplementary reading for general courses in European history.

THE MAKING OF MODERN MAN

The History of Civilization Since 1500

by Louis L. Snyder, The City College University of New York. The University Series in History. Approximately 1000 pages; Spring, 1967; about $9.75.

An innovative basic history textbook that skillfully weaves the pattern of the development of Western civilization from 1500. Professor Snyder's treatment enables the student to grasp memorable ideas, concepts, and movements. An important aspect of the author's approach is discussion of psychological as well as economic, political, social, cultural, and religious factors affecting historical development; the student is shown that historians have diverse and diametrically opposed views about virtually every movement in history; the book is divided into seven major parts, each of which opens with an introductory essay by a distinguished historian.

RUSSIA: Tsarist and Communist by Anatole G. Mazour, Professor Emeritus, Stanford University. 1962; 995 pages; $9.00.

Professor Mazour traces the political and cultural history of the Russian people from the Varangians and the Mongolian invasion to the present-day Communist regime. Particular attention is given to the cultural phenomena, such as the role of the church, the development of arts and sciences, and the impact of 19th century social and ideological theories.

AN INTRODUCTION TO RUSSIAN HISTORY AND CULTURE, Fourth Edition

by Ivar Spector, The University of Washington. 1965; 529 pages; $7.00.

This revised and expanded edition offers updated information on all the major subjects concerning the Soviet Union, including literature, "The Khrushchev Era," the Kronstadt Revolt, relations of the USSR with Red China and with the U. S., geography and ethnic composition, and the resources and industrial development of each of the constituent republics.

A DOCUMENTARY HISTORY OF AMERICAN LIFE 8 vols.

General Editor: David Donald

Harry C. Black Professor of American History
at The Johns Hopkins University

A Documentary History of American Life is the most comprehensive collection of source materials ever published on the history of the United States. Beginning with the first expedition of Walter Raleigh and continuing through President Lyndon B. Johnson's "Great Society" message to Congress, its nearly two million words afford for the first time a canvas of sufficient size on which to present the panorama of the American past in its full complexity and detail. The documents here presented are not merely laws, treaties, and Supreme Court decisions, but also diary accounts, contemporary letters, essays, poems, and cartoons. All significant portions of each document are included, and elaborate editorial introductions and bibliographical notes make this superb reading fare more accessible to students. At once complete, accurate, and imaginative, the eight volumes of this series comprise the definitive documentary history of the American people. Paperbound $2.95 Cloth $4.95.

De Gaulle and the World

The Foreign Policy of the Fifth French Republic

W. W. Kulski

This objective, comprehensive, and fully documented study of de Gaulle's relations with the nations of the world traces the development of his foreign policy from 1958 to the present.

It examines de Gaulle's attitudes and actions in respect to French nuclear power, NATO, the European Community, the Soviet Union, Germany, Britain, China, the United States, the U.N., and the Third World of the uncommitted nations.

Professor Kulski analyzes, from extensive research in France, the degree of French popular support for de Gaulle's foreign policy, and what aspects of that policy are likely to survive him.

Kulski, a distinguished Polish diplomat before and during the war, and now Professor of Political Science at Duke University, is a noted authority on European and Soviet international politics. $8.50

France and Algeria

The Problem of Civil and Political Reform, 1870-1920

Vincent Confer

This is a study of the "middle period" of French control in Algeria, and of the efforts by reform movements in France to extend the civil and political rights of the Algerian Arab and Berber population. Professor Confer recounts in detail the attempts at reform, the nature of the opposition, and the reasons why reform was not achieved. In the concluding chapter, he discusses the implications of these events for subsequent Franco-Algerian relations. $5.00

The Arab Ba'th Socialist Party

History, Ideology, and Organization

Kamel S. Abu Jaber; Foreword by Philip K. Hitti

The Arab Ba'th party, founded in 1943, has been the party in power in Syria since 1963. It is increasing in importance throughout the Middle East, with its goal of Arab unity and its opposition to alignment with East or West.

This is the only full-scale history and analysis of the party in English. $6.50

Patterns in American History

Volumes I and II

These continuously successful volumes designed for a basic survey course in American history provide the reader with provocative selections not usually found in other compilations. Extensive editorial commentary helps the student understand how American history can be analyzed through unified topic or patterns. 1965, Volume I pp. 492, Volume II pp. 624, paperbound.

The Editors:

Alexander DeConde is Chairman and Professor of History at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Armin Rappaport is Professor of History at the University of California, Berkeley.

William R. Steckel is Professor of History and head of the American Studies Program at the University of Wyoming.

HARLEM: THE MAKING OF A GHETTO

Negro New York, 1890-1930

By GILBERT OSOFSKY. "An excellent book, thoroughly researched, interestingly written and presenting what seem to me sound and important conclusions. It is a model for the writing of urban Negro history, and I only wish we had more such studies for other cities." — JAMES MCPHERSON, Princeton University. With 38 illustrations. $6.95

THE REVOLUTION OF AMERICAN CONSERVATISM

The Federalist Party in the Era of Jeffersonian Democracy

GEORGE C. MARSHALL: Ordeal and Hope,
1939-1943 by Forrest C. Pogue

Foreword by General Omar N. Bradley

The second volume in the definitive biography of General Marshall, is of special interest to historians. Much of the material about the conduct of World War II and the crucial problems of international diplomacy are revealed for the first time. Here is the final word on Pearl Harbor, on the generals Marshall selected and commanded, and on his sometimes difficult dealings with Roosevelt and Churchill. Ordeal and Hope is not just a record of history—it IS history. 512 pp. $7.50

RECENT EUROPE

A Twentieth-Century History

KENT FORSTER, The Pennsylvania State University

Here is a lucid interpretation of the social, political, and cultural forces that have helped shape the historical evolution of contemporary European history for the past seventy years. The book is designed for students who are already familiar with the events that led to the ultimate straining of international relations and manifested themselves in two world wars and the establishment of the present Cold War situation. Emphasis is placed on Europe as an evolving cultural community rather than as a continent of nationalistic states. Readings at the end of each chapter encourage the student to further investigate the material discussed. 1965. 577 pp., illus. $8.00

A HISTORY OF THE AMERICAS

VERA BROWN HOLMES, Sophia Smith Fellow and formerly Dwight W. Morrow Professor of History, Smith College

Enriched with comparative and illustrative detail, this two-volume textbook offers a coherent picture of the major events and personages that have occupied the historical stage of North and South America. Volume I, From Discovery to Nationhood, spans early Indian origins through discovery and settlement to 1830. Volume II, From Nationhood to World Status, brings the narrative up to the cold war pressures of today, pointing up the factors that led each nation to its present world position. Vol. I, 1950. 609 pp., illus. Vol. II, 1964. 707 pp., illus. each $8.50

THE COURSE OF AMERICAN DEMOCRATIC THOUGHT

RALPH HENRY GABRIEL,
Sterling Professor of History,
Emeritus, Yale University

This famous textbook surveys the democratic tradition from the Peace of Ghent to the age of American world leadership, nuclear weapons, and the Cold War. The book uncovers the basic doctrines of the democratic faith in the thought of leaders in the fields of letters, law, religion, history, politics, and the social and natural sciences. Dr. Gabriel finds the unifying theme of the American experience in the interplay of three dominant ideals: individual freedom, fundamental moral law, and the mission of America to be a democratic example to the world. 2nd Ed., 1956. 508 pp. $6.50

JAPAN'S MODERN CENTURY

HUGH BORTON, Columbia University

An eminent authority—one of the men who helped shape post-war Japanese policy—traces the course of Japan's growth from a semi-feudal, agrarian country to a modern industrial nation. Reinterpreting fundamental questions in Japanese history, he describes the period in which Japan borrowed and adapted from the West, gained and lost an empire in the East, and arrived at her present world position. Full attention is given to significant issues facing Japan. 1955. 524 pp., illus.

CHINA, JAPAN, AND THE POWERS

MERIBETH E. CAMERON,
Mount Holyoke College;

THOMAS H. D. MAHONEY,
Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and

GEORGE E. McREYNOLDS,
Late, University of Connecticut

This widely used textbook provides a balanced introduction to the history of the major Far Eastern peoples over the past two centuries. The book traces Western relations with China, Japan, and Korea from first contacts through the rise of communist China and the revival of post-war Japan. The main theme centers on the impact of the West on Eastern Asia and the revolutionary ferment that has resulted. 2nd Ed., 1960. 714 pp., maps. $8.50

EMPIRE ON THE PACIFIC

A Study in American Continental Expansion

NORMAN A. GRAEBNER,
Iowa State College

A fresh interpretation of the motives behind our continental expansion to California and the Pacific Northwest. Dr. Graebner presents a wealth of convincing evidence to show that our acquisition of 1,300 miles of Pacific coast was the result of conscious political policy, and not the inevitable consequence of westward expansion. Book discusses the "54-40 or Fight" issue, President Polk's role in the Mexican War, the Trist Mission, etc. 1955. 278 pp., maps.

AMERICAN ART A Historical Survey

SAMUEL M. GREEN,
Wesleyan University

This outstanding textbook is designed for the introductory course in the history of American art. Emphasis is placed throughout on the relative quality of a work of art within the context of artistic style and tradition, and the social and historical background that contributed to its creation. The art and architecture of the past have been re-examined and assessed from the perspective of the present, permitting a broad base of appreciation. Due consideration is given to the achievement of American artists and architects in the 20th Century. Richly illustrated. 1966. 706 pp., illus. 7½ x 10. $12.50

NEW

BOOKS FROM ILLINOIS

NEW FRONTIERS OF THE AMERICAN RECONSTRUCTION

edited by Harold M. Hyman. A significant contribution to the new historiography of the Civil War and Reconstruction emerges from these essays which focus on the period through four differing approaches: constitutional history, political history, the Negro, and the effects of the period on Latin America and Canada. Contributors are Harry Bernstein, John Hope Franklin, Harold M. Hyman, Alfred H. Kelly, August Meier, W. L. Morton, Russel B. Nye, and C. Vann Woodward. 176 pp. $4.95.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES AND THE ILLUSIONS OF INNOCENCE

A Study in American Diplomacy

by Betty Glad. As Secretary of State under President Harding, Charles Evans Hughes carried the major responsibility for the definition of American foreign policy after World War I. This penetrating analysis of Hughes's thought and personality provides revealing insights into the American approach to foreign affairs in the critical years of the early twenties. 336 pp. $5.95.

TOM WALSH IN DAKOTA TERRITORY

edited by J. Leonard Bates. This collection of the personal correspondence of Senator Thomas J. Walsh and Elinor C. McClements not only adds to present knowledge of the illustrious Senator's early career, but also enlarges our view of Dakota Territory in the decade preceding statehood and the agrarian discontent and developing reform movements of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. 320 pp. $7.95.

GEORGE W. NORRIS: GENTLE KNIGHT OF AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

by Norman L. Zucker. Many will welcome this critical evaluation of Senator Norris's political philosophy and legislative achievements, which relates his famous political deviancy to the 20th-century American reform tradition. 186 pp. $5.00.

THE GRAIN TRADE IN THE OLD NORTHWEST

by John G. Clark. Told here is the story of the development of the grain trade in the Old Northwest from about 1815 to 1861—a story of rich farm lands, expanding production and markets, and intense rivalries between cities and different transportation systems. 324 pp. $7.50.

FREEDOM AND ORDER

A Commentary on the American Political Scene

No American historian in our time has concerned himself more consistently or more fearlessly with our political morality, and with the sense of ethics in public life. Central to his thinking in all the varied writings offered in the present book is the concept of "the free enterprise in ideas." Partial contents:

Democracy and Judicial Review/Red-Baiting in the Colleges/What Ideas Are Safe/Freedom and the Right to Travel/Federal Centralization and the Press/The Right to Dissent/Television and the Elections/The Republican Party Repudiates Its History/Government and the Arts/Our Double Standard of Political Morality/The Problem of Dissent: Vietnam/What Is Our Commitment in Vietnam/Vietnam: The Moral Issue.

THE ARTIST IN AMERICAN SOCIETY

The Formative Years: 1790-1860

An inquiry into the origins of national culture, this important work by a young Harvard historian explores the painful process of legitimizing the artist's task. It concentrates not upon American art but upon American artists and their position in the growth of the nation. Oscar Handlin comments, "Harris's study is the most important contribution we have had to the history of American culture in recent years."

A composite portrait of a modern nation presented in depth by seven contributing scholars who have lived, studied, and worked with the Mexican people. More than 60 striking photographs accentuate the variety and visual appeal of this nation of contrasts. Statistical tables, maps of topography, climate, vegetation, tribal distribution, trade routes, and political subdivisions, are further aids to a better understanding of this fascinating country. 9 × 12, 320 pp.

JOHN SPRING'S ARIZONA A. M. Gustafson, ed. $7.50

A very lucid autobiographical narrative by a native Swiss who fought in the Civil War and later came to Arizona as a regular in the U.S. Army. He brought to the frontier a background of European and Middle-Eastern travel, a fine education for the times, and a natural gift for writing. Introductory essay. 6 × 9, 326 pp.

WILLIAM SANDERS OURY: History-maker of the Southwest $5.95

by Cornelius C. Smith, Jr. (Coming early 1967)

Biography of a frontier man-of-action, vividly recounted and illustrated by his great-grandson, documented with papers and photographs from state and private archives and family memorabilia. The trail of Bill Oury winds through history as a courier of the Alamo, volunteer soldier in the wars with Mexico, Texas Ranger, Forty-niner, pioneer cattle rancher, Butterfield stage agent, and Territorial politician. He was truly a history-maker of the Southwest. Annotated. 6 × 9, 320 pp.

NARIÑO: Hero of Colombian Independence Thomas Blossom $8.50

A thoroughly documented and readable account of the early 19th-century Colombian revolution which Antonio Nariño—revolutionary, military strategist, and statesman—chiefly fomented; a rebellion which was part of the wider Latin-American movement that immortalized Simon Bolívar. Extensive annotated bibliography. 6 × 9, 260 pp.

WORDS THAT MADE AMERICAN HISTORY

Selected Readings

SECOND EDITION

RICHARD N. CURRENT
University of Wisconsin

JOHN A. GARRATY
Columbia University

The revision of this distinctive, two-volume work offers thirty-five new selections and a better balance throughout with increased attention to the background of the Revolution and the making of the Constitution. The introductions provide a setting for each writing, although analysis and criticism of each item have been left largely to the student himself. Well over 100 readings are included in the two volumes: Volume One Colonial Times to the 1870's and Volume Two Since the Civil War.

Volume One: 606 pages Volume Two: 611 pages paperbound $3.75 each

UNDERSTANDING THE AMERICAN PAST

Second Edition

EDWARD N. SAVETH New School for Social Research

This stimulating collection of interpretive readings in American history provides new introductions, revised notes, and new selections for a fresh approach to the understanding of American history through interpretive analysis. Chapter titles include: I. The American Mold II. Sectional Conflict and Civil War III. Forces in America to the First World War IV. Our Times.

RONDO CAMERON, University of Wisconsin

THOMAS G. BARNES, University of California

AVAILABLE IN ONE COMPLETE VOLUME AND IN A TWO-VOLUME EDITION.

The one-volume edition, The European World: A History, provides a complete history of Europe since the Renaissance and of the culture called "Western Civilization" which has spread beyond Europe to the world. The three outstanding authors offer a fresh and well-integrated treatment of political, social, economic, and intellectual aspects of that culture. Illustrations and newly prepared maps highlight those portions of the text for which visual aids are most appropriate.
cloth $8.95 1024 pages

Volume One, The Emergence of the European World, tells the story of Western civilization from the "Dark Ages," when Europe emerged as a cultural entity, to the early part of the nineteenth century, when political, intellectual, and economic changes of enormous consequences were laying down new patterns for European development. These new patterns, whose roots reached far back into the European past, were destined to have great influence in the development of the rest of the world, too.
cloth $6.50 560 pages

Volume Two, The European World Since 1815: Triumph and Transition, traces the history of the European world from that period of war and revolution which challenged and transformed many traditional values and institutions in European society right down to the present. It tells the story of the ascendancy held by Europe in nearly every sphere of human activity, of how they came to share it with non-Europeans, and of how the intermixture in our own time of European, or Western civilizations with non-Western civilizations and cultures is producing a new, global civilization.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION

Narrative Essays in the History of Our Tradition from Antiquity to Modern Times

Edited by EDWARD W. FOX, Cornell University

Teachers of history at hundreds of colleges and universities, faced with the task of giving today's college student a real understanding of how Western culture has evolved, are turning to The Development of Western Civilization series for stimulating, well-written, and low-priced texts.

These interpretive essays are published in the belief that new approaches are required to meet the changing needs of new college generations. Names and dates are adequately presented, but it is the broad themes behind the march of events which are stressed. Each of the essays is fully self-explanatory and designed primarily for survey courses in Western civilization. Volumes in the series may be used as basic texts or as supplementary reading. Each includes an index and bibliography.

Legibility, sturdiness, and attractive format were primary considerations in designing and producing the series. All volumes are standard book size and printed on high quality paper in type faces selected for ease of reading. Heavy paper covers and durable, sewn bindings insure long life in classroom use.

Teachers are invited to write for examination copies and a detailed series catalogue. The price of each volume is $1.50.

AN AMERICAN PRIMER

Edited by DANIEL J. BOORSTIN

America's aspirations and institutions have been shaped by the eighty-three declarations, poems, letters, and speeches presented in this book. From THE MAYFLOWER COMPACT to Lyndon B. Johnson's ADDRESS ON VOTING RIGHTS, from Mary Easty's PETITION OF AN ACCUSED WITCH to the famous Einstein letter to FDR, from THE CONSTITUTION to THE MARSHALL PLAN, a scholar-expert on the period explains how, where, when, why, and by whom each was written. He then provides an accurate text followed by a lively discussion of the "afterlife" of the document—how its use or abuse by succeeding generations has affected American history.

Authoritative texts and comprehensive author-title, subject, and phrase indexes make this readable book a valuable reference work as well. In addition, An American Primer provides the most current interpretation of the Constitution available.

The contributors are: Francis A. Allen, Paul M. Angle, Daniel Bell, Ray Allen Billington, Nelson M. Blake, Joseph L. Blau, Robert H. Bremner, James MacGregor Burns, L. H. Butterfield, Thomas D. Announcing a New Series . . .

CLASSIC AMERICAN HISTORIANS

General Editor, PAUL M. ANGLE

American thought and historical attitudes were widely influenced by these nineteenth-century classics. This series preserves their authors' style, narrative skill, and point of view in convenient abridgements. Historian-editors have contributed a fascinating biographical and critical Introduction to each book, and illuminating headnotes to each selection. More than just pleasurable reading, these books are a significant contribution to the study of history. The first four volumes in the series are:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN: A HISTORY

JOHN G. NICOLAY and JOHN HAY

Abridged and edited by PAUL M. ANGLE

The authorized ten-volume biography by Lincoln's private secretaries, one of whom became Secretary of State under McKinley and Roosevelt.

416 pages Cloth $8.50, Paper $3.45

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA FROM THE DISCOVERY OF THE CONTINENT

GEORGE BANCROFT

Abridged and edited by RUSSEL B. NYE

The first and most illustrious of the Romantic school of American historians, Bancroft also served as Secretary of the Navy. His ten-volume History took forty years to complete.

416 pages Cloth $8.50, Paper $3.45

THE HISTORY OF THE CONQUEST OF MEXICO

WILLIAM H. PRESCOTT

Abridged and edited by C. HARVEY GARDINER

Henry Steele Commager has called Prescott "the first American scientific historian." His three-volume Conquest of Mexico is the classic account of the struggle between Montezuma and Cortéz.

SLAVERY IN THE AMERICAS

A Comparative Study of Cuba and Virginia

By HERBERT S. KLEIN

In a thorough comparison of the life of the Negro slave in Cuba and Virginia until 1861, Herbert Klein presents sharp and significant differences between slavery in North and Latin America. By analyzing the causes and consequences of these differences, he points out the uniqueness of slavery in the United States—in its origin, development, and long-term effects on the Negro.

288 pages, $6.95

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY, 1943-62

By DAVID BALDWIN

American attitudes toward foreign aid have changed remarkably since our commitment to the economic progress of other countries. Baldwin views foreign policy creation as a political process and focuses on soft lending as the government's most important aid technique. In addition, he discusses trade liberalization, investment guarantees, grants, and hard loans.

THE AMERICAN REVISIONISTS

The Lessons of Intervention in World War I

By WARREN I. COHEN

This original analysis of Revisionism examines the writing of the intellectual movement which in the aftermath of World War I challenged the widely accepted concepts that Germany was responsible for the war and that United States intervention was just and proper. Cohen presents an important study of a tradition in American thought which remains alive today among the supporters of the Great Society who oppose United States involvement in Southeast Asia.

296 pages, $7.95

PATRONS AND PATRIOTISM

The Encouragement of the Fine Arts in the United States, 1790-1860

By LILLIAN B. MILLER

This unique and interesting book relates nineteenth-century cultural attitudes to the pressures of national social and political life. Americans were self-conscious about their presumed cultural inferiority during the early years of independence, and Mrs. Miller traces the effect this had on American aesthetic philosophy and artistic achievement. Particularly significant is the insight Patrons and Patriotism offers into the traditions behind the prevailing cultural attitudes of Americans today.

Paths To The Ancient Past

By TOM B. JONES, University of Minnesota

Illustrated and classroom-tested, this supplementary text encourages students to explore the methods of history. It explores such questions as —

- How does the historian re-create the past?
- What are the values and limitations of archaeology?
- What do ancient documents have to contribute?
- How does one decipher an unknown script or resurrect a dead language?
- What problems are encountered in dealing with literary sources?

Interpretations of American History

PATTERNS AND PERSPECTIVES

Two Volumes, Paper

By Gerald N. Grob and George A. Billias,

both of Clark University

Unlike most supplementary readers, this work has chapter-length introductions to each group of selections. Taken as a whole, these introductions provide an interpretive framework for the entire span of American history. The selections have been chosen to reflect both scholarly and literary excellence, and deal not only with how the interpretations of American history have changed, but more importantly, why such changes have taken place. Organized in two volumes, Volume I covers through 1877; Volume II examines the period from 1865 to the present.

Contents of Volume I

Preface. INTRODUCTION. (William Bradford, Frederick Jackson Turner, John Higham). THE PURITANS: BIGOTS OR BUILDERS? (Thomas J. Wertenbaker, Clifford K. Shipton, Daniel J. Boorstin). BRITISH MERCANTILISM AND THE AMERICAN COLONIES: HELP OR HINDRANCE? (Louis M. Hacker, Lawrence A. Harper, Oliver M. Dickerson). THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION: REVOLUTIONARY OR NONREVOLUTIONARY? (J. Franklin Jameson, Daniel J. Boorstin, Gordon S. Wood). THE CONSTITUTION: CONFLICT OR CONSENSUS? (Charles A. Beard, Henry S. Commager, Robert E. Brown). THE FEDERAL ERA: HAMILTONIAN OR JEFFERSONIAN? (Vernon L. Parrington, Rexford G. Tugwell and Joseph Dorfman, Morton Borden). JACKSONIAN DEMOCRACY: WORKING CLASS OR MIDDLE CLASS? (Bray Hammond, Marvin Meyers, Lee Benson). THE CIVIL WAR: REPRESSIBLE OR IRREPRESSIBLE? (Frank L. Owsley, J. G. Randall, Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr.). THE RECONSTRUCTION ERA: CONSTRUCTIVE OR DESTRUCTIVE? (Albert B. Moore, Francis B. Simkins, Kenneth M. Stampp). INDEX.

Contents of Volume II

Preface. INTRODUCTION. THE RECONSTRUCTION ERA: CONSTRUCTIVE OR DESTRUCTIVE? (Albert B. Moore, Francis B. Simkins, Kenneth M. Stampp). THE AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN: INDUSTRIAL STATESMAN OR ROBBER BARON? (Chester M. Destler, Alfred D. Chandler, Jr., Edward C. Kirkland). THE PROGRESSIVE MOVEMENT: LIBERAL OR CONSERVATIVE? (John D. Hicks, George E. Mowry, J. Joseph Huthmacher). AMERICA'S ENTRY INTO WORLD WAR I: NEEDLESS OR NECESSARY? (Harry Elmer Barnes, Walter Millis, Arthur S. Link). THE 1920's: DECADE OF DECLINE OR DESTINY? (John Kenneth Galbraith, Arthur S. Link, Carl N. Degler). THE NEW DEAL: REVOLUTIONARY OR CONSERVATIVE? (Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., Rexford G. Tugwell, Heinz Eulau). THE COMING OF WORLD WAR II: AVOIDABLE OR INEVITABLE? (Paul W. Schroeder, Dexter Perkins, Herbert Feis). POSTWAR AMERICA: NEW LIBERALISM OR NEW CONSERVATISM? (William V. Shannon, Richard H. Rovere, Richard Hofstadter, Richard E. Neustadt). INDEX.

SOURCES IN American History

A Nine Volume Paperback Series

George H. Knoles, General Editor

THE nine paperbound volumes that comprise the Sources in American History series illuminate the range and development of American civilization and society from the colonial period to the Kennedy administration. Major political, social, intellectual, cultural, and economic themes of American history are organized and presented in a manner designed to facilitate study and discussion. Great care has been taken to represent not only the major themes or issues, but also the most important official documents, theoretical writings, narrative and analytical accounts, and literary materials of American History. The readings are introduced and placed in historical perspective by an extended, interpretive essay by a distinguished editor.

SOURCES IN Western Civilization

A Ten Volume Paperback Series

Herbert H. Rowen, General Editor

THE Sources in Western Civilization series is comprised of ten paperback volumes that spotlight the development of Western civilization from the Ancient Near East to the 20th century. Each volume includes fifteen to thirty relatively long key selections from original sources of the period. The materials are placed in historical perspective by an extended interpretive introduction that reveals the chief developments of the period and links these to the selections. The selections represent the major intellectual, cultural, political, and economic themes of the period and include official documents, theoretical writings, narrative and analytical accounts, and literary materials.

ORIGINS OF THE WORLD WAR

Volume I: BEFORE SARAJEVO

Volume II: AFTER SARAJEVO

SIDNEY BRADSHAW FAY's classic account of the causes of the First World War. Remarkable for its objectiveness and documentation, it has remained in constant demand since its original publication. "... comprehensive, authoritative, impartial, and well proportioned." — American Historical Review

THE DISRUPTION OF AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

By ROY FRANKLIN NICHOLS. This Pulitzer Prize-winning book traces the disruption of the Democratic Party prior to the Civil War and the consequent disruption of the Union. "A masterly job of writing history, objective in its premises, exhaustive in its research, sure in its organization, keen and lively in its characterization, and impressive in its total effect." — Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.

THE MONGOL EMPIRE

Its Rise and Legacy — Second Edition

By MICHAEL PRAWDIN. The most accurate and authoritative volume on the rise and fall of the world's largest empire. It describes the transformation of barbarous nomads into the most cultivated rulers of their time and demonstrates the crumbling of their vast empire and the assumption of its legacy by China and Russia. "It has the rare merit of being both scholarly and exciting. . . . The entire world comes on to his canvas, romantic and fantastical persons pass in our view, and at the conclusion we realize that we have seen the whole of what Marco Polo saw only in part." — Maurice Collis, Time and Tide

A HISTORY OF MILITARISM,

CIVILIAN AND MILITARY — Revised Edition

By ALFRED VAGTS. Regarding militarism as a social phenomenon, this is the revised edition of the only work that traces the growth and development of armies as active political forces from the middle ages to the present. "... a definitive work in a rarely-treated field . . . a brilliant exposition drawing material from a wealth of seldom-read historical sources." — John Barkham

FREDERICK THE GREAT ON THE ART OF WAR

Edited and Translated by JAY LUVAS, Allegheny College. Based on selections from The Art of War and other military works by Frederick the Great, this volume presents some of his best, clearest, and most informative ideas. It gives a detailed, intimate picture of military life in the eighteenth century and does much to shed light on the military thought of our own age.

FRANCE AND THE ATLANTIC REVOLUTION OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY, 1770-1799

By JACQUES GODECHOT, University of Toulouse. Translated by HERBERT H. ROWEN, Rutgers University. Distinguished French historian Jacques Godechot provides an unusually illuminating study by considering the French Revolution against a background of the American Revolution, the English and Irish problems of the 1780's, the Belgian and Polish revolts, and the revolutionary upheavals in Holland and Switzerland. Basic factors, identical in all cases but often slighted by historians of this period, are emphasized.

NAPOLEON'S SATELLITE KINGDOMS

By OWEN CONNELLY, University of North Carolina at Greensboro. The first history of the Napoleonic Empire to focus primarily on the kingdoms in Naples, Italy, Holland, Spain, and Westphalia that were created by Napoleon and ruled by members of his family. Professor Connelly traces the development of all five kingdoms from their establishment to their dissolution. In each instance he has provided thorough discussions of the ruler, his court and private life, the kingdom's constitution, administration, finances, and the often complex relationship with Napoleon and the rest of the Empire.

STALIN'S RUSSIA — An Historical Reconsideration

By FRANCIS B. RANDALL, Sarah Lawrence College. Incorporating the most recent research available, the author provides an in-depth portrait of "the most important political leader in history." Everything, from the policy of forced collectivization to the dictator's fascination with organized chess, is reviewed in relation to the development of his unique ideology. "...fascinating... [a] brilliant study." — Marvin L. Kalb, New York Herald Tribune

THE BIG BOARD — A History of the New York Stock Market

By ROBERT SOBEL, Hofstra University. This first full-scale history of Wall Street and the New York securities markets combines economic analysis, national, entrepreneurial, and social history, and discussions of financial leaders. In addition, The Big Board traces the institutional growth of the securities markets and shows how they responded to different pressures — political, social, locational, as well as economic and financial. "...the subject matter is so well treated that a remarkable insight can be gained into the financial history of our country." — Louis J. Lefkowitz

PILSUDSKI'S COUP D'ETAT
JOSEPH ROTHCHILD

This book vividly recreates the circumstances that opened the way for General Pilsudski's (1867-1935) coup which overthrew the constitutional government of Poland in 1926 and established a military dictatorship which endured until his death. This scholarly and fascinating work is at once a case study of a coup d'etat and a contribution to an understanding of a critical period in the political history of Poland. One of the East Central European Studies of Columbia University.

CENTRAL ASIA

A Century of Russian Rule

EDWARD ALLWORTH, Editor and Contributor

With the fall of the city of Tashkent in June, 1865, the formal Russian domination over the vast area known as "Central Asia" began. This book offers an interdisciplinary view of the hundred years that Western-style civilization has been superimposed upon the traditional Central Asian culture. The land, language, literature, music, architecture, and painting are discussed. Illustrated with drawings and maps.

A History of the United States Since the 1890's

by ARTHUR S. LINK, Princeton University and WILLIAM B. CATTON, Middlebury College, with the assistance of WILLIAM M. LEARY, JR., Princeton University

A revision of this distinguished history of the United States since 1890 will be available in three paperbound volumes, as well as the single-volume hardbound edition. The authors trace the development of the progressive tradition and the nation's rise to its current position in the world power structure. Equally important is a detailed analysis of the cultural, social, and economic events and movements of the past seventy-six years. Each volume will have a separate bibliography, index and prefatory materials.

GREAT ISSUES IN WESTERN CIVILIZATION

Edited by BRIAN TIERNEY, DONALD KAGAN, and L. PEARCE WILLIAMS, all of Cornell University

This is the first sourcebook for European History to use both primary materials and extensive modern historical interpretations. The editors have deliberately kept introductory material and comments to a minimum in order to permit greater flexibility in approach. This has allowed them to include selections that are both more numerous and more complete than other texts. A wide sample of interpretive material by great historians accompanies the source documents. The emphasis is on three major problems, which are traced throughout the course of history: constitutional government and political freedom; science and the growth of rational inquiry; and the conflict between Judeo-Christian traditions and the institutions of the Western state.

THE WESTERN WORLD Renaissance to the Present

J. RUSSELL MAJOR, Emory University

Consistently pursuing the great themes of Western Civilization, this new text covers the full range of Western history from the decline of the medieval world to the problems of the nuclear age. Factual background is skillfully interlaced with analysis and interpretation, and the more significant findings of recent historiography have been incorporated. Throughout the text political and economic history is carefully balanced with intellectual and cultural history. Informative illustrations and maps supplement the text, and a manual for students is available.

The newest addition to the famous series of "Oxford Companions"

LIVES, events, and places significant in the founding and growth of our nation; social, political, and labor movements; the fields of art, science, commerce, literature, education, and law, even sports and entertainment — every aspect of American history and thought, from colonial times to the present, is covered in this convenient one-volume reference.

Thousands of cross references give the reader quick access to complete information on the subject in which he is interested; they also lead to conciseness by avoiding unnecessary duplication of material. Longer articles include bibliographies, and tables provide ready reference to persons holding high office, together with applicable dates.

The user — and browser, for, like all Oxford Companions, this invites casual wandering among the entries — will find THE OXFORD COMPANION TO AMERICAN HISTORY a handy, reliable source of information on any point of historical importance.

The Tweed Ring

By ALEXANDER B. CALLOW, JR., University of California, Santa Barbara. Many corrupt city political machines have existed in the history of urbanized America, but none has surpassed in notoriety and infamy the Tweed Ring of New York City. From 1866 to 1871, the political organization of William Marcy Tweed plundered the city of money in amounts that are astonishing even by today's standards. Here, now, is the first full study of a performance that has been described as "a classic in municipal fraud." "I am much impressed with Mr. Callow's extremely readable story of the Tweed Ring. He has written a luminously clear account of one of the murkiest episodes in New York City's history."—BAYRD STILL, New York University. 9 line drawings. $7.00

Spain 1808-1939

By RAYMOND CARR, St. Antony's College, Oxford. This book is a broad survey of the economic, social, and political origins of modern Spain. It is, primarily, an examination of the failure of Spanish liberalism, a failure which is explained partly in terms of a peculiar tradition of military revolution, partly in terms of the pace of economic development and social change. Ironies of History

Essays on Contemporary Communism

By ISAAC DEUTSCHER. This collection of essays by one of the foremost experts on Soviet affairs examines from various points of view the state of communism today. The topics are partly political—"The Meaning of de-Stalinization," "Twenty Years of Cold War," "Maoism," "The Failure of Khrushchevism," and partly literary—reviews of Dr. Zhivago, Russia and the West, What is History?, Memoirs of Ilya Ehrenburg, and other books relevant to the study of trends in contemporary communism. $5.75

Change and Habit

The Challenge of Our Time

By ARNOLD J. TOYNBEE. Can human beings avoid self-destruction by changing habits formed over thousands of years, habits that have become deadly in the new conditions created by technology? In his new book Dr. Toynbee seeks an answer to this question in our knowledge of the past, going much further back in time than the "last five minutes of history" covered in his Study of History. Some of the subjects discussed in this stimulating book are atomic energy, the population explosion, mechanization, affluence and leisure, and a world state. $5.50

The Prisoners of Algiers

An Account of the Forgotten American-Algerian War 1785-1797

By H. G. BARNBY. In 1785 and 1793 a number of United States merchant ships were seized by the Barbary pirates. Through diaries and accounts written by the seamen of these ships, the author tells the exciting story of a little-known episode in American history. Interwoven with the adventures of the imprisoned seamen is the account of the extended, and often inept, negotiations between the United States government and the Barbary pirates which finally resulted in a treaty of peace and the release of the prisoners. 9 halftones. $7.50

Announcing

A World History

By WILLIAM H. MCNEILL, University of Chicago

One of America's most distinguished scholars chronicles world history in a concise survey, presenting a cohesive and intelligible view of the history of mankind. The organization of the text follows the shifting world balance among cultures, always liable to disturbance from one or more centers where men succeeded in creating an unusually attractive or powerful civilization. Epochs of world history are surveyed by studying first the center or centers of primary disturbance, and then considering how other peoples reacted to or against what they knew or experienced of the innovations which had occurred in the prime centers of cultural creativity. Thus, as the broad relationships of world civilizations are delineated, the unity and continuity of mankind's past is clarified and the differing life styles of each of the major human societies are carefully distinguished.

The book contains chronological tables, a bibliographical essay at the end of each section, forty-eight pages of halftones, twenty pages of maps in color, and numerous line maps within the text.

William H. McNeill is Chairman of the Department of History at the University of Chicago and the author of several books, including the award-winning The Rise of the West.

Technology in Western Civilization

Volume I: The Emergence of Modern Industrial Society

Edited by MELVIN KRANZBERG, Case Institute of Technology, and CARROLL W. PURSELL, JR., University of California, Santa Barbara.

Many prominent scholars contributed to this new textbook, designed for undergraduate courses in the history of technology. Following an introductory chapter indicating the importance of technology in human affairs, Volume I covers technology from its prehistoric innovations in tools and techniques to its state of development in 1900. A final chapter looks to the material to be covered in Volume II, Technology in the Twentieth Century.

Some 200 illustrations, including both halftone plates and line drawings directly related to the text, augment the first volume. Lists of suggested material for further reading are given and a Study Guide, including questions and suggestions for both students and teachers, is provided for use with each volume.

The South Since Appomattox:

A Century of Regional Change

By THOMAS D. CLARK and ALBERT D. KIRWAN, both of the University of Kentucky. Two prominent southern historians trace with great insight the readjustment of the American South and its realignment with the course of national history during the century since the end of the Civil War. They investigate every aspect of life in this region: its culture, governments and leaders, social life, education, churches, industries, and agriculture. The transforming forces that have wrought economic, political and social changes are studied in depth, and the real difficulties and responsibilities of the South are stated in unequivocal terms. The book provides an understanding of the region's evolution to the present day, and clarifies the intimate relationship of the past to the major decisions of recent years.

From the Dreadnought to Scapa Flow

The Royal Navy in the Fisher Era, 1904-1919

VOLUME III: JUTLAND AND AFTER

By ARTHUR J. MARDER, University of California at Irvine. The battle of Jutland in May, 1916, was the test of years of planning by Fisher, Churchill, and others. Professor Marder, who has had access to unpublished and restricted material, examines the Battle Orders in force at the time and the tactical plans of Jellicoe and Beatty; he describes the battle-cruiser action, the main action which followed it, and the German retreat and escape in the night. He then assesses the effects of these events on public and official thinking, and traces developments to December, 1916. One further volume will complete the work. 9 plates, 16 charts. $11.20

Newcastle-Upon-Tyne and the Puritan Revolution

A Study of the Civil War in North England

By ROGER HOWELL, JR., Bowdoin College. Based extensively on local records, most of which have not been used by previous historians, this book presents a detailed picture of Newcastle-upon-Tyne and the surrounding areas during the course of the Puritan Revolution. The background of opposition in the town is studied thoroughly from the beginnings of the seventeenth century. Professor Howell argues that local circumstances did more to affect loyalties than did broad issues of constitutional history or religion, and that the town was, despite its reputation as a royalist stronghold, uncommitted to any side. $10.10

English Historical Documents

Volume V: 1485-1558

Edited by C. H. WILLIAMS, University of London. The English Historical Documents present in a readily accessible form the fundamental sources of English history. This volume covers the seventy-three years from the accession of Henry VII to the death of Mary. The main objective of Professor Williams in selecting from the large amount of original material available has been to illustrate the various types of sources. So far as is possible, examples have been given of most of the main records of the various types of narrative source. Wherever possible historical problems have been illustrated by collated material which contributes to the full understanding of each problem. The various sections cover the writing of history in this period, the approach to the problems associated with land, the theory of the commonweal, the government and administration, religion (including the King's Private Matter and the English Bible). The volume concludes with a general study of sources dealing with daily life in town and country. $23.55

The History of Sumatra

By WILLIAM MARSDEN, introduction by JOHN BASTIN, University of London. Originally published in 1783, this book has ever since remained a standard work on Sumatra. This facsimile reprint is made from the third edition published in 1811, and the full-page plates then issued in a separate volume have been incorporated, along with a large folded map. Dr. Bastin observes in his introduction that the esteem accorded this book is due to its objective and scientific analysis which established the basis for the development of Sumatran studies. A pioneer in this area, Marsden displays his extensive knowledge in a detailed account of the government, laws, customs, and manners of the Sumatrans. *27 plates, 1 map. The Policy and Administration of the Dutch in Java

By CLIVE DAY, Yale University, introduction by JOHN BASTIN, University of London. Originally published in New York City in 1904, this book has also been published in Dutch translation in The Hague, and has served as a text for the Leydon Indological Faculty. A standard work on the subject, it gives the significant results of the experiences of the Dutch in their most important dependency. Professor Day had been impressed by the divergence between descriptions of Dutch colonial policy current in English and in the writings of Dutch historians, and he therefore made a thorough study of the available material on the subject. He examines early commerce of the Dutch in the east, the establishment of the East India Company, its policies, its decline and fall, the state of Java after the fall of the Company, and the events leading to the establishment of British rule, the restoration of Dutch rule, and its policy and reform. (Oxford In Asia Historical Reprints) $6.90

The Administration of Guntur District 1788-1848

A History of Local Influence and Central Authority in South India

By ROBERT ERIC FRYKENBERG, University of Wisconsin. Between 1788 and 1848 British officers of the East India Company lost control of their Indian subordinates in Guntur District, where a restive village leadership and varied local groups increased their power at the expense of the State. In a pioneer analysis of traditional institutions and processes of power in South India, Professor Frykenberg examines this conflict and traces elements of social structure, land control, and political functions. 9 illustrations. $7.20

The Reichswehr and Politics

1918 to 1933

By FRANCIS L. CARSTEN, University of London. The revolution of November, 1918, destroyed the cherished world of the German Officer Corps. Drawing on hitherto unknown documents, Professor Carsten shows how this officer corps became highly politicized despite its claims to the contrary. He fully analyzes relations between the army and government during the succeeding phases of the period, demonstrating the ways in which the army officers contributed to the downfall of the Weimar Republic and facilitated the rise of Hitler. $8.00

Books on the British Empire and Commonwealth

A Guide for Students

By JOHN E. FLINT, King's College, University of London. For some years the Royal Commonwealth Society published a student's bibliography for private circulation. This has been entirely revised by Dr. Flint and is now published on the Society's behalf. The books listed are those most likely to be useful to school librarians or undergraduates who are interested in monographs relating to Commonwealth problems published after 1940. Paper, $1.70

Canterbury under the Angevin Kings

By WILLIAM URRY. The author investigates here the history of the early English borough, Canterbury. He discusses various aspects of the borough during the period of the Angevin Kings, including accounts of the holders of land in Canterbury, borough government, the monks and their servants in relation to the citizens, trades and occupations, and a detailed description of the borough's topography. Map. $16.80

THE AGE OF THE ECONOMIC REVOLUTION

Carl N. Degler, Vassar College

Focuses upon the key themes of the period 1876 to 1901. This highly interpretative work employs traditionally required factual data to explain and support the author's analyses. Social, cultural, and intellectual history are covered in considerable depth. This book is part of the Scott, Foresman American History Series.

SOURCES OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC: A Documentary History of Politics, Society, and Thought, Revised Edition

Marvin Meyers, Brandeis University; John Cawelti, University of Chicago;
Alexander Kern, University of Iowa

Here is an extensive revision of a respected documentary collection. The first volume of this two-volume book will be available this spring.

THE AMERICAN NEGRO—A Documentary Story

Leslie Fishel, Director, Wisconsin State Historical Society;
Benjamin Quarles, Morgan State College

The history of the American Negro is traced from his African background to his place in America in the 1960's. This objective assessment of Negro history fills the gap left by traditional textbooks and courses in American history and documents the Negro's role in building America.

MAJOR ISSUES IN CALIFORNIA HISTORY: A Problems Book

Edited by Leonard Pitt, San Fernando Valley State College

A reader presenting sixteen problems dealing with California's history from its beginnings to the present, with greater emphasis on modern problems.

HOW TO STUDY HISTORY

by

Norman F. Cantor
Brandeis University

and

Richard I. Schneider
York University (Toronto)

A practical introduction to the study of history, this concise paperbound volume dispels misconceptions concerning the discipline and outlines what is expected of the student at the college level. Included are chapters on the materials of history, the uses of primary and secondary sources, how to read a history book, forms of historical communication, shaping an historical essay, research techniques, and a concluding section on historiography and the philosophy of history. HOW TO STUDY HISTORY will provide students of introductory courses with a basic guide to the nature and requirements of the discipline; teachers of freshmen should find it an invaluable addition to their course assignments.

Merrill, John C. (U. of Missouri). HOW "TIME" STEREO-
TYPED THREE U. S. PRESIDENTS. Journalism Q. 1965
42(4): 563-570. Thirty issues of Time magazine (ten consecutive issues in the administrations of Truman, Eisenhower, and Kennedy) were studied for such subjectivity as attribution bias, adjectival and adverbial bias, contextual bias, photographic bias and outright opinion. Time was found to be clearly anti-Truman, strongly pro-Eisenhower, and neutral or moderate toward Kennedy. In the ten issues in the Truman administration, 92 examples of bias were found, only one positive. In respect to Eisenhower, 82 cases of bias were found, only one negative. Forty-five examples of bias were found relating to Kennedy, 31 positive and 14 negative. Annotations on method-

EUROPEAN CIVILIZATION SINCE THE MIDDLE AGES

By EDWARD R. TANNENBAUM, N. Y. U. This outstanding text features the analysis of all aspects of culture—the arts, thought, science, technology, popular culture—and the ways in which they responded to a changing civilization throughout Europe. Tannenbaum utilizes the most recent interpretations of important European developments—and compares the history of major movements in different countries, stressing both their similarities and their differences. The text is richly illustrated and contains forty-three maps; it features both suggested readings for each chapter and a bibliographical essay at the front of the book. 834 pages. $8.95. Student's Guide, also useful as a Teacher's Manual, available.

HANDBOOK OF EUROPEAN HISTORY SINCE 1500

HANDBOOK OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION: Beginnings to 1700

HANDBOOK OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION: 1700 to Present

By SIDNEY A. BURRELL, Boston University. These three volumes give a clear idea of the development of Western Civilization and European history and a sound grasp of factual details. Published as handbooks, each volume is divided into two sections: one explains major trends and developments, the second gives an outline of facts and additional explanatory material. They may be used as either core books for courses using paperbacks or as useful guides for students in addition to a text. Each volume in paper: $1.95.

LANDMARKS OF THE WESTERN HERITAGE,

Volumes I, II and III

Edited by C. WARREN HOLLISTER, Santa Barbara. These three volumes present original sources reflecting the entire span of history from the beginnings to the present. The readings cover all aspects of a particular culture—politics is balanced against social and economic developments and the products of mind and spirit—and are illuminated by Hollister's cogent commentaries. In view of Hollister's belief that art and architecture are as significant historical documents as the more often recognized written testimonies, over 120 illustrations, many in full color, are included in the volumes; they are fully integrated in the text as part of the total picture of each epoch or culture. *Coming in the Spring. NEW HISTORY TEXTS FROM DAVID McKAY

READINGS IN SOCIETY AND THOUGHT IN MODERN AMERICA

Edited by Harvey Wish, Distinguished Elbert J. Benton Professor of History at Western Reserve University. September, 1966. 385 pp. Paper. $3.95

To provide comprehensiveness and direction for this selection of readings in social-intellectual history from 1865 to the present, the editor has been guided partly by the themes and organization of Society and Thought in Modern America, the second volume of his well-known social and intellectual history. Professor Wish has contributed a brief biographic and interpretive sketch of each author represented.

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

By Colonel Mark M. Boatner III. September, 1966. 1287 pp. More than 50 maps and diagrams. $17.50

This one-volume encyclopedia covering the period of American history from 1763 to 1783 will be an essential reference work, not only for students and teachers of history, researchers, librarians, etc., but also for the intelligent general reader who is becoming increasingly aware of the significance for our own times of the first great revolution of the modern world.

Forthcoming

ROME

By Richard Mansfield Haywood, New York University. 1967. 600 pages.

Probably $6.00

This is the second of two volumes on ancient history. Volume I, Ancient Greece and the Near East, traces the history of the ancient Near East and of Greece, ending with Alexander the Great. The present volume encompasses every aspect of Ancient Roman History, including its art and literature as well as its political, economic and social facets.

A HISTORY OF MODERN MALAYA

By K. G. Tregonning, Raffles Professor of History, University of Singapore. 1967. 339 pp.

Probably $6.00

Whereas most earlier works on Malaya have been largely histories of the Europeans, the Chinese, and the Malays in Malaya, here Malaya itself is studied, with due emphasis given to every element in it.

Some Comments on . . .

THE AMERICAN NATION

A History of the United States

John A. Garraty
Columbia University

"It is clear that Mr. Garraty has written a superb text. Two things about it are particularly outstanding . . . the brilliance, clarity and smoothness of the writing . . . and the fact that it reflects the most recent and advanced research in American history."

—ROBERT V. REMINI
University of Illinois

"I am well pleased with this book, and consider it an excellent choice for a college survey course in United States history . . . the material is arranged in a manner which immediately sets it apart from the standard pattern of text books . . . the illustrations are beautiful, and very well selected to illustrate the various eras of our national history . . . proper balance of political, social, and economic factors."

—LAWRENCE O. EALY
Rider College

"A very handsome, well written book."

—DONALD C. SWAIN
*University of California,
Davis Campus*

"It gives a well-rounded easily understood presentation. Using several selections from the great artists of the period brings life into history, and gives an interesting introduction to cultural-social history which is so lacking in many of today's texts."

INTERPRETATIONS OF AMERICAN HISTORY

A new series under the editorship of
John Higham and Bradford Perkins

A series of brief, paperbound volumes on important themes in American experience, these readers will provide variety, a considerable amount of detail, consistently high quality of material, reasonable depth, and rounded coverage. In each volume, the editor will bring together selections from what he considers the best, most persuasive literature bearing upon his subject. These selections will be organized, not to revive sterile controversy, but to indicate how, in the editor's opinion, the topic should be interpreted. The editor will indicate his reasons for considering these interpretations convincing or important. In a full historiographical introduction, he will describe the general importance of the topic and trace the evolution of historical inquiry on that subject. In a headnote to each selection, he will bring generalization in the introduction to bear upon the selection and describe its importance in the author's work. Each editor brings obvious competence in his own experience as its interpreter.

An Outstanding Series . .

MAJOR TRADITIONS IN WORLD CIVILIZATION

Under the Editorship of Hayden V. White

These brief paperbacks are designed to introduce undergraduates to the principal cultural and social traditions that make up world civilization. Each paperback deals, in a highly compressed fashion, with the history and culture of a civilization, with much space devoted to pointing out applications to the modern world. Because of the high religious content of earlier civilizations, at least the first four or five volumes will deal largely with religious practices and beliefs, showing how these colored every facet of ancient and medieval life. The editor feels that students in a secular age must understand these religious motivations in order to contrast older and modern cultures. Each book will contain an introduction that will link the subject covered to those other traditions which precede or follow the one under study. There will also be a critical bibliography, keyed to paperbacks, and a two-page map.

ALREADY PUBLISHED, the first three volumes: The Judaeo-Christian Tradition, J. H. Hexter; The Byzantine Tradition, D. A. Miller; The Ancient Near Eastern Tradition, Milton Covensky.

Announcing a new edition of a text on the growth of Western Civilization, which coordinates cultural and intellectual history with social, economic, and political developments.

A History of Civilization 3rd Edition, 1967

by Crane Brinton, Harvard University; John B. Christopher, University of Rochester; and Robert Lee Wolff, Harvard University, two volumes, Vol. I, 672 pp., March 1967; Vol. II 720 pp., April 1967; each volume will be $9.95

Completely updated and revised, the 3rd Edition of A HISTORY OF CIVILIZATION unfolds a moving picture of the growth of Western Civilization, introducing non-European cultures as they impinged on European development. The authors discuss such subtle interactions as the effect of intellectual revolutions upon social and economic patterns, the influence of social attitudes in literature and music, and the reflection of religious convictions in political developments.

The new edition contains color tabs for each chapter, new illustrations, and maps have been redrawn and are in color. In Volume I the introduction to the Survey of Prehistoric Man has been revised and updated, and the sections on the Greek and Roman cultures has been completely rewritten and revised to provide more substantial integration. Volume II has been revised and updated with an extension of the theme of developing nationalism in the underdeveloped countries.

Volume I presents material from Prehistory to 1715 and Volume II covers the material to the present.

Prentice-Hall,

A wholly fresh edition of THE UNITED STATES with as comprehensive coverage as the first edition, but with new emphasis on U. S. history in the context of western civilization and world-wide movements.

The United States:
The History of a Republic,
2nd Edition, 1967

by Richard Hofstadter, Columbia University; William Miller; and Daniel Aaron, Smith College, March 1967, approx. 812 pp., $8.95

The new edition is largely rewritten to include a new approach to the Colonial Period, a reconsideration of Jacksonian Democracy, a new assessment of the Old South, a fresh appraisal of Reconstruction after the Civil War, and a fresh examination of 20th Century material. The new edition also contains more topical treatments of such important subjects as money, the tariff, the farm problem, and regulation of big business.

Throughout the text, the authors point out international comparisons and international perspectives, in order to deepen the student's understanding of American life and the role of American experience and values in influencing the cooperation of the rest of the world. The authors continue to give attention to the cultural activities which are such an important part of the life of the nation. (Prices shown are for student use.)

Turning Points of the Civil War

By James A. Rawley

This unusual study of seven turning points in the Civil War takes issue with conventional interpretation in almost every chapter. The analysis is set in the context of a general problem of historical interpretation: Shall history be regarded as shaped by fundamental forces (determinism) or as operating through human will and chance (contingency)? $5.75

Studies in Medieval and Renaissance History

HISTORY OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION Second Edition

by the late Carlton H. Hayes, Marshall W. Baldwin, New York University, and Charles W. Cole

Now in its second edition, this well-known two volume text has an extremely flexible format. The books (Volume I, To 1650, and Volume II, Since 1650) may be used either in one or two semester survey courses. All the material has been up-dated and the last five chapters have been substantially rewritten.

The text emphasizes the cultural, political, economic, and social development of Western Civilization from antiquity to present-day science and space exploration. Throughout, the book examines Europe's relations with the rest of the world. The political clash between Communism and the Free World is carefully examined. The split between Russia and China and the rising power of the latter is examined.

Many features make this text especially teachable. The pages are double column. There are over 100 maps. Supplementary readings appear at the end of each of the 12 sections. A thorough index, a revised bibliography. A list of European sovereigns in the appendix fill out the contents of this essential text.

EUROPEAN SOCIETY IN UPHEAVAL

by Peter N. Stearns, University of Chicago

The social impact of the Industrial Revolution is traced across the European continent from West to East in this imaginative study. Professor Stearns uses the class system as his focal point as he considers popular attitudes on politics, religion, family, and culture.

A great deal of attention is devoted to the effect of industrial ferment on the middle class, urbanization, social protest movements, and the impact of labor unions.

WESTWARD EXPANSION

A History of the American Frontier Third Edition
by Professor Ray Allen Billington, Henry E. Huntington Library

"The most detailed history of the American Frontier ever published," said the Indiana Magazine of History of the first edition. Here is a brilliant history of the westward movement—of the extension of civilization section by section, from the first French and Spanish outposts in the New World to the close of the 19th century—and the impact of expansion on social, economic, and political life in America. In the Third Edition, sections on frontier theory have been rewritten, as has the section on the relation of the Great American Desert to our Indian policy. The Mormon movement is also reexamined. In addition to a large number of maps locating every geographical feature mentioned in the text, there is a greatly enlarged bibliography.

MEDIEVAL HISTORY

The Life and Death of a Civilization

By Norman F. Cantor, Columbia University

The medieval experience—its birth, growth, maturation, and distintegration—is astutely and subtly interpreted by one of this generation's most distinguished scholars. The volume is arranged chronologically, from the decline of the Roman Empire to the beginning of the Renaissance. Within a framework of early, high and late middle ages, nine major divisions distinguish separate eras of medieval history. Each is prefaced by an introduction synthesizing important themes; a similar discussion ends each division.

1848 The Making of a Revolution Just published

By GEORGES DUVEAU. In his introduction to this lively history of the revolution in Paris from February to June 1848, George Rudé calls it "an impressionistic reconstruction, built up of vivid episodes and colorful portrayals, shot through with shrewd insights and arresting observations, presenting a more vivid picture of the conflicts and combatants of 1848, and of the actual mechanics of the revolution, than any other work." Professor Charles Tilly of M.I.T. praised it as "the best account of the revolution available in English."

Ancient India

A History of Its Culture and Civilisation

By D. D. KOSAMBI. Much of today's talk about India's glorious past (largely flights of fancy) is discounted, and the intriguing facts of the matter traced back to antiquity in this strikingly original mating of history, archeology, and anthropology. The first real social history of a mystifying country — it owes its fresh character to its author, a man endowed with Renaissance versatility who attempts to write, as he says, "with a minimum of scholarly display." "Ancient India exhibits a breadth of coverage and capacity for synthesis matched only by its wit. We have needed it for a long time." —CARLETON S.
