Virginia: Bourbonism to Byrd, 1870-1925

By ALLEN W. MOGER, Professor of History, Washington and Lee University. Approx. 400 pp., illus., index. 6¾ x 9¾. L.C. 68-8538. $7.50

This general history of Virginia from its restoration to the Union in 1870 to the election of Harry Flood Byrd as governor in 1925 illuminates the tools and conceptions of government which originated during the impoverished and bitter years after the Civil War and which remained useful and vital well into the twentieth century.

Westmoreland Davis:

Virginia Planter—Politician, 1859-1942

By JACK TEMPLE KIRBY, Assistant Professor of History, Miami University. viii, 215 pp., frontis., illus., index. 6 x 9 L.C. 68-22730. $5.75

Mr. Kirby's biography of this distinguished twentieth-century Virginia governor, reformer, agricultural leader, lobbyist, publisher, and opponent of the state Democratic machine is a fresh interpretation of the progressive era in Virginia. Westmoreland Davis's life illuminates the role of agrarians and the influence of scientific methodology, efficiency techniques, and Democratic factionalism in Virginia's government as well as the rise and early career of Harry Byrd.

Old Virginia Restored: An Interpretation of the Progressive Impulse, 1870-1930

By RAYMOND H. PULLEY, Assistant Professor of History, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Approx. 224 pp., illus. 6 x 9. L.C. 68-8539. Price to be announced.

As paradoxical as it may seem, the reforms undertaken in the Old Dominion during the progressive era returned the state to a political and social system as stable and resistant to innovation as any that had existed before the Civil War. In other words, the reform impulse sprang from the conserving or reactionary tendencies inherent in the culture of the Commonwealth rather than from a desire to reconcile the state to the march of modern America.

The Letters and Papers of

Edmund Pendleton, 1734-1803

Collected and Edited by DAVID JOHN MAYS, winner of the Pulitzer Prize in 1953, former president, Virginia Historical Society, senior member, Mays, Valentine, Davenport, & Moore. 2 vols., xxvii, xiii, 753 pp., frontis., tables, index. 6¾ x 9¾. L.C. 67-17630. Virginia Historical Society Documents $20.00 the set.

"The work will be useful to students of many different aspects of colonial and Revolutionary Virginia and America, but perhaps it will be primarily valuable because it provides an unusually rich and convenient source for the study of the most remarkable feature of the society in which Pendleton lived: its extraordinary political culture, which by almost any criteria has been rarely equalled and never surpassed in American history." — Jack P. GENERAL INFORMATION

HEADQUARTERS: Nearly all sessions listed in the Program, the AHA offices, the Professional Register, and all exhibits will be in the Statler Hilton Hotel, Seventh Avenue between 32nd and 33rd Streets, although some sessions will be in the Hotel New Yorker, two blocks away (34th Street at Eighth Avenue). One thousand five hundred rooms have been reserved at the Statler Hilton and an equal number at the Hotel New Yorker. Room rates and more detailed information are given on the enclosed Hotel Information-Reservation Form. For room reservations, please send the form to the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau; do not apply directly to the hotel.

AHA REGISTRATION: For the first time this year, AHA members will be able to preregister for the Annual Meeting by completing the form which appears on the enclosed preregistration envelope, enclosing a check for the registration fee, and mailing the envelope back to the AHA Business Office. The Business Office will process the registration and send registrants their badges within three weeks. Requests for preregistration received after December 10 will be returned, however, and members who miss that deadline may register at the Registration Desk in the Main Lobby, Statler Hilton. The desk will be open Friday, December 27, from 2 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, December 28, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sunday, December 29, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; and Monday, December 30, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

LOCATOR LIST: An added innovation which will benefit members who preregister will be the publication of a pocket-size Locator List of Annual Meeting registrants and their addresses at the Annual Meeting, available to all who attend for a 25¢ charge which will include the pocket-size Schedule of Sessions. The Locator List will include the names and addresses of all members who preregister and/or make their hotel reservations before the December 10 deadline. Members who register after that deadline may be located through a Locator Desk in the Rotunda, Ballroom Floor, Statler Hilton. The Locator List may be purchased at the same desk.

MEAL MEETINGS: All luncheons are scheduled for 12:15 p.m. and priced at $6.00; the dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. and priced at $10.00. Prices include gratuities. Tickets desired should be bought at the Meal Tickets desk in the Rotunda, Ballroom Floor, Statler Hilton. Because the AHA must give advance notice to the hotel of the number to be served, it is essential to purchase tickets as soon after arrival as possible. The schedule of meal meetings is as follows:

Saturday, December 28

- Luncheon, Phi Alpha Theta
- Luncheon, Conference on Slavic and East European History
- Luncheon, Conference on Asian History
- Luncheon, Conference on Latin American History
- Luncheon, Conference on Peace Research in History
- Dinner, Mediaeval Academy of America

Sunday, December 29

- Luncheon, American Catholic Historical Association
- Luncheon, American Society of Church History
- Luncheon, Modern European History Section
- Luncheon, The Labor Historians

Monday, December 30

Luncheon, History of Education Society
Luncheon, Society of American Archivists

GROUP MEETINGS AND REUNIONS: Some historical societies and groups have arranged special meetings or receptions which cannot be listed in the Program. These groups should bring their announcements to the Information Desk in the Rotunda, Ballroom Floor, Statler Hilton, as soon as possible for posting on the bulletin boards. All groups desiring to hold breakfasts, smokers, etc., should make arrangements directly with the Banquet Manager of the Statler Hilton Hotel and send a copy of the correspondence to the AHA Local Arrangements Chairman, Robert W. Shoemaker, Department of History, North Central College, Naperville, Illinois 60540.

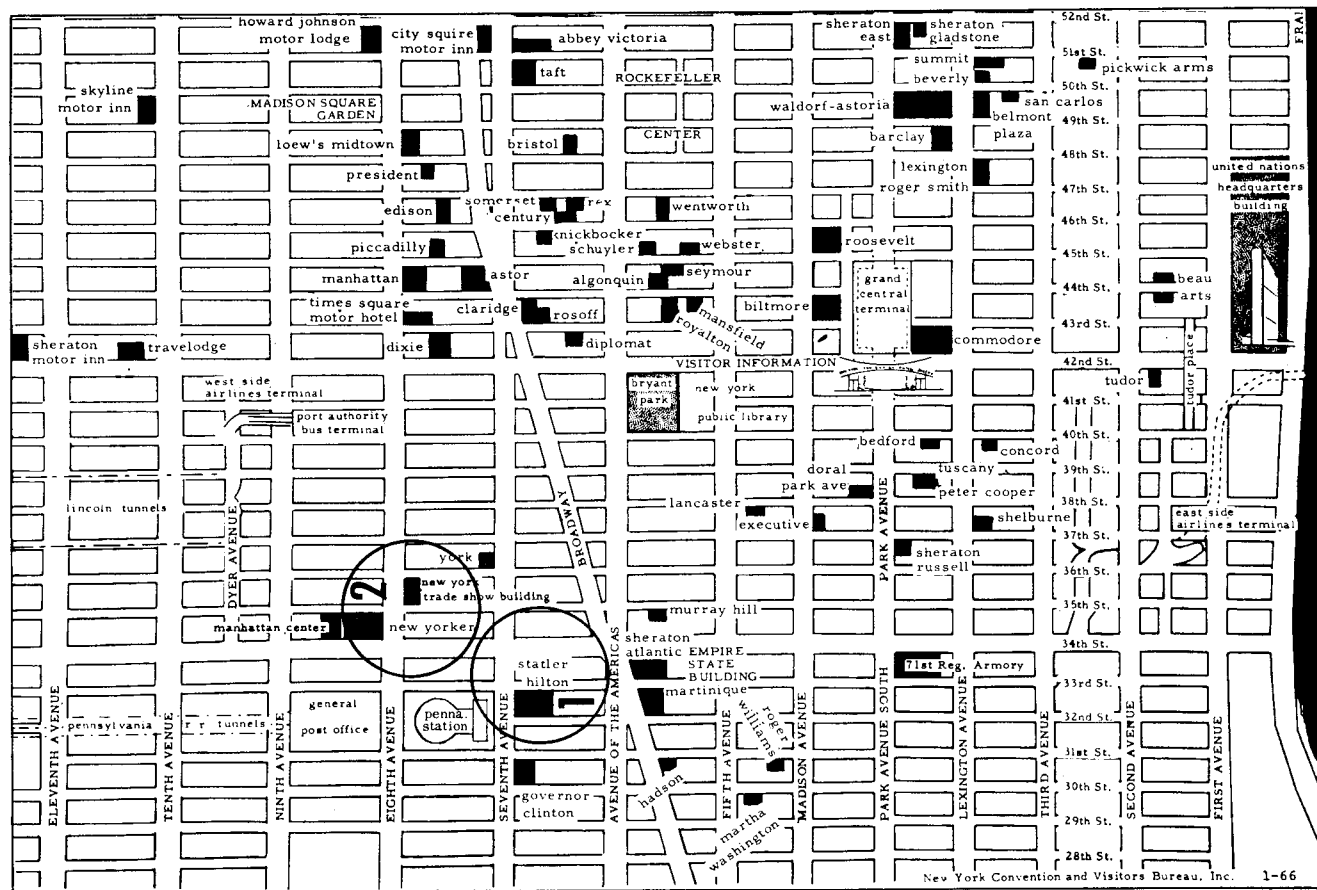

PROFESSIONAL REGISTER: Throughout the Annual Meeting, the Professional Register will be in operation in the Sky Top Room, Eighteenth Floor, Statler Hilton. Candidates may join the Register or bring their papers up to date at the meeting, if they have not already done so by mail. Prospective employers may review the Register's vita files, and they may also have their staff needs posted. Departmental representatives will further facilitate matters if they notify the Professional Register before the Annual Meeting, by December 10, of their hiring needs.

Candidates and employers alike should list their local addresses with the Professional Register as soon as they arrive in New York, because the Register will make every effort to expedite the interviewing process.

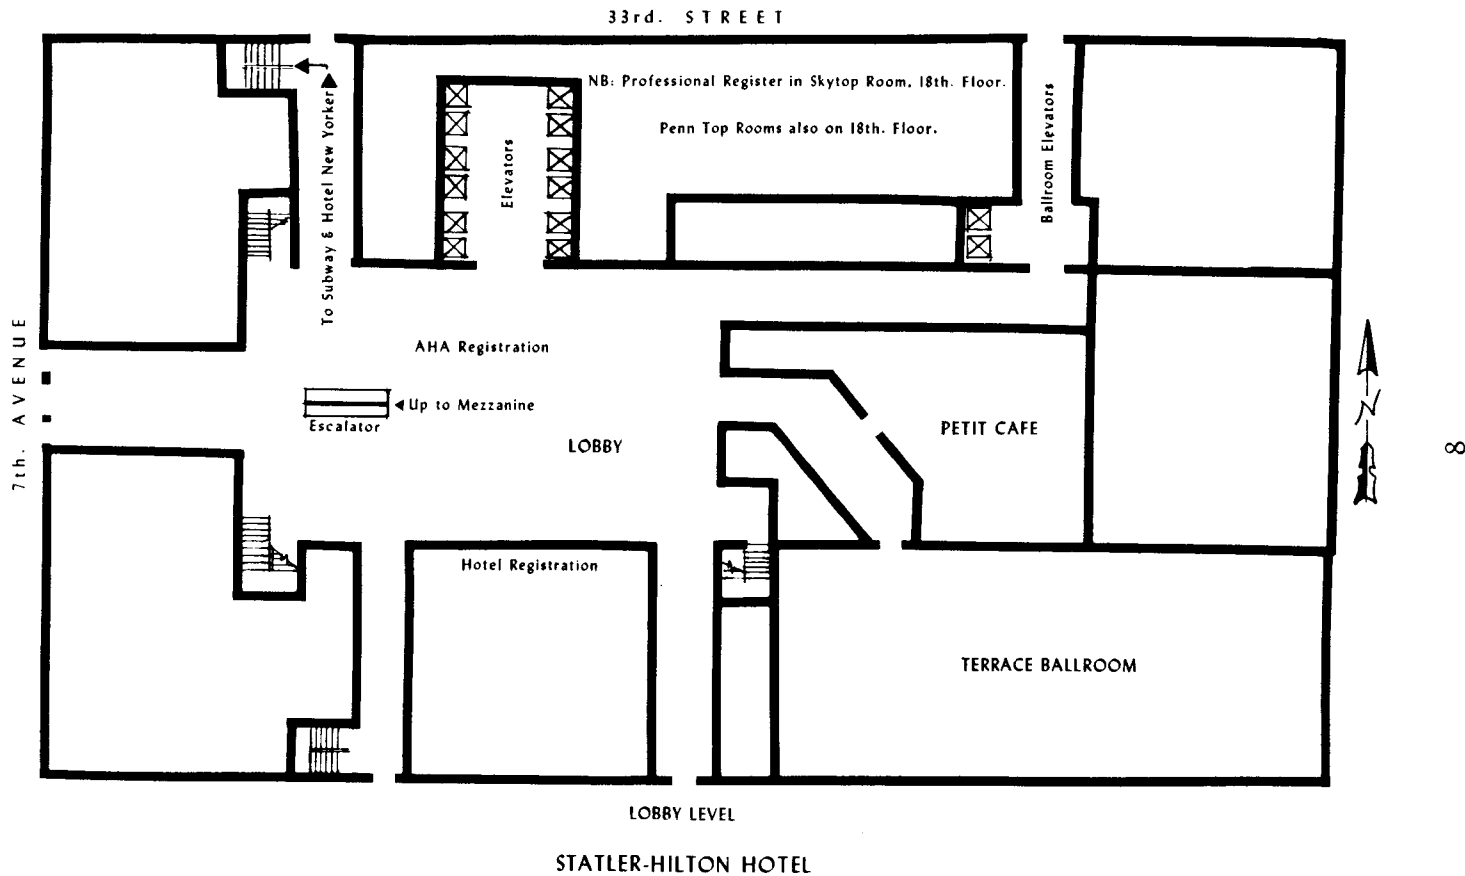

Candidates must be AHA members before joining the Register; they pay an initial fee of $3, with an annual renewal of $1. The services of the Register are available to employers without charge. For additional information see the descriptive sheet inserted in the Program, or page 11 of the Program, or the December, 1968 AHA Newsletter.

INFORMATION DESK AND BULLETIN BOARDS: Information regarding the Annual Meeting, the American Historical Association, and the city of New York will be available in the Rotunda, Ballroom Floor, Statler Hilton.

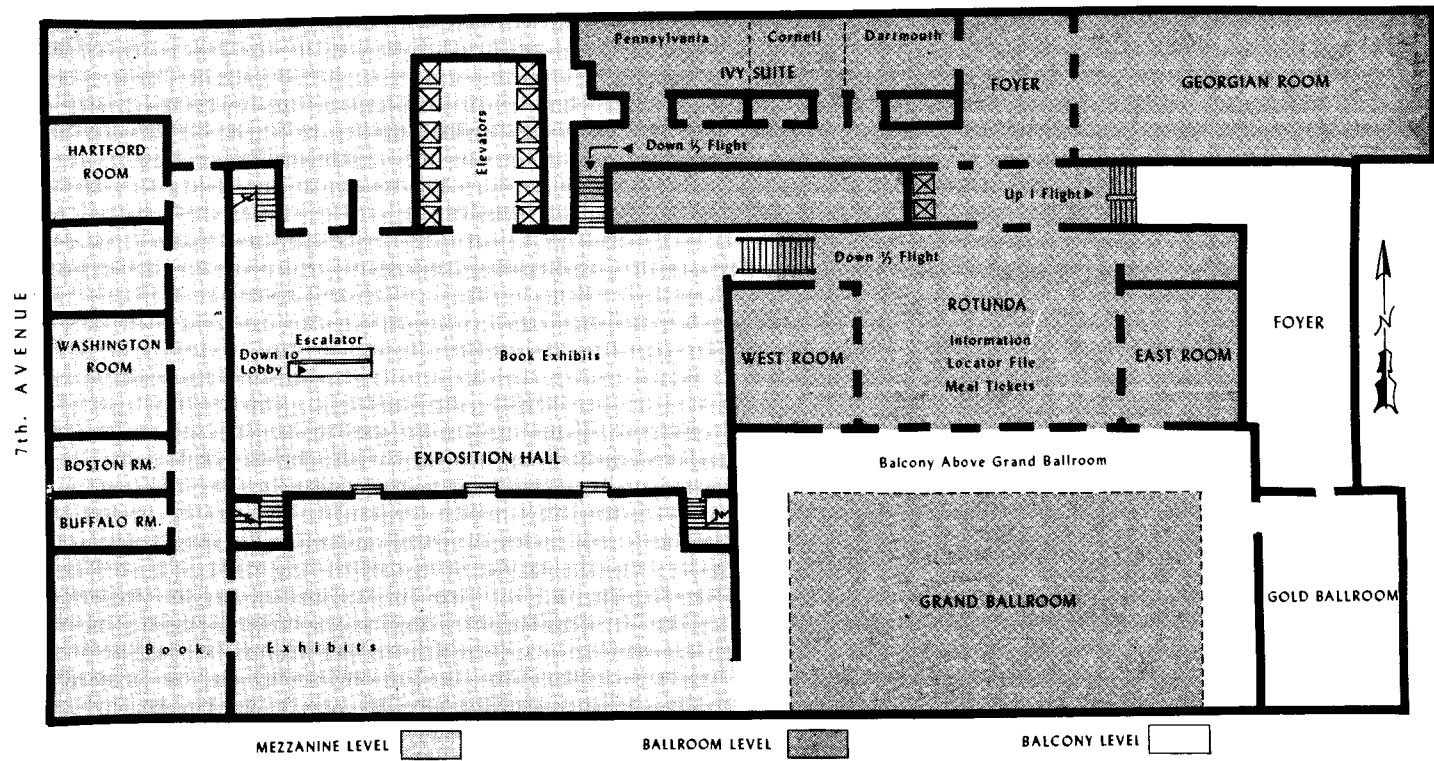

See following pages for Statler Hilton floor plans.

1. Statler Hilton Hotel, Seventh Avenue between 32nd and 33rd Streets.

ORGANIZATION OF
AMERICAN HISTORIANS

invites you to participate in its awards programs:

THE PELZER MEMORIAL—For the best essay on a subject in American history submitted by a graduate student. The prize consists of publication in The Journal of American History, a bronze medallion and a cash award of $200.

THE FREDERICK JACKSON TURNER—For the best manuscript in American history. The competition is restricted to persons who have not previously published in book form. The prize is a cash award of $1500 and publication as the prize winning manuscript. A special feature of this program is assurance to entrants that their manuscripts will receive preliminary consideration in six weeks. Manuscripts are then either returned or advanced to the final elimination round of the competition. All manuscripts in the final round are assured of publication.

THE BINKLEY-STEPHENSON—A cash prize of $500 for the best scholarly article published in The Journal of American History in each calendar year.

You are invited to join the Organization of American Historians. Membership dues are $8.00 ($4.00 for students) and membership brings you The Journal of American History.

the first and second united states empires:

governors and territorial government, 1784-1912

by JACK ERICSON EBLEN. To devise a form of government for the vast land possessions of the United States, Thomas Jefferson drafted the Ordinance of 1784 which, with later modifications, evolved into the Northwest Ordinance of 1787. It formed the basis of government not only for the Northwest, but also for all the other territories subsequently created in the public domain. This book describes the nature of government in these territories from 1784 to 1912, offering a comprehensive interpretation of the meaning of territorial government.

american railroad politics, 1914-1920:

rates, wages, and efficiency

by K. AUSTIN KERR. This book examines the concern of a variety of interest groups with federal policy toward the railroads, concentrating on the crucial years prior to the enactment of the Transportation Act of 1920. Rather than evaluating policies, Dr. Kerr describes the political relationships among the men concerned with railroad-government relations and analyzes the political considerations underlying policymaking.

united states oil policy, 1890-1964:

business and government in twentieth century america

by GERALD D. NASH. By focusing on one important industry, Dr. Nash suggests a new perspective for understanding the role of government in American economic life since 1890, and documents the increasing importance of national defense considerations in the formulation of federal domestic policy. He concludes that between 1890 and 1964 Americans fashioned a consensus on the role of government in their economic life, assigning it the function not of passive regulator but of positive arbiter of the nation's industries.

the shrine of party:

*congressional voting
behavior, 1841-1852*

by JOEL H. SILBEY. Historians have traditionally accounted the 1840's a time when party loyalty steadily degenerated under the pressure of sectional issues, especially slavery. However, this close analysis of the voting in Congress for the period leads the author to the conclusion that a hard core of partisan strength was maintained throughout the turmoil and in reality two strong, meaningful parties existed through these difficult years.

NEW FROM RAND McNALLY
COMPLETE IN TWO VOLUMES

U.S.A.: THE HISTORY OF A NATION

By RICHARD B. MORRIS, Columbia University and WILLIAM GREENLEAF, University of New Hampshire

The most up-to-date two-volume narrative of American history available. The scope of these companion volumes provides the student of American history the broadest possible frame of reference in understanding the nation's multiple forces, major personalities, and critical problems.

Volume I encompasses America's early growth—from the ancient migrations and Pre-Columbian Indian civilizations through the turmoil of the Civil War and Reconstruction.

Volume II covers the end of Reconstruction up to and including the 1968 Presidential elections; the Viet Nam War and peace negotiations as of late Autumn 1968; and the rapidly changing domestic issues to that time.

The histories reflect an American heritage of rapid change and momentum in all phases of life. Volume II underscores the growing contemporary awareness of changing values in its coverage of the 1920's and the New Deal, as well as in discussions of recent domestic issues. The Negro in American history receives detailed coverage throughout both texts.

Excellent historical parallels of modern problems emerge in both volumes: Spanish and Indian compared to Spartan and Helot; underdeveloped nations of today compared to the early settlements. Economic motives for the discovery of the New World and the economic and financial issues of the Colonial period receive particular attention.

The texts are logically organized and faithful to their sources. Bibliographical references keep the student abreast of the latest scholarship on ancient questions. Students are introduced to the all-important task of historical verification in an exciting, contemporary manner.

Each volume contains approximately sixty-five maps, many printed in four colors. The development of life in America is recorded in numerous reproductions of period art. Care has been taken to include illustrations that have never before appeared in print.

c. 650 pages each volume. c. $9.50 each volume.

RAND MCNALLY INTRODUCES A MAJOR NEW TEXT
IN WESTERN CIVILIZATION

A HISTORY OF THE WESTERN WORLD

By BRYCE LYON, Brown University

HERBERT H. ROWAN, Rutgers University

THEODORE S. HAMEROW, University of Wisconsin

A History of the Western World is a brilliantly narrated text of Western civilization for introductory courses. The text begins with Paleolithic man and continues down to the present, carefully balancing historical fact with political, economic, social, intellectual, and religious themes.

The major emphasis of the text is the period from the Fall of the Roman Empire to the present day. Each author has written in the area of his specific authority. Together, the authors present an integrated, comprehensive narrative of the development of the Western world.

The first part highlights Hebrew, Greek, and Roman civilizations in the first three chapters. Five concentrated chapters deal with the early Middle Ages through the achievements of the High Middle Ages.

The Section on the Middle Ages is the most comprehensive to be found in any history of western civilization or world history. It contains superb maps, city plans, architectural drawings and period illustrations, which help to explain such medieval phenomena as seigniorialism, feudalism, and the rise of towns.

The second part offers a complete treatment of political development in Western society, from the Renaissance to the Age of Revolution.

The third part covers the monumental advances from the Scientific Revolution to the contemporary period. It features a non-chronological discussion of the Scientific Revolution—from its beginnings to its full flowering in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

The growth of Western civilization is colorfully illustrated with materials closely related to the text. Illustrations are specifically designed to aid students in their understanding of the narrative. More than fifty black-and-white and color maps are included. Excellent genealogical tables organize ancient and modern materials. Bibliographies at the end of each chapter contain the best and most recent scholarship in Western civilization.

The Growth of the American Republic

SIXTH EDITION

By SAMUEL ELIOT MORISON, HENRY STEELE COMMAGER
and WILLIAM E. LEUCHTENBURG

One of the classics in American history, The Growth of the American Republic has enjoyed almost four decades as a leader in its field. Maintaining the scholarly and literary excellence of its predecessors, the new Sixth Edition has been expertly revised to bring the study fully up to date and to reflect new insights derived from significant modern research.

In clear, vigorous style, the work presents the rich and complex narrative of America's experience in an account that extends from the pre-Columbian age to the present. Both volumes have been substantially revised, and a new chapter on the Kennedy-Johnson era has been included. There are fresh interpretations of such subjects as the age of Jackson, the Reconstruction period, and the Progressive era. The Great Depression and the New Deal receive a detailed, critical treatment.

The presentation indicates clearly the impact of new thinking on American historians. Discussions of the history of political parties and of national elections show the long-range effect of realignments such as those which occurred in the Civil War era. New sections consider the birth of parties, the 'second party' system, the influence of the crisis of 1894 on parties, the Roosevelt 'coalition,' and recent developments culminating in the 1968 campaign. Class, ethnic, and sectional aspects of voting behavior receive particular attention.

The chapters on slavery and Reconstruction offer new interpretations of the role of the Negro in American life. Informative additional materials are contained in the accounts of the race riots of 1919, the Harlem Renaissance, the impact of the New Deal, the crucial experience of World War II, and the civil rights revolution of the past two decades.

A meaningful selection of illustrations and maps enhances both volumes. Carefully prepared bibliographies feature pertinent and up-to-date references and provide a valuable guide to the literature.

The Founding of a Nation:

A HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, 1763-1776

By MERRILL JENSEN, University of Wisconsin. "A remarkable achievement. It is political history at its best, a weaving of the political and constitutional theories, the social, economic, religious, and intellectual tensions into a sophisticated and intricate account that clearly demonstrates two things: the complexity of the period, and Jensen's mastery as a historian."—James Morton Smith, Cornell University

A History of Russia SECOND EDITION

By NICHOLAS V. RIASANOVSKY, University of California, Berkeley. This absorbing, scholarly account of Russia's past, now in its Second Edition, incorporates changes throughout the text, reflecting the findings of recent research. It examines in depth political, economic, social, and cultural developments in the course of Russian history. Following a general introduction, the arrangement is in five sections: Kievan Russia, Appanage Russia; Muscovite Russia; Imperial Russia; and Soviet Russia. The section on modern Russia has been substantially revised, enlarged, and brought fully up to date.

Problems in European History:

A DOCUMENTARY COLLECTION

General Editors of the Series: JOHN F. NAYLOR and RICHARD BIENVENU. The volumes in this paperback series present original source materials and critical documents on specific problems in European history. Purposely narrow in scope, the editions are intended to develop the student's knowledge of significant issues and events, and at the same time, to involve him in the analysis and evaluation of historical evidence as a working historian. Each volume is approximately 300 pages.

Volumes published in 1968: The British Aristocracy and the Peerage Bill of 1719, edited by John F. Naylor, University of Colorado ($2.50); The Ninth of Thermidor: The Fall of Robespierre, edited by Richard Biennvenu, University of Missouri ($2.50); Plombières: Secret Diplomacy and the Rebirth of Italy, edited by Mack Walker, Cornell University ($2.50); The Thirteenth of May: The Advent of de Gaulle's Republic, edited by Charles S. Maier, and Dan S. White, both of Harvard University ($2.75).

Spring 1969 editions: The Brittany Affair and the Crisis of the Ancien Regime, edited by John Rothney, University of Missouri; The German Inflation of 1923, edited by Fritz K. American Urban History:

AN INTERPRETIVE READER

Edited by ALEXANDER B. CALLOW, JR., University of California, Santa Barbara. The readings in this collection reflect the ideas and trends that illuminate critical themes and problems in American urban history. Both the impact of the city upon American history and that of history upon the city are emphasized, as well as the city as an important phenomenon in itself. An interdisciplinary approach is stressed in chronologically and topically arranged selections.

Readings in Technology and American Life

Edited by CARROLL W. PURSELL, JR., University of California, Santa Barbara. This book presents a documentary record of the progress of engineering and technology in American history. The volume contains over eighty entries, including selections taken from the reports of colonial settlers, early nineteenth-century newspapers, reminiscences of engineers, official reports, and other sources ranging in time from Johnson's Wonder-Working Providence (1654) to a congressional investigation of Technology Assessment in 1967. Three centuries of participants and observers comment not only on technology itself, but more importantly, on the effect of technical developments upon the nation and its goals.

Readings in African History

AFRICA FROM EARLY TIMES TO 1880

NINETEENTH CENTURY AFRICA

TWENTIETH CENTURY AFRICA

Edited by P. J. M. McEWAN, Harvard Medical School. These three volumes contain selections from recognized authorities on the most significant events and movements in the history of the continent.

Volume I, $7.75; Volume II, $7.75; Volume III, $7.00

The Liberal Party and The Jameson Raid

By JEFFREY BUTLER, Wesleyan University. The book examines the factors behind the Jameson Raid and why the South Africa Committee of 1897 failed to properly investigate it. Butler uses the private papers of front Benchers, defines the problems of the Liberal leaders, and describes the conflict between personal and political motives that led up to the inquiry which appeared so bogus to contemporaries. $6.75

The Justices of the Peace in England, 1558-1640

A LATER EIRENARCHA

By JOHN H. GLEASON, Pomona College, Claremont, California. William Lambarde's Eirenarcha, a book about the Justices of the Peace, appeared in 1582. Using a diary which Lambarde kept as a key to one county bench and taking it as a gauge of others, Professor Gleason examines the commissions of the peace for Kent, Norfolk, Northamptonshire, Somerset, Worcestershire, and North Riding between 1558 and 1640. He analyzes them with reference to the social and economic status of members, the circumstances of their appointment and continuance in office and the parts played by religion and politics. $8.75

Daniel Heinsius and Stuart England

By PAUL SELLIN, University of California, Los Angeles. This study remedies the neglect suffered by Daniel Heinsius, state historiographer of Holland, West Friesland, and Sweden. Since Heinsius has been most acutely overlooked in England, despite numerous political, intellectual, and spiritual bonds joining England to the Netherlands, the study begins there. The author sketches Heinsius's personal relations with England under the early Stuarts and traces the impact of his editorial and critical activities on some English literary theorists. (Sir Thomas Browne Institute.) $9.00

Representative Government in Western Europe in the Sixteenth Century

By GORDON GRIFFITHS, University of Washington. This book is a comparative study of the representative institutions in sixteenth century western Europe. The documents permit examination of such structural features as the relation of the representative to his constituents, the powers with which he was endowed, and the mutual relations of the estates during their assemblies. Where the original text is not in English or French it is accompanied by a translation into one or the other. $14.00

Arnim and Bismarck

By GEORGE O. KENT, Library of Congress. This study analyzes the status of the office of the chancellor and the foreign minister of the German Reich. It discusses how the outcome of the struggle between Arnim and Bismarck settled the personal fate of the protagonists and determined the course of German foreign and domestic policies for some time. The book is based on a wide range of hitherto little known documents in the archives of the German Foreign Ministry in Bonn. $5.95

THE AMERICAN NATION

A History of the United States

John A. Garraty

History News comments on the original one-volume edition—"Combines balanced treatment with literary excellence. This [book] is aimed, quite obviously, at the college textbook market, but it deserves a wider audience. Mr. Garraty does a superb job of synthesis of the American experience. . . . His book also benefits from its clear and useful maps and tables, and from a judicious use of illustrations which give added dimension to the story. It deserves a place in the libraries of professional historians and the general public. It demonstrates that history, even in textbooks, need not be dull." Instructor's Manual (by Philip H. Jordan, Jr., with Patrick J. Abbazia) available. 920 pp.; $11.00

Student's Guide, by Philip H. Jordan, Jr., presents an outline of each chapter, pivotal passages from the text, quotations from the sources, factual and interpretative questions for study, aids to map analysis, review exercises, and exercises to accompany the picture essays. 380 pp.; $3.50

WESTERN CIVILIZATION

Vol. I: Paleolithic Man

to the Emergence of European Powers

Vol. II: The Struggle for Empire

to Europe in the Modern World

William Langer, General Editor, and

Paul MacKendrick, Deno J. Geanakoplos, J. H. Hexter, and Richard Pipes

This history of Western civilization from 600,000 B.C. to the present is a unique realization of the craft of historical exposition for the beginning student. The authors provide a comparative narrative of political, intellectual, economic, and social developments in the Western World as a whole, considering each event and phenomenon as part of a broader pattern. These two volumes offer a fuller treatment than any similar work of the archeological evidence of earliest man, the Near Eastern history of Western civilization, the rise of modern science, and the history of Eastern Europe. Illustrated with charts and color portfolios. Teacher's Manual (covering both volumes) available. Vol. I: 982 pp., $10.95; Vol. II: 872 pp., $10.95

The New Nationalism

By LOUIS L. SNYDER. A renowned interpreter of modern history traces the recent course of nationalism — the most potent political force in the world today. To measure the impact of the new nationalism since 1945, Professor Snyder focuses on the meaning, development, and characteristics of nationalism in the four corners of the world. "An indispensable guide."— HANS KOHN. 412 pages. $11.50

The British Voter

An Atlas and Survey since 1885

By MICHAEL KINNEAR. Starting with the first election in which a majority of the adult males could vote, Professor Kinnear analyzes the tides of party fortunes and the voting behavior of various segments of the population. Fifty-five maps show all the parliamentary constituencies, and each map has insets of the larger boroughs. Special emphasis is given the 1920's when British politics assumed its present form. 160 pages, 55 maps. $12.50

The New Jacobins

The French Communist Party and the Popular Front

By DANIEL R. BROWER. Putting recent events in France in better perspective, Mr. Brower takes a close look at the only other period in French history when the non-Communist left united with the Communist party. He studies the French Communist party during the 1930's, focusing on the party's role in the Popular Front and in the Communist International. 296 pages, 13 photographs. $7.95

Crisis and Decline

The French Socialist Party in the Popular Front Era

By NATHANAEL GREENE. The diverse ideological strands within the Socialist party as well as its dominant position in the Popular Front are the focal points of this comprehensive study. It features vignettes of such major Socialist figures as Blum, Faure, Pivert, and Zyromski and a detailed analysis of the party's structure. 368 pages, 8 illustrations. $11.00

Roman Imperialism in the Late Republic

By E. BADIEN. The author presents a clearly written account of Roman extension of power from the second century B.C. to the time of Caesar. By using ancient sources, he avoids the prejudices of modern social and economic conditions and theories. His book — the first on the subject in English since 1914 — provides convincing and important divergences from standard treatments. 132 pages. $4.95

MY LIFE WITH HISTORY: An Autobiography

By John D. Hicks

No name is more prominently identified with the teaching of American history than that of John D. Hicks, whose distinguished career as a teacher has been spent mainly at three universities—Nebraska, Wisconsin, and California at Berkeley. Far more than an apologia pro vita sua, this autobiography illuminates the changing customs of American society.

LAW, POWER AND THE PURSUIT OF PEACE

By Eugene V. Rostow

The task of peace-keeping in today's world is the concern of this book by the Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs, a former dean of the Yale Law School. The author's thesis is that "certain changes in our foreign policy are both desirable and possible" if the achievement of peace is to remain within reach.

The Westward Movement: A Short History

Kent L. Steckmesser, California State College, Los Angeles. Available Winter.

A narrative of the American Westward Movement from 1607 to 1890 that places its emphasis upon biography, social history, and folklore rather than upon pure political-economic history. Nevertheless, all the principal political and economic developments of the frontier have been included and a well-balanced coverage has been maintained throughout the book.

European Economic History: The Economic Development of Western Civilization

Shepard B. Clough, Columbia University. 624 pages, $9.50.

Written in a refreshingly clear manner, this book presents the economic history of Europe from ancient times to the present. The central theme—economic growth—is the base around which the story of economic history is developed. The work provides a general synthesis of economic growth in western culture by relating all of the pertinent factors—political, social, or intellectual, as well as economic.

CYPRUS: Constitutionalism and Crisis Government

By STANLEY KYRIAKIDES, Foreword by ROY C. MACRIDIS

A political history of the beleaguered island of Cyprus with emphasis on the contemporary period from the Second World War to the Zurich agreement. According to Roy Macridis, this book "is the most accurate and scholarly statement of the Cyprus constitutional question (yet published) and as such it will remain the best documented analysis for many years to come." New 240 pp. $6.50

THE BOURBON RESTORATION

By GUILLAUME DE BERTIER DE SAUVIGNY, Translated
by LYNN M. CASE

"The best account of any period of French history since the French Revolution."—Frederick B. Artz

"The appearance of La Restauration in an English translation is one of the more welcome publishing ventures of recent years in the field of French history. The book is still the best single study of the period 1814-30. . . . And besides his discussions of political history, he offers much information on the neglected social and economic life of the period. A model of high level synthesis, strongly recommended."—Choice 1967 499 pp. $10.00

PRELUDE TO TRAGEDY: The Negotiation and Breakdown of the Tripartite Convention of London, October 31, 1861

By CARL H. BOCK

"Many writers on Maximilian and the French Intervention pass rapidly over the preliminary debt-collecting expedition which Britain, France, and Spain sent to Mexico in 1861. . . . Bock has set out to give an exhaustive diplomatic account of the convention and of the tripartite expedition, relying primarily on British and French archival sources, which have never before been so thoroughly researched or combined in one account."—Hispanic American Historical Review 1966 799 pp. $10.00

PHINEAS BOND: A Study in Anglo-American Relations, 1786-1812

BY JOANNE LOEWE NEEL

As Consul-General in Philadelphia, Phineas Bond was an agent for British merchants and the British government. Skillfully written, this new book illuminates the period between the two wars for American independence and helps us to see how the new United States looked to an unrepentant Loyalist—while adding to our knowledge of British commercial and diplomatic policy during Bond's years in the consular service. Oct. 15 220 pp. $6.00

New by SAM BASS WARNER, JR.

THE PRIVATE CITY: Philadelphia in Three Periods of its Growth

An outstanding book of American urban history. In this new work, Warner chooses three classic periods in American history—the Federal period (1770-1780), the Jacksonian period (1830-1860), and the Progressive period (1920-1930)—to prove his thesis that an enduring tradition of American privatism is the major cause of contemporary urban crisis. Illus. September 9 232 pages $5.95

THE PRESIDENCY OF JOHN ADAMS: The Collapse of Federalism, 1795-1800

By STEPHEN G. KURTZ

"As the best work on its subject, it reveals John Adams as a president of larger stature than has generally been accorded him. This is an interesting, readable, and significant book."—American Historical Review illus. 448 pp. $8.50

Germany's Military Strategy and Spain in World War II

Charles B. Burdick

This is the first history in English, and the most complete in any language, of German military planning for campaigns in Spain in World War II. Based almost entirely on primary sources—official German, British, and American records, diaries, and letters, and personal interviews with German generals involved—the book traces the successive German campaign plans from 1940 to 1943, from strategy to capture Gibraltar to consideration of a last-ditch defense in the Pyrenees, and explores the reasons why none of the plans were used.

Historians will find here material never before recorded, photographs published for the first time, and maps specially drawn for this important study.

The Arab-Israeli Dilemma

Fred J. Khouri

"A controversial but judiciously balanced and absorbing probe into the complexities of the explosively emotional Arab-Israeli problem. The American-born author . . . examines the history of Zionist claims to Palestine in the 19th century and pursues this much-vexed question down the hallways of history, pointing out Britain's conflicting promises to Jews and Arabs, and today's vacillations on the part of Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia.

"Dr. Khouri sheds much-needed light on many crucial areas."—Publishers' Weekly

Yugoslavia: The New Class in Crisis

Nenad D. Popovic

"This is an outstanding and interesting book written by a Yugoslav and former high official in the Tito regime until his defection to the West in 1961.

"Mr. Popovic presents a penetrating account of the development and the latest history of this new privileged class which 'developed' itself into an insurmountable crisis.

"Recommended for specialists and for informed readers."—Library Journal

THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

Founded in 1884 Chartered by Congress in 1889

Office: 400 A Street, S.E., Washington, D. C. 20003

MEMBERSHIP: Persons interested in historical studies, whether professionally or otherwise, are invited to membership. Present membership ca. 16,000. Members elect the officers by ballot.

MEETINGS: The Association holds an Annual Meeting with a three-day program December 28-30 of each year, at which time many professional historical groups meet jointly with it. The Pacific Coast Branch holds separate meetings in August on the Pacific Coast and publishes the Pacific Historical Review.

PUBLICATIONS AND SERVICES: The American Historical Review, published five times a year in October, December, February, April, and June, is the major professional historical journal in America. It is sent to all members and available by subscription to others. In addition, the Association publishes its Annual Report, prize books, pamphlets designed to aid teachers of history, bibliographical as well as other volumes, and the AHA Newsletter. To promote history and assist historians, the Association offers many other services.

PRIZES: The Herbert B. Adams Prize of $300 awarded in the even-numbered years for a work in the field of European history. The George Louis Beer Prize of $300 awarded annually for a work on any phase of European international history since 1895. The Albert J. Beveridge Award of $5,000 awarded annually for the best book on the history of the United States, Canada, or Latin America. The Albert B. Corey Prize, sponsored jointly by the AHA and the Canadian Historical Association, of $1,000 awarded biennially for the best book on the history of Canadian-American relations or the history of both countries. The John H. Dunning Prize of $300 awarded in the even-numbered years for a book on any subject relating to American history. The Clarence H. Haring Prize of $500 to be awarded every five years to that Latin American who has published the most outstanding book in Latin American history during the preceding five years (next award, 1971). The Robert Livingston Schuyler Prize of $100 awarded every five years for the best work in modern British and Commonwealth history (next award, 1971). The Watumull Prize of $500 awarded in the even-numbered years for a work on the history of India originally published in the United States.

DUES: Annual membership dues are $15.00, student $7.50 (faculty signature required), and life $300. All members receive the American Historical Review, the AHA Newsletter, and the program of the Annual Meeting.

CORRESPONDENCE: Inquiries should be addressed to the Executive Secretary at 400 A Street, S. E., Washington, D. C. 20003.

REPRINTS OF SCARCE AND DESIRABLE BOOKS

LETTERS OF MEMBERS OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS
1774-1789; 8 vols. edited by Edmund C. Burnett,
$100.00; Single volumes $12.50

In a letter written in his old age to another surviving member of the Continental Congress, John Adams exclaims, "Who shall write the History of the American Revolution? Who can write it? Who will ever be able to write it? The most essential documents, the debates and deliberations in Congress from 1774 to 1783, were all in secret, and are now lost forever."

True it is, that a "Hansard" or Congressional Record, stenographic and complete, of the Continental Congress can never be supplied, but the effort to fill the gap as well as it can now be filled, to which Dr. Burnett has devoted several years of patient labor, has succeeded far beyond the expectations originally entertained.

(From the Introductory Note to volume 1 by J. Franklin Jameson)

THE PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS (JOHN HANCOCK) TO GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON

Philadelphia
July 6, 1776.

Sir

The Congress, for some Time past, have had their Attention occupied by one of the most interesting and important Subjects that could possibly come before them; or any other Assembly of Men.

Altho it is not possible to foresee the Consequences of Human Actions, yet it is nevertheless a Duty we owe ourselves and Posterity, in all our public Counsels, to decide in the best Manner we are able, and to leave the Event to that Being, who controls both Causes and Events to bring about his own determinations.

Impressed with this Sentiment, and at the same Time fully convinced that our Affairs may take a more favorable Turn the Congress have judged it necessary to dissolve the Connection between Great Britain and the American Colonies, and to declare them free and independent States; as you will perceive by the enclosed Declaration, which I am directed to transmit to you, and to request you will have it proclaimed at the Head of the Army in the way you shall think most proper.

DAVENPORT, F. G.: EUROPEAN TREATIES BEARING ON THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES AND ITS DEPENDENCIES TO 1815. WITH INTRODUCTION BY SAMUEL F. BEMIS. 4 VOLS. $7.50 each. (Now Ready)

By great historical coincidence the discovery of America occurred contemporaneously with the formation of the new national states that fringed the Atlantic coast of Europe: Spain, Portugal, France, England, The Netherlands and the Scandinavian kingdoms. The two great continents and their adjacent islands of the Western Hemisphere became almost immediately the subject of diplomatic controversy as to sovereignty over them.

No more basic documentary contribution to these grand contents of sovereignty, both in war and in time of peace, can be presented than the precise texts of the European treaties bearing on the history of the United States and its dependencies, which in the case of the present publication extends to the year 1815, the end of the Napoleonic wars on the one hand, and the "War of 1812" between Great Britain and the United States on the other hand.

Frances G. Davenport was one of the great women historical scholars in the United States of her generation, and indisputably the greatest in her field.

GUROWSKI, COUNT ADAM: DIARY MARCH 4, 1861-1865; 3 vols; with introduction, descriptive biographical list and analytical index, by Prof. LeRoy H. Fischer. List Price $20.00 the set; odd volumes $7.00 each.

Now in preparation; ready in a few months. Complete sets of the Diary have been extremely scarce, bringing $150.00 and more when available.

Count Adam Gurowski was a Polish patriot and protagonist of Pan-slavism. In America he was a journalist on Horace Greeley's staff, a clerk in the State Department and an unofficial arbiter of public questions. Also a venomous critic of President Lincoln. The most radical of Radical Republicans, it is said he was the one man President Lincoln recognized as a possible assassin. Uncompromisingly severe, his Diary reveals, perhaps better than any other record, the mind of a Radical Republican.

THE GRASSLAND OF NORTH AMERICA

Prolegomena To Its History

By James C. Malin

Fifth Printing With New Chapter

List Price $7.50 (Now Ready)

The area of the earth's surface chosen for this study is that part of the United States designated usually as the Trans-Mississippi West. In its natural state, the feature that gave character to most of the landscape, in contrast with the area east of the Mississippi River, was the vegetational cover of grass rather than forest. Incidentally, the term natural state, as used here, means the condition in which it was found by the European at the opening of the sixteenth century.

During the twenty years since the planning and writing of the study in question, the body of ecological and other scientific knowledge, and the prevailing points of view have been substantially modified in some areas. These facts of change have been recognized from time to time in periodical publications and then as collected into the Addenda (Fourth Printing, 1961) have supplemented the original version of 1947. The current printing, 1967, with a new chapter, offers this opportunity to specify further innovation.

MY DIARY AT THE CONFERENCE OF PARIS

By David Hunter Miller, 21 volumes

With Introduction by Prof. Samuel F. Bemis

Because of the numerous maps in color throughout the volumes, we have found it necessary to establish a list price of $10.00 per volume, or $200.00 for the complete set.

Mr. Miller was an attorney, specializing in international law. Upon the entrance of the United States into World War I he became legal assistant to the Secretary of State, and served the Department on questions anticipated at the final peace negotiations.

In 1918 he became legal adviser to President Wilson's personal emissary and organizer of the Inquiry and member of the American Peace Commission, Colonel Edward M. House. Mr. Miller drew up with his British opposite, Cecil Hurst, one of the later drafts of the League of Nations Covenant.

It has been reported that Colonel House suggested to Mr. Miller that he run for Governor of New York, as a springboard for the Presidency of the United States.

Following his retirement from the Department of State in 1919, Mr. Miller returned to private law practice. Upon his retirement from private practice, he devoted himself exclusively to the scholarly study of international law and the history of American diplomacy, meantime serving as historical adviser to the Department of State from 1931 to 1938.

We shall try to have all the volumes ready by June 30, 1969. It is not necessary to place an order at this time. If interested, and you will let us know, we shall advise you when the books are ready. This places you under no obligation to purchase.

FRANK FREIDEL, Harvard University

Knopf; Volume I: To 1877; 798 pages; 145 illustrations; 61 maps; 6 charts; $9.25

Knopf; Volume II: Since 1865; 896 pages; 187 illustrations; 49 maps; 27 charts; $9.25

Revised and updated, the second edition has received wide student endorsement as well as critical acclaim. In addition to substantial narrative reworking, new boxed excerpts and illustrations, the authors have placed more emphasis on the new South as well as the Grant administration.

The second edition was an unqualified success. Random House is now proud to announce the third edition which will be available April, 1969.

A HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

Third Edition In Two Volumes

T. HARRY WILLIAMS, Louisiana State University

RICHARD N. CURRENT, University of North Carolina, Greensboro and

FRANK FREIDEL, Harvard University

Volume I: 798 pages; $9.95

Volume II: 896 pages; 9.95 An INSTRUCTOR'S MANUAL and WORK-BOOK will be available for both volumes.

While the caliber of the scholarship, vivid prose, and useful supplementary material are all retained, the third edition will feature more interpretive material and attention to literary history, in addition to more coverage on the colonial period and a new illustration program in color. Brief historiographical essays introduce the student to important conflicts in historical interpretation. Each volume also includes two eight-page pictorial essays on American art and architecture.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Foreign affairs has been defined in broad terms by the editor of these three volumes, covering the years 1933-37. Materials selected relate not only to the President's handling of foreign relations, but also to the domestic background, particularly Roosevelt's efforts to gain support for his policies. Included are press conference transcripts, messages to Congress, speeches, press releases, memoranda to and from executive officers, and correspondence with legislators, ambassadors, heads of state, organizations, and individual citizens. Of the 1,400 chronologically arranged documents, selected from the papers in the Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park, all but a few are published here for the first time.

Edgar B. Nixon has selected the documents for the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, and has added valuable editorial comment. A Belknap Press Book. 3 vols., $32.50; each, $12.50

The United States of America: A History, Second Edition

Volume I: To 1876

Volume II: Since 1865

By Dexter Perkins, Emeritus, University of Rochester and Cornell University, and Glyndon G. Van Deusen, Emeritus, University of Rochester

Revised and updated to reflect recent scholarship and current events, this new edition of a highly successful two-volume work offers an excellent survey of the political, economic, cultural, and intellectual history of the United States from 1492 to the present. An important new feature is the chapter on the Kennedy and Johnson administrations included in Volume II. All bibliographies have been revised and updated.

Readings in American History, Second Edition

Volume I: To 1877

Volume II: Since 1865

Edited by Glyndon G. Van Deusen, Emeritus, University of Rochester, and Herbert J. Bass, Temple University

In the enlarged Second Edition of this widely adopted two-volume collection for introductory courses, new selections from the works of writers such as Galbraith, Schlesinger, and Morison illuminate the formative years of the Republic, the internal tensions that brought the Civil War, the War with Spain, the economic collapse of 1929, and the Cuban Missile Crisis. Each volume now offers different materials on the Reconstruction Era.

Volume II, 1968, 463 pages, paper, $4.25

Colonial America, Second Edition

By Oscar T. Barck, Jr., Syracuse University, and Hugh T. Lefler, University of North Carolina

Incorporating the latest scholarship, the new edition of this widely respected text traces the history of the United States from discovery and colonization to the adoption of the Constitution. Unusually complete coverage of social and cultural history, with emphasis on the daily life of people, makes this text an especially effective teaching instrument for advanced undergraduate students. New maps, illustrations, footnotes, and a new bibliography have been added.

The American Past: Conflicting Interpretations of the Great Issues Second Edition

Edited by Sidney Fine and Gerald S. Brown, both, University of Michigan

Highly praised for its approach—the pairing of diverging interpretations of major issues in the nation's history—this book continues to provide exceptional examples of historical writing. The articles are drawn from historical journals, periodicals of a more general nature, monographs, and other works, many of which are inaccessible to students. Editorial introductions place each set of readings in historical context, pointing out the origins and nature of the disagreement. Thoroughly updated, the Second Edition contains many new articles to keep the student abreast of recent scholarship.

The Course of Russian History, Third Edition

By Melvin C. Wren, University of Toledo

The Third Edition of this leading text has been extensively revised, rewritten, and updated. Recent scholarship on many aspects of Russian history—the great personalities, the peasant, industry, religion, autocracy, the intelligentsia, the military, and foreign affairs has been included. The focal point of this highly readable work remains the fundamental facts of Russia's political, economic, and social history. The reading lists have been updated, and most of the excellent illustrations are new.

Recent America: Conflicting Interpretations of the Great Issues Second Edition

Edited by Sidney Fine, University of Michigan

This Second Edition of a popular supplementary text presents differing or complementary views on fourteen important issues from the recent past. The editor has added new articles throughout the book to keep the student abreast of contemporary scholarship. Distinguished historians such as John Blum, Arthur Link, Thomas Bailey, Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., Eric Goldman, Herbert Feis, Carl Degler, and Richard Hofstadter are represented. The text, which begins with a consideration of Theodore Roosevelt and concludes with an analysis of recent electoral tendencies, is arranged so that it can be used in either one- or two-semester courses.

The Civilization of the West: A Brief Interpretation

By James M. Powell, Syracuse University

A brief, interpretive survey of Western civilization from its origins to the present day, this text reflects current trends in the teaching of history. Cultural and political materials are used to form the basis for a study of social, intellectual, and economic forces that have shaped civilization. The book's brevity makes the use of primary and secondary source materials practical. Its approach is interpretive rather than narrative in character. Special emphasis is placed on the development of the National State as the characteristic political form in the West. Non-Western material is included where relevant. A unique chapter on historiography opens the book. More than 100 unusual and significant illustrations and 20 full-page maps enrich the book.

1967, 559 pages, $7.95

Europe in the Twentieth Century: A History

By Andreas Dorpalen, Ohio State University

This well-written interpretative history treats Europe as a cultural entity. The European national relationships and divergences in political, social, economic, and cultural development are thus shown in the light of the supranational events that shaped them. United States-European relations are examined throughout the text. Stimulating and enlightening anecdotes keep the material lively and interesting.

1968, 580 pages, $9.50

The History of Popular Culture

Edited by Norman F. Cantor, Brandeis University, and Michael S. Werthman

It has been said that man at play is man at his most human. This fascinating collection of readings describes and analyzes all the myriad pursuits of popular culture—from the athletic spectacles and drama festivals of ancient Greece, to the sophisticated rituals of courtly love, to the spontaneity of today's "turned-on" generation—and relates them to the overall pattern of social interaction and historical change. The way of life of all levels of society through two millennia of history is examined in this work. Particularly valuable for students in Western civilization, European history, sociology, and comparative literature courses.

A History of Civilization

By Gerrit P. Judd, Hofstra University

Organized into a single design that is directed to the needs of the undergraduate student, this text presents a survey of the development of civilization from prehistory to the present. It stresses the development of science and technology, religion and the arts, politics and economics, to present a broad view not only of events, but of the ideas behind the evolution of civilized societies. Among the numerous historical periods accorded special emphasis are the ancient world as revealed in research and archaeology, especially since 1945; the "time of troubles" in trans-Alpine Europe during the frequently neglected period 1300-1500; the importance of eastern Europe in "modern" history; and the impact of intellectual and artistic movements on man's past. Divided into 81 chapters, brief and of uniform length, ideal for first-year history students. 1966, 920 pages, $9.95

Readings in the History of Civilization

Edited by Gerrit P. Judd, Hofstra University

Time, place, man, deeds, words—these are the central components of history in action. Recorded history is made up of the same things, as shown by this volume of diverse readings. Providing the college student in a civilization course with a thorough survey of world history, these readings are both primary and secondary sources. They range from civilization's beginnings to the space age, from Europe to America, from Asia to Africa. The writings of men whose actions or words have influenced history appear among the selections: Plato, Thucydides, Columbus, Luther, Voltaire, Jefferson, Disraeli, Marx and Churchill. Historians represented here include Adams, Huizinga, Burckhardt, Neale, Butterfield and Nicolson. Each reading has a brief introduction by the editor.

1966, 467 pages, paper, $4.50

History of Western Civilization, Second Edition

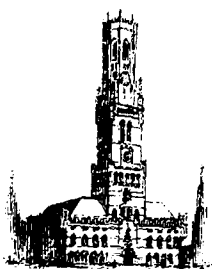

By the late Carlton J. H. Hayes, Marshall W. Baldwin, New York University, and Charles W. Cole

Now in its second edition, this well-known text has an extremely flexible format. The book may be used either in a one- or two-semester survey course. All material has been updated since its first edition. The text emphasizes the cultural, political, economic, and social development of Western civilization from antiquity to present-day science and space exploration.

PRAEGER HISTORY OF CIVILIZATION SERIES

WHEN IT IS COMPLETE, this dazzling new series — remarkable for its comprehensiveness; its lively, interesting, and authoritative texts; its abundant illustrations; and its handsome production — will provide an unmatched world history of man. To be published early in 1969 are Nicholas Mansergh's The Commonwealth Experience: A Critical History of the British Commonwealth and Maurice Ashley's The Golden Century: Europe, 1598-1715. Among the nearly twenty volumes scheduled for publication somewhat later are The World Since 1900 by Geoffrey Barraclough, Japanese Civilization by Donald Keene, History of Southeast Asia by Paul Mus, the two-volume Age of Colonialism by J. H. Parry, and Russia: 1500 to the Death of Lenin by Richard Pipes.

The initial volume:

THE WORLD OF THE PHOENICIANS

Sabatino Moscati • Translated by Alastair Hamilton

Phoenician civilization vanished in the flames of Carthage, yet it has fascinated poets and historians for centuries. Now Sabatino Moscati, Professor of Semitic Philology at the University of Rome, has written a brilliant and comprehensive account of the Phoenicians' history, religion, art, and language. In it, he explains how they opened trade routes across the Mediterranean, founded colonies on the western littoral, and everywhere left the priceless gift of the phonetic alphabet. 303 pp., 113 photogs., 50 line drawings, 7 maps, notes, bibliog., index. $10.00

1969 History Texts

- A HISTORY OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION, Revised Edition

by Roland N. Stromberg, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee

Emphasis in this revision is on new material, more incisive interpretation, and a new appearance. Includes additional and improved illustrative materials, several new chapters. Accurate and comprehensive, vital writing style. About 850 pages.

- INTERPRETING WESTERN CIVILIZATION

edited by Brison D. Gooch, University of Oklahoma

This new survey offers varying perspectives through the diverse interpretations of noted historians. Each chapter is by a different scholar, and in general, presents contradictory judgments of events. About 1,000 pages in two paperbound volumes.

- MEDIEVAL EUROPE AND ITS CIVILIZATION

by Robert Lee Johnson, Jr., The City University of New York

The mold of medieval texts conceived by G. B. Adams in 1894 and cast by Thompson and Johnson in 1937 is carefully re-interpreted for today's students. Political history is reduced and the comparison of institutions emphasized. About 400 pages.

- ANCIENT HISTORY

by Tom B. Jones, University of Minnesota

Lively and provocative, yet scholarly and completely accurate, this text is a survey of ancient times from the prehistoric period to the end of the Roman Empire. Major areas of concentration are the Near East, Rome, Greece. About 225 pages/paperbound.

- JACKSONIAN AMERICA: Society, Personality, and Politics

by Edward Pessen, Staten Island Community College of the City University of New York

This is a searching discussion of important topics and issues in U. S. history from 1830 to 1860. Based on close examination of the most recent studies and source materials, it provides a synthesis of the clashing interpretations. About 350 pages/paperbound.

- A MANUAL OF HISTORICAL METHOD

by Robert Jones Shafer, with the collaboration of the Department of History staff, Syracuse University

More sophisticated, yet clearer and more practical than other historical method manuals, this volume emphasizes the "why" of interpretation, with the types of evidence in historical research and the difficulties of using each. About 200 pages.

- QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS OF HISTORICAL DATA

by Don Karl Rowney and James Q. Graham, Jr., both of Bowling Green State University

This is a reader composed of major seminal studies that are either illustrative of the wide range of analytic methods which may be applied to historical materials or which examine in theory ways such applications might be made. About 450 pages/paperbound.

- AMERICAN MORALISTS: A Study of Negro Thought, 1890-1960

by S. P. Fullinwider, Arizona State University

A study of the Negro mind as it is first released from slavery and then thrust into the uncertainties of the twentieth century, American Moralists shows the development of a new Negro mythology to satisfy psychological conditions. About 300 pages/paperbound.

MODERN ENGLAND: From the Eighteenth Century to the Present

R. K. WEBB, Columbia University. 640 pp. Maps. Paperback. $6.95.

A brand new and genuinely important and useful synthesis of modern British history that has taken account of the very latest research. There is a judicious balancing of the overall narrative against illustrative detail in this eminently readable and beautifully organized text.

EUROPE IN THE GLOBAL AGE: 1939 to the Present

F. ROY WILLIS, University of California, Davis. 432 pp. Illustrations and maps. Paperback. $5.95.

A concise, clear, and absorbing treatment of all Europe with background material on Asia and Africa. This new and objective history concentrates largely on political and economic history and gives equal space to eastern and western Europe.

THE WESTERN WORLD. Vol. I: TO 1700; VOL. II: FROM 1700

Source readings selected and edited by WALLACE E. ADAMS, RICHARD B. BARLOW, GERALD R. KLEINFELD, RONALD D. SMITH and WILLIAM W. WOOTTEN, all of Arizona State University. Paperback. Vol. I, 576 pp., $5.50; Vol. II, 688 pp., $5.95.

Designed to supplement the "History of Western Civilization" course, these new books are distinctive for breadth and depth of coverage and length and freshness of selections. The sources include items from central and eastern Europe. Expertly edited with thoughtful and stimulating headnotes.

PURITANS AND PRAGMATISTS: Introductory Essays in American Thought

PAUL K. CONKIN, University of Wisconsin. 528 pp. Paperback. $5.95.

An unusual and impressive summary and appraisal of the ideas of eight great American thinkers: Edwards, Franklin, John Adams, Emerson, William James, Peirce, Dewey, and Santayana. Each essay offers a lucid and revealing insight into all facets of the philosopher's thought against the background of his life.

SEARCHING FOR MODERN TIMES: 1500-1650 (Vol. I); 1650-1789 (Vol. II)

OREST RANUM, Columbia University. Paperback. Vol. I, 326 pp., $4.95; Vol. II, 507 pp., $5.95. Ready spring 1969.

A two-volume collection of discussion problems and readings dealing with such topics as: ancient and Christian revivalists, the religious reformer as man, the importance of the Reformation, the expansion of Europe, mid-seventeenth-century revolutions, the travails of constitutionalism, the extension of state bureaucracy, commercial capitalism and social change, the Enlightenment, the persistence of feudal society, and the fate of monarchy. The editor offers challenging introductions to each topic and each selection.

A CENTURY FOR DEBATE: Problems in the Interpretation of European History, 1789-1914

PETER N. STEARNS, Rutgers University. 621 pp. Paperback. $5.95. Ready spring 1969.

A carefully constructed and sophisticated collection of historical writing concerned with major topics of the nineteenth century. The impact of the French Revolution, the nature of Romanticism, the working class in the early Industrial Revolution, the revolutions of 1848, Russia in the 19th century, liberalism, German unification, anti-Semitism, imperialism, and the decline of the Hapsburg monarchy. A thought-provoking anthology of discussion problems and readings with splendid introductions.

The Mooney Case

Richard H. Frost. More than fifty years after the famous San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing of July 22, 1916, we have the first fully researched account of one of the most sensational radical-labor prosecutions in American history. Includes new information on virtually every aspect of the case. Illustrated. October. $12.50

Napoleon After Waterloo

ENGLAND AND THE ST. HELENA DECISION

Michael John Thornton. This dramatic narrative is a day-by-day account of the two weeks during July and August of 1815 that Napoleon spent aboard British ships of war off the English coast while the Cabinet decided his fate. This first book-length treatment of the episode corrects many distortions and errors in previous works. November. About $6.50

DISAFFECTION AND THE REVOLUTION

Richard R. Fagen, Richard A. Brody, and Thomas J. O'Leary. This work seeks to discover who the exiles are and why they left Cuba, and to analyze the general phenomenon of self-imposed exile. December. About $5.95

The American Occupation of Germany

POLITICS AND THE MILITARY, 1945-1949

John Gimbel. This study of American military government in Germany sharply contradicts the prevailing interpretation that American occupation policy and practice was unclear, vacillating, and contradictory. New material is presented on the origins of the Marshall Plan, the Bonn Government, and the Berlin Blockade. November. About $7.95

The Japanese Communist Party, 1922-1945

George M. Beckmann and Okubo Genji. The first detailed account of the founding and development of the Japanese Communist Party. Using Japanese materials that have only recently become accessible, the authors concentrate on the key period 1922-32, when the Party was at the peak of its influence. December. About $12.50

Education and the State in Tsarist Russia

Patrick L. Alston. This book examines official, professional, and public efforts to balance off the state's need for disciplined intelligence against society's demands for enlarged opportunities. The emphasis is on the troubled period after 1860, when student nihilism became a permanent feature of the educational scene. January. About $8.95

THE CROWELL AMERICAN HISTORY SERIES

Abraham Eisenstadt, Brooklyn College
John Hope Franklin, University of Chicago
General Editors

Each of the books in this series focuses upon a central theme or issue that has presented American historians with problems of interpretation. The volumes have been written by specialists on the topics covered, and in every case the author has reached his conclusions after weighing the evidence of recent scholarship. Designed for use in both survey and period courses, the series will comprise a resource of interpretive writings from which American history teachers may select titles to meet their specific needs. Volumes covering the entire span of American history, from the Colonial Period to the present, are planned.

CROWELL SOURCE READERS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

David Brody, University of California, Davis, General Editor

The purpose of this series is to acquaint students of American History with one of the most important tasks of the historian—the evaluation of historical evidence; the documents chosen are among the most pertinent and immediate on the topic covered. The editors of the volumes have selected documents that not only focus on central issues, but are also lengthy enough to provide a basis for a thorough study of these issues. Introductory essays that set the issues in their historical context are included in each volume, and each section is preceded by a headnote that relates the documents to the theme of the section.

EARLY AMERICA

By Bradley Chapin, The Ohio State University

Organized to present the essential issues in the study of Colonial America, this volume surveys American history from the arrival of the first English explorers to the close of the French and Indian Wars. The author shows that the British system of imperial controls was ill-conceived and harmful and emphasizes the theme of conflict rather than consensus within the empire. Opposing points of view have been carefully noted in the bibliography.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION

A Reinterpretation of the Intentions of the Founding Fathers

By Paul Eidelson, Kenyon College

Foreword by Herbert J. Storing

The Philosophy of the American Constitution presents a fascinating philosophical reconstruction of the debates of the Constitutional Convention. Through an original method of multi-level analysis, the author portrays the regime envisioned by the Founding Fathers, the kind of men intended to be its leaders, and the great purposes they were to serve.

POLITICAL PARTIES IN ACTION The Battle of Barons Court

By Robert T. Holt and John E. Turner, both of the University of Minnesota

Political Parties in Action is the first analysis of a political campaign from inside two competing British parties. Special attention is paid to the incentive system operating in each organization. The authors outline the structure of the Labour and Conservative parties, pre-campaign planning, the contrasting patterns of campaign organization, the mobilization of resources and the implementation of campaign strategies, and party operations on polling day. The authors employ census data at the polling district level, canvassing data, and polling district figures on voter participation.

THE POLITICAL IMAGINATION IN LITERATURE

A Reader

Edited by Philip Green, Smith College, and Michael Walzer, Harvard University

This unique anthology illustrates perennial questions in the study of political history through sixty-one carefully chosen selections of high literary merit. Each of the nine chapters begins with a detailed introduction to the following readings, and the book has been organized to emphasize the primary topics in political thought. Selections include complete works and excerpts which are long enough to permit the full development of central themes. Sophocles, Shakespeare, Milton, Melville, Dostoevski, Orwell, Sartre, and Koestler are among the authors represented.

AMERICA IN THE SIXTIES

An Intellectual History

By Ronald Berman, University of California, San Diego

The new left, religion, the Negro, literature—these and other subjects of crucial importance are dealt with in this controversial study of intellectuals in America. The author examines the years that led to the Sixties and poses the question of who the contemporary intellectual is, what his status is, and what his roles are.

Announcing a New Text for Western Civilization Courses

Authoritative in its synthesis of current scholarship
Innovative in its pedagogical principles
Highly readable in its style
Exceptional in the quality of its illustrative material

WESTERN CIVILIZATION

Its Genesis and Destiny

Volume I: From the Prehistoric Era to 1715

Volume II: From 1660 to the Present

By NORMAN F. CANTOR, Leff Professor of History
Brandeis University

This new text adopts a novel three-track approach to the study of Western civilization in order to bring to the student the results of prevailing historical knowledge and interpretation in the clearest and most effective way.

The central and main track: This track presents a narrative of the making of Western government and society in accordance with the concept of the comparative study of institutions and ideas. The predominant characteristics of an era, and how and why they were established, are discussed, and national patterns are explained in terms of these common institutional and cultural structures.

The second track: The discussion of each era is introduced by a text, map, and picture environment essay that analyzes the way of life of the particular period as an interaction with the distinctive physical and social environment.

The third track: The contributions of particular societies to the thought and culture of Western Civilization are highlighted in text and picture heritage essays that conclude several of the chapters.

Illustrative material is of exceptionally high quality. Each volume contains approximately 50 maps, newly drawn and attested to for accuracy by a leading geographic consultant. All maps are in two colors, and several are in high relief. The text also includes 48 pages of color plates and nearly 200 black-and-white plates in each volume; pictures are chosen for pedagogical value as well as for illustrative purposes. Accompanying discussion emphasizes the historical significance of all illustrations.

SPECIAL FEATURES

The ancient world is treated as a whole in terms of the patterns of Mediterranean society and culture.

Church history is carefully detailed: the history of Judaism, the origins of the Christian Church, and the development of Christianity prior to the eighteenth century are given a central position in the development of Western civilization.

Medieval intellectual history is examined as a series of conflicts over the meaning of a Christian society.

The institutional pattern of France in the ancien régime is analyzed in detail for its importance as a model for other European countries.

The scope of the text expands as does Western civilization itself; non-Western civilizations are considered as they are influenced by and interact with the Western world.

Intellectual and cultural developments are related throughout to the social economic and political change. A study of the artist's position in society accompanies the discussion of the history of art, for example, while humanism is considered as a social ethos as well as a philosophical phenomenon.

WESTERN CIVILIZATION, with its comparative institutional approach, exposition of the most recent scholarship, and novel three-track method is a valuable text for the introductory course. Bibliographical essays appear at the end of the text, and a Study Guide will be available.

Since 1500—A February 1969 Publication

The fourth edition of this leading history text traces the course of Western civilization from the earliest records, c. 3000 B.C., through 1967. Revisions in Part One—most occur in the first chapters—reflect the findings of the latest scholarly research. Part Two has been thoroughly revised and includes much new material on the period 1945-1967. The global impact of twentieth-century Western civilization receives due attention. A text which makes the study of Western civilization comprehensible, A SURVEY OF EUROPEAN CIVILIZATION, Fourth Edition, achieves a fine balance between factual material and meaningful interpretation.

New to the fourth edition are full-color illustrations; and the "Suggestions for Further Reading" sections have been thoroughly revised and updated.

Source Materials for Historical Research →

The Microprint publishing program makes available large collections of source materials essential for scholarly research.

MICROPRINT COLLECTIONS ARE—

- COMPLETE—representing the highest level of scholarship and maximum effort in searching.
- LOWEST IN COST—being available at 2/5 to 1/10 the cost of other microforms.
- EASY TO STORE—because they are shelved, along with conventional books, in the regular library environment.
- DURABLE—having not only archival life but being highly resistant to damage through handling and use.
- COMPACT—occupying but 2% of the shelf space of conventionally printed materials.
- EASY TO USE—with the Readex Universal Micro-Viewer and the Dennison-Readex Reader-Printer System, Microprint can be easily read and low-cost hard copy simply obtained.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS PRESS EXTENDS ITS BEST WISHES TO PARTICIPANTS IN THE EIGHTY-THIRD ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION. THREE OF OUR OUTSTANDING TITLES ARE PRESENTED FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION.

The Enduring Navaho

BY LAURA GILPIN

The Navaho People are faced with a growing necessity for change, and their traditions have been altered by adaptation to an alien existence—modern society. Laura Gilpin captures in picture and word the surviving elements of the old life and the strong character of the People as they seek a place in the modern world. c. 326 pp. More than 200 photographs, including 22 color plates. November $17.50

The Western Hemisphere

Its Influence on United States Policies to the End of World War II

BY WILFRID HARDY CALLCOTT

Hemisphere thinking in the United States was originally founded on economic, political, and strategic needs. Dr. Callcott provides a clear picture of the developing awareness of the essential unity of the Western Hemisphere in international affairs. c. 400 pp. October $10.00

El Inca

The Life and Times of Garcilaso de la Vega

BY JOHN GRIER VARNER

Garcilaso de la Vega personally witnessed the last gasp of the dying Inca empire and the political decline of the Spain of Philip II and Philip III. This biography richly evokes the life of El Inca and is a welcome complement to his chronicles of the Incas and the Conquistadors. c. 425 pp. Illustrated November $10.00

THE OTIS FAMILY IN PROVINCIAL AND REVOLUTIONARY MASSACHUSETTS

by John J. Waters, Jr.

This is the story of the interaction of a Cape Cod town with its leading family over five generations. The central figures are James Otis, Sr., and his enigmatic son, James, Jr., Massachusetts' first great protestant against the pattern of British rule following the Seven Years' war.

"Mr. Waters is not so much concerned with individual personalities as with the embryonic development of a strong family structure . . . This family approach goes far to explain James Otis, Jr.'s behavior in the 1760's when so much of his public action hinges on the governor's treatment of his father."

—RICHARD S. DUNN

A social history which contributes greatly to our understanding of the American Revolution.

November, 1968 $6.95

THE CREATION OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC, 1775-1787

by Gordon S. Wood

Views the evolution of thought about government in America as it changed from the Anglo-American Whig outlook to distinctly American conceptions of a democratic republic which emerged during the 1780's. Wood reveals what the leaders of the new nation were groping toward and divided by with startling clarity. This study is "exciting and provocative . . . It will probably bring about a long overdue change in direction in the study of the Confederation and the making of the Constitution."

James Truslow Adams

Historian of the American Dream

ALLAN NEVINS

From a friendship spanning nearly three decades, Allan Nevins brings us this highly personalized biography of James Truslow Adams, Pulitzer Prize winning historian, eminent scholar, prolific author, and editor of the now classic Dictionary of American History and Atlas of American History.

Born in Brooklyn in 1878, Adams followed his preferred vocation as a writer and historian only after retiring in 1912 at the age of thirty-five from a successful business career on Wall Street. Nine years later, in 1921, he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for his The Founding of New England, and in the same decade also wrote Revolutionary New England, New England in the Republic, and Provincial Society. Among notable books published in the 1930's, his two volumes entitled Henry Adams and The Adams Family dealt with the Massachusetts clan to which he was not related. Adams' many historical works were supplemented by his continuing dialogue on contemporary social and political issues, carried on in the pages of Harper's Monthly, Atlantic Monthly, Saturday Review, and numerous other journals and periodicals.

In chronicling Adams' remarkable career, author Allan Nevins writes with sincere affection for his longtime friend and colleague, without losing the perspective of the biographer and historian. He enhances his personal memoir with a selection from Adams' vast correspondence, revealing the many facets of an influential scholar and an enduring friend.
