GENERAL INFORMATION

HEADQUARTERS: All sessions will be held in the Fairmont Hotel, Ross Avenue and Akard Street, and the Sheraton Hotel at Southland Center. The Fairmont will serve as the headquarters hotel. Registration, locator files, information booths, bulletin boards, and meal ticket sales will be maintained in the lobbies of each hotel. The Job Register will be located in the Grand Ballroom at the Sheraton. The headquarters of the Local Arrangements Committee, the AHA staff office, and the Press room will be in the Board Room, Directors Room, and the Florentine Room respectively, on the banquet level of the Fairmont.

In addition to the Fairmont and Sheraton, blocks of rooms have been reserved at the Adolphus, Baker and Hilton hotels. Members who have not yet reserved hotel accommodations should send their reservation forms (enclosed in the September Newsletter) without delay to the Dallas Housing Service—AHA, 1507 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas 75201.

TRANSPORTATION: There is a half-hourly bus service to and from the airport servicing all participating hotels at a cost of $4.00; taxicab fare is around $13.00. For the meeting, the association has arranged for free shuttle-bus service between the hotels; it will operate from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. throughout the meeting. In addition, there is public transportation "Hop-A-Bus" which runs every six minutes along the route of the hotels and costs ten cents.

GROUP FLIGHTS: Arrangements have been made to provide reduced rate group flights arriving in Dallas on the afternoon of December 27 and returning December 30, from Austin, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Denver, Detroit, Los Angeles, Madison, Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York, Newark, Phoenix, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, St. Louis, and Tulsa. The travel agent will form the groups. Groups must travel on the same flight on December 27, but in some cases passengers have the option of returning on different flights provided it is by the same air carrier. In addition, if there is sufficient interest, the travel agent will arrange a group flight to Mexico City, including hotel accommodation for six nights, immediately following the meeting. Further details and reservation forms may be obtained from Glen Roc Travel, 194 Scotch Road, Trenton, New Jersey 08628 (telephone number 609-883-3353).

AHA REGISTRATION: Members are urged to preregister at the reduced rate of $10 (nonmembers $15, students $5), form enclosed. Registration at the meeting will be $15 (nonmembers $20, students $7). Registration desks at the Fairmont and Sheraton will be open during the following hours:

Tuesday, December 27	12 noon–9:00 p.m.
Wednesday, December 28	8:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.
Thursday, December 29	8:30 a.m.–4:00 p.m.
Friday, December 30	8:30 a.m.–12 noon

BUSINESS MEETING: Resolutions for the business meeting will be handled as follows: (1) resolutions signed by twenty-five members of the association will be accepted until December 15; (2) resolutions received by November 1 will take precedence and will be published in the December Newsletter; (3) resolutions must be no more than three hundred words in length.

Resolutions should be sent to the executive director at the AHA central office, with one copy to the parliamentarian, Paul K. Conkin, Department of History, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin 53706.

VOTING CARDS: Voting cards will be included in the preregistration packet and will also be given out to members who register at the meeting.

LOCATOR FILES: The locator files will be adjacent to the AHA registration desks in the lobbies of the Fairmont and Sheraton.

INFORMATION DESK AND BULLETIN BOARDS: These will be located in the registration areas. Information about the annual meeting, Dallas, and the American Historical Association, will be available. The bulletin boards will serve both as informal message centers and as a place to announce special meetings, changes, etc.

JOB REGISTER: The job register, located in the Grand Ballroom at the Sheraton, will be in operation during the following hours:

Tuesday, December 27	2:00 p.m.–6:00 p.m.
Wednesday, December 28	9:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.
Thursday, December 29	9:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.
Friday, December 30	9:00 a.m.–12 noon

TEACHING DEMONSTRATIONS: The International Ballroom at the Fairmont has been reserved for a series of demonstration sessions for audio-visual teaching techniques and exhibits relating to teaching methods and technology (pp. 18, 41). The association expresses its appreciation to Glenn M. Linden of Southern Methodist University for organizing these demonstrations and displays.

AFFILIATED SOCIETIES: The Regency Ballroom foyer on the banquet level of the Fairmont has been reserved from 4:30–7:30 p.m. on December 28 for affiliated societies to display materials and to meet with members of the profession. There will be a cash bar.

CHILD CARE: Modestly-sized child care centers, staffed by competent personnel, will be available in the Fairmont and Hilton Hotels. The location will be announced on bulletin boards in the registration areas. The center will be open for children (through the fifth grade) of registrants at the meeting, at a charge of $1.25 per hour. Hours of the center are as follows:

Tuesday, December 27	5:00 p.m.–10:00 p.m.
Wednesday, December 28	9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m.
Thursday, December 29	9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m.
Friday, December 30	9:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m.

To preregister, write to the Local Arrangements Chairman, James O. Breeden, Department of History, Box 176, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, TX 75275, no later than December 9.

WOMEN HISTORIANS: A room where women historians can gather and all historians may obtain information on women's history groups will be maintained throughout the annual meeting in the Green Room at the Fairmont. It will be open during the following hours:

Tuesday, December 27	7:00 p.m.–10:00 p.m.
Wednesday, December 28	9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m.
Thursday, December 29	9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m.
Friday, December 30	9:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m.

EXHIBITORS: The exhibits are located in the Regency Ballroom at the Fairmont, and will be open during the following hours:

Tuesday, December 27	3:00 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Wednesday, December 28	9:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.
Thursday, December 29	9:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.
Friday, December 30	9:00 a.m.–12 noon

For list of exhibitors see page 76.

MEAL MEETINGS: All luncheons on Wednesday, December 28, and Thursday, December 29, are scheduled for 12:15 p.m. Tickets for the luncheons (except those sponsored by organizations who sell their own tickets) will be available from the meal ticket cashiers at the AHA registration desks at the Fairmont and Sheraton. All payments must be made in U.S. currency, by cash, or traveler's cheque.

After clearance of room allocation with the Local Arrangements Chairman, all other arrangements for meal meetings must be conducted directly between the organization and the hotel. Hotel officials are as follows:

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, 1976-77

In this my third annual report I will review the financial condition of the association and the status of the relocation of the AHR, discuss recent efforts to preserve and improve access to historical records, report on the progress of the National Coordinating Committee for the Promotion of History, and describe other activities not fully reported on elsewhere.

I. Financial conditions

At the December 1976 annual meeting in Washington, when I reported on the improved financial condition of the association for fiscal year 1975-76, I noted that we had ended the year with a balanced budget and that our performance for the first half of 1976-77 had been good. I can now report that once again we ended the fiscal year (1976-77) with a balanced budget, and that our prospects for 1978-79 are also good. If we continue to guard against excessive permanent increases in expenses and steadily improve our income-producing programs, we can maintain a sound financial condition and enhance our ability to promote history and better serve our scholarly and professional interests.

II. Relocation of the AHR

The AHR has now been at Indiana University for eighteen months. The minor problems attending the transfer have been solved and our new editor, Professor Otto Pflanze, who assumed his duties on January 1, 1977, has already begun to impose his own editorial stamp on the content and style of the Review. His report appears elsewhere in the Program.

I want to thank all those talented and enthusiastic young scholars and staff members who have contributed to the success of the Review at Indiana University. I also want to thank the faculty and staff of the Indiana history department, the editorial staff of the Journal of American History, and the administrative officers and staff of the university for their generous and valuable assistance.

III. The Preservation of Historical Manuscripts

On June 28 the Supreme Court, in a landmark decision, upheld the constitutionality of the Presidential Recordings and Materials Preservation Act passed by Congress in December 1974. As you know, the AHA was a plaintiff in that case. The act ordered that former President Nixon's papers and tapes remain secure in Washington, and created a National Study Commission "to study problems and questions with respect to the control, disposition, and preservation of records and documents by or on behalf of federal officials, with a view toward development of recommendations for appropriate legislation, rules, and procedures, with respect to such control, disposition and preservation." It is this statute that the Supreme Court has declared constitutional.

The National Study Commission, in its report which it submitted to Congress and the President on April 28, concluded that "major revisions in existing law and practice are in order." In a review of the report which appeared in the May/June Newsletter you saw that the policies of the association have for the most part been adopted by the commission. I have referred the report to the Research Division for review and recommendation to the Council at its December meeting. Professor William Leuchtenburg, De Witt Clinton Professor of American History at Columbia University, ably represented the association on the commission and I served as his alternate. Two other historians served on the commission: Professor Frank B. Freidel, Jr., of Harvard University, represented the OAH, and Professor Ernest R. May, also of Harvard, was a public member.

During 1976-77 we have been involved in other important efforts to reform practices of ownership, preservation, and control of the records of public officials:

1. Early in President Ford's administration we urged him to accept the principle that the papers he created as president which dealt with public business belonged to the government and should be controlled by appropriate government agencies and managed by professional archivists. In December 1976 President Ford donated his White House papers to the government and they have been deposited in the library at the University of Michigan where they are being processed by university and National Archives staff.

2. During the presidential campaign we also urged Jimmy Carter to accept the principle of public ownership of presidential papers. Recently President Carter announced that it was his intention to make his presidential papers the property of the people of the nation after he leaves office so that they can be made available to the public. We have encouraged President Carter to formalize his intentions and to make arrangements now for the proper management of his papers so that appropriate separation of his private and personal papers from public records can be made quickly and fairly when he leaves office.

3. The association has joined with the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press and the American Political Science Association in an action to seek (1) a declaration that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's transcribed notes of his official telephone conversations have always been the property of the Department of State and, therefore, the agreements "donating" them to the Library of Congress are void; (2) a court order directing their return to the Department of State; and (3) an order directing the department to make them available in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act.

4. A collateral issue growing out of our efforts to preserve the papers of public officials and to make them available to all historians under reasonable circumstances is the subordination of the National Archives and Records Service to the General Services Administration. The association studied this matter some years ago and took a rather benign view of the relationship. The Nixon papers agreement revealed, however, the extent to which political considerations in GSA could enter into the affairs of our archives establishment and convinced the Research Division and the Council that NARS must be separated from the GSA and developed as an independent agency. Since we adopted this policy over a year ago, the movement for support has gathered momentum. Now that there is a new administration and a new General Services Administrator this would be a good time to reestablish our position that NARS should be an independent agency and to develop support for its adoption by other learned societies, the Congress and the general public.

5. As your representatives in Washington, we have also been active in the movement to establish historical offices in the Congress and in the major departments of the federal government; in support of the budgets of the NHPRC, the Library of Congress, NARS, and NEH, to strengthen and expand their programs and services; in the legislative branch to get congressmen and senators to pay closer attention to the preservation and disposition of their valuable papers in competent repositories and to encourage Congress to appropriate the funds for the proper management of its papers; in the executive branch to maintain and strengthen historical advisory committees where their value has been clearly demonstrated; in the president's office to encourage the establishment of an office of historical analysis to assist in the development of public policy; and throughout the government to encourage a review and reform of classification and declassification policies and practices of records appropriate for scholarly research.

In these activities I have often called on AHA members for advice and assistance. I would like to mention a few here—Norman Graebner, University of Virginia; Allen Weinstein, Smith College; Arthur Link, Princeton; William Leuchtenburg, Columbia; Eldon Smith and Walter Rundell, University of Maryland; Richard Hewlett, ERDA; Julian Boyd, The Jefferson Papers; Richard Kirkendall, the OAH; Bennett Wall, SHA; Robert Kelley, USCB; James MacGregor Burns, Williams College; Walter Johnson, The Stevenson Papers; and Lewis Hanke, our recent president, who supported our original suit and was one of the first to call for separation of NARS and GSA. Many other members have written me letters offering useful information and encouragement. I should report too that legal services in the Nixon papers case have been provided by the Washington firm of Arnold and Porter, and in the Kissinger case by Covington and Burling, also of Washington.

There is a lesson to be learned from our experience with presidential papers. That lesson is that it is possible for a learned society with no political power and no resources to speak of, to affect public policy. We have two assets that make this possible: one is a long record of responsible involvement in public policies directly related to our chartered purposes and a membership of well-informed, talented men and women prepared to continue such involvement. These are our greatest resources. Effectively and properly used they can further the interest of our profession and of society.

IV. The National Coordinating Committee for the Promotion of History

One of the most important, but also one of the most difficult tasks we have undertaken this past year, has been the organization of a national effort to deal with the decline of history in the schools, colleges, and universities, to improve and expand teaching, research and other opportunities for young historians, and to promote historical studies generally.

In 1976 the association, in collaboration with the Organization of American Historians, the Southern Historical Association, the American Studies Association, and the New England Historical Association, organized a National Coordinating Committee for the Promotion of History. These organizations conducted fund drives among their members, with total contributions as of July 1, 1977, amounting to $11,263.00. In May, Dr. Arnita Jones was appointed as full-time staff associate. She has been an officer in historical societies affiliated with the AHA and SHA and has served on the faculty of several midwestern universities. Particularly concerned with the areas of affirmative action and academic freedom, she has been a director and active participant in a number of other professional and civic organizations. Dr. Jones has published, edited and spoken on a wide range of historical topics, including German political and diplomatic history, socialism and feminism. She is currently contributing editor for history for the Women's Studies Newsletter.

Dr. Jones works in the Washington office of the AHA where administration of the NCC is located. Office space, clerical and other support is provided by the AHA. Because of limited funds her appointment is for six months, with continuation dependent upon additional funds.

Recently six other societies—the Western History Association, the Berkshire Conference of Women Historians, Phi Alpha Theta, the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History, the Conference Group for Social and Administrative History, the Conference on Peace Research in History—joined the original five members of the NCC, and others are being considered for membership. All NCC members are expected to conduct a fund drive and contribute the proceeds to the AHA, which is responsible for administering the funds.

The NCC represents a novel effort of the historical profession to deal with the many problems it faces. We think we have created a basis from which specific programs may be planned and implemented.

At this initial stage of primary activity of the NCC is the formation of national or regional resource groups to develop ideas for specific projects for the promotion of history and the expansion of employment opportunities for historians. Resource groups are already being formed in the federal government, the business community, and in the states. Plans call for additional groups in the following areas: state and local government, museums and monuments, historical preservation, libraries and archives, foundations, media, agriculture, and labor.

Priority has been given to the formation of a resource group in the federal government, chaired by Dr. Richard Hewlett, chief historian of the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration. The first project of this group is a comprehensive directory of historical offices and history-related activities in the federal government. Collection of data from the directory is under way and plans have been made for production and distribution.

A second concern of the Federal Resource Group is the retention and support of existing governmental historical offices and the establishment of new historical offices in agencies and departments where they are needed. The recently established Senate Historical Office, under the able direction of Richard Baker, may serve as a model for such offices.

Recently we have begun to organize regional resource groups in business in some of our larger metropolitan areas. Our goal is to create a national network of historians employed in various corporations and business institutions who can help us identify opportunities for historians with advanced training. We hope that these historians in business will also share their experiences with other historians considering non-academic careers by giving talks and holding seminars for younger colleagues.

A second part of the program of the NCC has been the formation of state committees designed to keep us informed about educational developments on the state and local level. Such state committees will be particularly helpful in providing a link between the national learned societies and the elementary and secondary school teachers, and alerting us to adverse developments in curricula and teacher credential requirements so that we can act before it is too late.

A third important function of the NCC will be the collection and dissemination of information about ideas for the promotion of history to our members and to the public. Through the AHA Newsletter, Employment Information Bulletin, and Institutional Services Program, and through comparable programs and publications of the other constituent members, the NCC will distribute throughout the profession information about our activities and ideas about how to promote history. When resources become available the NCC might develop its own newsletter.

The National Coordinating Committee is currently exploring a number of projects, among them the development of internship programs in government for middle and senior level university faculty. The aim of such programs would be to give the faculty member a new perspective on the function and skills needed for employment in a government history office or activity so that he or she may be better equipped to prepare graduate history students for such positions. Another promising area is that of historic preservation. We hope to be able to stimulate the state committees of the National Coordinating Committee to work with state historical societies and historic preservation officers in order to insure that a portion of the increasing amount of money available from Federal Public Works Employment funds and Comprehensive Education and Training Act appropriations is used for the utilization of historians. We also hope to publicize the new skills and directions of recent historical research so that both the profession and the public will become more aware of the value of considering the historical component in significant community decisions. A group in Atlanta, for instance, regularly provides information, on a consulting basis, for environmental impact analyses by government agencies and private firms. They would like to cooperate with NCC in sharing their experiences with others in the profession so that this kind of opportunity for historians could be expanded. Obviously all of these projects and others that NCC is considering cannot be brought to fruition at once; priorities will need to be carefully set so that our investment of limited resources leads to accomplishment and not frustrated expectations.

Our major problem is lack of resources to sustain our efforts and the serious involvement of a larger number of members. In the fall, therefore, Dr. Jones will assist the eleven member societies to mount a fund-raising effort in the hope that those who have been skeptical about our seriousness and ability to do something of value will now participate and those who have already made a contribution will be spurred to continue their commitment to the NCC. We suspect that membership contributions alone will not be sufficient to enable us to do what needs to be done; therefore, we are preparing proposals to foundations for funds for general operations for NCC and for specific programs. By the time these proposals are ready, we hope we will be able to show the foundations that the learned societies in history have accepted responsibility for the welfare of their discipline and have developed a reasonable program of education and action, but that we now need help beyond what our members can provide to sustain it.

V. Employment Information Activities

For the second consecutive year the EIB reported a moderate increase in positions; the total number for the 1976-77 academic year was the highest number ever listed in the publication. While the number of positions listed increased and the number of new Ph.Ds seeking positions decreased, no absolute trends in supply and demand are discernible. Of the 747 openings listed in the EIB approximately one-half were for permanent, full-time teaching positions; replacement, temporary, and part-time offerings accounted for most of the increase in positions listed. The number of non-teaching employment opportunities contained in the EIB has continued to expand as more potential employers are made aware of the publication and learn of the skills of those it serves. The monitoring of other placement publications and periodicals suggests that most history teaching positions in colleges and universities are being reported to the EIB.

The job register for the 1976 annual meeting was held at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington, D.C. More than 250 descriptions of positions were arranged topically by areas of specialization on eleven bulletin boards. One hundred of the positions had previously been included in the December supplement to the EIB. A total of forty-three institutions took advantage of the interviewing facilities made available by the association, and the staff attempted to coordinate communications between the candidates and some of the other institutions that conducted interviews outside the job register. Approximately nine hundred interviews were conducted in the job register facilities during the four days of operation. An estimated 800-1000 people made use of the register, a slightly smaller number than had been expected.

In an effort to comply more fully with requirements for reporting on the state of the profession, and in response to frequent requests for data from departments, we are seriously considering a survey of all history departments in order to complement existing fragmentary statistical information. The AHA's survey of departments of history would augment the survey previously conducted by the Higher Education Research Institute and, repeated annually, would insure a continuous flow of information on numbers and salaries of historians, the status of women and minorities in the profession, and other pertinent data.

A separate AHA placement survey of graduate departments, already underway, is designed to show the number of historians seeking positions on an annual basis. This survey will also indicate the number of historians who find positions and the nature of their employment.

We know that some of you will be dismayed at the prospect of yet another survey, but we hope you will cooperate with us if we decide to go forward. Without such cooperation we cannot succeed.

VI. Bibliographical programs

The three issues—spring, summer, and fall—of volume 2 of the Recently Published Articles have now been published. The RPA now goes to more than four thousand individuals and institutions, and we continue to work to extend distribution. During the year a major change was made in the production arrangements. For years the RPA was keyboarded, programmed, and composed by a Washington area firm. In January we accepted a bid from another company, which we think will in the long run reduce costs and provide greater efficiency. The transition delayed the spring issue, but the new process worked well and it should continue to improve.

In January Writings on American History: A Subject Bibliography of Articles, 1962-73 was published by the association and KTO Press (Kraus-Thomson) and, in November 1977, the fourth issue of the annual Writings on American History: A Subject Bibliography of Articles 1976-77 will appear. We are investigating the possibility of producing a multivolume bibliography of monographs published during the years 1962-73. We have also discussed with KTO Press the feasibility of completing the gap, 1941-1947, that still exists in the Writings. The publication would be identical in coverage to the old series, in that it would include articles, monographs, dissertations, Festschriften, and fugitive items. We are in the early stages of negotiations but, if undertaken, we would request financing from KTO and possibly a granting agency.

Last year we submitted a proposal to the National Endowment for the Humanities to establish a bibliographic center which, among other things, would make possible the expansion of the RPA and Writings. The AHA also sponsored a grant request to NEH to complete the final volume, covering the years 1914-75, of the Anglo-American bibliographies of British history. The series was funded by a Ford Foundation grant in 1956 and the remaining money, along with NEH support, would provide sufficient funds to complete the project. Decisions on these proposals should come soon.

VII. Status of association committees

Association committees have now operated for three years under a new constitution which created three divisional committees of research, teaching, and the profession. By and large the wisdom of the reorganization has been proved, and the initial realignments have worked smoothly although slight readjustments continue to be made as we learn from experience. The three vice-presidents will report separately and fully on the work of the divisional committees and those under their purview; therefore it is unnecessary for me to discuss their activities here.

One prospective addition to the list of committees which is under study is a committee of history department chairpersons and graduate students. This new committee could serve needs that have not been fully met heretofore. First, it could provide me with useful information and ideas about how to improve our Institutional Services Program and suggest other services for our departments; second, it could undertake studies and make recommendations concerning the special problems of undergraduate and graduate students in history; third, it could be a better means than presently exists for departments, faculty, and students to make their needs and problems known to the association; fourth, it could provide a valuable link between the NCC and the departments. This idea for a new committee will be given careful consideration this fall by my office, by association and Council committees, and by the Council at its December meeting.

One of the most important purposes of the executive director's annual report is that it offers the opportunity for me to thank publicly all those members who have given me help and support during the year. An organization like the AHA simply could not function without the voluntary services of literally hundreds of members. To all of you, many thanks.

Mack Thompson, Executive Director

REPORT OF THE EDITOR AMERICAN HISTORICAL REVIEW

My first issue as editor of the American Historical Review was that of April 1977. Since the copy deadline for this issue was in early December 1976, I was compelled to begin my editorial duties in October while still a full-time member of the faculty of the University of Minnesota. At my request the interim editors accepted no articles for publication beyond their own terms on the Review. When I arrived in Bloomington in January, fifty-six articles were in the files awaiting editorial decisions; by the end of June, 130 new manuscripts had arrived. About one-half of those received have been evaluated by critics from throughout the profession. Hence the value of work flowing through our editorial offices since January has been unusually (we hope) large. As a consequence there have been delays—to the irritation of some authors and correspondents. The April and June issues of the Review, however, actually appeared in those months, much to the satisfaction of the editors.

On taking charge in January, I found entirely justified my earlier impression that the Review was understaffed and poorly equipped to carry out its mission. In February we presented a detailed appraisal of our situation to Mack Thompson, executive director of the association, and Walter Nugent, then chairman of the department of history at Indiana. The results have been gratifying. Professor Nugent found an additional 140 square feet of office space, and the Academic Equipment Committee of Indiana University supplied from university funds approximately $8000 for new furnishings with which to improve our working conditions. Most important of all, Dr. Thompson authorized the addition to the staff, at least for the time being, of a second assistant editor and the purchase of $4500 in new office equipment, including badly needed electric typewriters with diacritical marks. His moral and financial support have been extremely important to us in this difficult time. Much of the outlay by the association ought to be offset by cost-cutting measures inaugurated by the staff. We expect to save several thousand dollars annually in reduced publishing and supply costs.

Some words about our hard-working staff are in order. Professor Hanawalt has declined reappointment for a second year and will return to full-time teaching and research at Indiana University. We will continue to have the services of two highly talented assistant editors, who have assumed the major responsibility for copyediting. Assistant Editor Gail Malmgreen has supervised the publication of book-reviews and has, in addition, taken charge of illustrations and general design. Her imprint is particularly evident on the June issue, one of the most unusual in the history of this publication. Assistant Editor Anne Lee Gearhart has worked closely with authors in revising manuscripts accepted for publication. At my direction she has also surveyed the operation of the Review, recommending radical changes in our procedures and use of space. The stream of new furniture and equipment arriving this summer in our offices would not have been possible without her, often overtime, labor. Three editorial assistants have left the Review (a normal attrition): Mr. Donald Raleigh, to become Program Director, Fulbright Exchange of Scholars with the USSR, American Council on Education, Washington, D.C.; Mr. Patrick Moore, to become Senior Analyst, Radio Free Europe, Munich; and Ms. Ann Higginbotham, to the editorial staff of Victorian Studies, Indiana University. Their places have been taken by Ms. Kathleen Prevo, Ms. Rosemary Orthmann, and Mr. James Krokar. We will retain next year the services of three very capable editorial assistants: Ms. Elizabeth Williams, Mr. Kenneth Stevens, and Mr. Dale Sorenson. In Ms. Mary Bent we continue to enjoy the talents of a fine executive secretary who presides graciously over the main office, keeps track of our finances, and tries, often in vain, to keep us out of trouble.

REPORT OF THE CONTROLLER FOR THE YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1977

The total assets of the American Historical Association on June 30, 1977, amounted to $1,246,856 as compared to $1,218,843 in 1976. This amount is the sum of the three major funds:

- a) General Fund—cash, temporary and permanent investments (the use of which for the purposes of the association is controlled by a resolution of the Council in 1960 as amended in 1975), $400,857.
- b) Special Funds and Grants—permanent and temporary investments, restricted as to the use of income and grants, $700,411.
- c) Plant Fund—property and equipment, less depreciation, $145,588.

Permanent investments included in the General Fund and Special Funds and Grants are carried at book value. Land and buildings of the association are carried at cost less depreciation and have a substantially higher market value. For further details concerning the aforementioned funds and income and expense statements for fiscal year ending 30 June 1977, your attention is directed to the auditor's report as contained herein. All permanent investments are in the custody of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York, under the direction of the association's board of trustees. The Fiduciary Trust Company's report is filed at the association's office and is available for inspection by interested members.

The budget for 1976-77 as adopted by the Council projected a deficit of $67,412. Total operations for the fiscal year ended with a modest surplus of $10,100. The increase in revenue over the preceding year, adjusted for nonrecurring items, amounted to 3.6% and was directly attributable to the financially successful annual meeting held in Washington, D.C. and the substantial improvement in advertising revenue. Operating revenue exceeded budget by $38,809 or 5.3%.

Operating expenses amounted to $784,652, a reduction from the projected budget of $38,809 or 5.3%. Reduction of operating expenses occurred principally in the areas of salaries $30,778 or 10%, employee benefits of $4,150 or 8.8%, and travel and related meeting expenses of $20,883 or 28.8%. Significant increase indicated in office supplies is due to grouping of postage cost in this category. This endeavor was made to further isolate major cost items for special scrutiny. Increased computer services, implemented in the latter part of the fiscal year, presents opportunities for further cost reduction.

Main Lafrentz & Co., certified public accountants' audit report and supplementary information detail are on file and available for inspection at the association's office.

The Council
American Historical Association

We have examined the balance sheet of the American Historical Association as of June 30, 1977 and 1976, and the related statements of revenue and expenses and fund balances for the years then ended. Our examinations were made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

It has been the practice of the American Historical Association to maintain its records on a general basis of cash receipts and disbursements, except for the recognition of depreciation on the Plant Fund's depreciable assets.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements present fairly the assets and liabilities of the American Historical Association at June 30, 1977 and 1976 (arising from cash transactions, except as noted in the preceding paragraph), and the related revenue collected, expenditures made, and fund balance changes during the years then ended, on a consistent basis.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Fund accounting - The Association records its transactions in three separate, self-balancing funds. Each fund reflects only those transactions applicable to its designated functional area.

- General Fund - Reflects transactions related to the general operations of the Association.
- Special Funds and Grants - Reflects transactions under various prize funds and special projects that are funded by contributions and grants (restricted as to use by the donor) as well as by revenue generated by fund activities and investments.
- Plant Fund - Reflects transactions relating to the property, plant and equipment owned by the Association, as purchased through transfers from the General Fund and charged to operations by that Fund in the year of acquisition.

Marketable securities - Marketable securities, consisting of permanent investments in the Matteson Account and temporary investments, are carried at cost. Permanent investments in the Regular Account are carried at the participants' cost of participation in such investments.

Property, plant and equipment - Property, plant and equipment are carried at cost, with depreciation being computed on the straight-line method. When assets are disposed of, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts, and any remaining net book value is deducted from the Plant Fund balance.

Income tax - The Association is exempt from Federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

DEPRECIATION

Depreciation on Plant Fund assets, based on the rates shown below, was:

	1977	1976	Rates
Buildings	$4,918	$4,917	2-1/2 to 4%
Furniture and equipment	2,334	2,710	10%
	$7,252	$7,627

RETIREMENT PLAN

Eligible employees are covered by a contributory retirement plan which is funded through the purchase of individual annuity contracts from the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association. The Association follows the practice of recording as its expense the total premiums paid on such contracts in each fiscal year. The net charges against revenue on account of retirement insurance premiums for the years ended June 30, 1977 and 1976 amounted to $15,641 and $19,934, respectively.

ACCOUNTANTS' OPINION ON SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION

Our examinations of the basic financial statements presented in the preceding section of this report were made primarily to form an opinion on such financial statements taken as a whole. Supplementary information, contained in the following pages, is not considered essential for the fair presentation of the assets and liabilities or revenue, expenses and changes in fund balances (arising from cash transactions) of the Association. However, the following data were subjected to the audit procedures applied in the examinations of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, are fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

The Making of America

THE SHAPING OF THE AMERICAN PAST, 2nd Edition

Robert Kelley—University of California, Santa Barbara

A two-volume, highly readable narrative and interpretive history of the United States and its people from the colonial period to the present. Traces the emergence and evolution of our two-party system and the cultural, economic, and ideological forces that shaped each party. Explains American history as a part of the transatlantic, Anglo-American community—underscoring our cultural, political, and economic relations with Britain.

Main thrust of the text is understanding American history through the conflict of economic and other culture groups. Covers the traditional spectrum of economic, social, political, intellectual, and diplomatic topics—but emphasizes the volcanic energies and events of the past which made our own times so tumultuous. This new edition has been reduced in overall length. Available aids include: Test Item File, Teacher's Manual, and 2-volume Study Guide.

1978	Volume I (to 1877)	432 pp. (est.)	Paper $9.25
1978	Volume II (1865 to present)	432 pp. (est.)	Paper $9.25
1978	Combined Edition	848 pp. (est.)	Cloth $14.95

Announcing the conclusion of
THE
IN AMERICA SERIES

Richard C. Wade, General Editor

A decade ago, the Urban Life in America Series was launched as a pioneering publishing effort. Its object: to develop and promote studies in an area of vital contemporary importance that had been neglected by historians.

Today, urban history is recognized as a vital field, and urban problems are studied in a wide variety of courses. Publishers, too, have contributed many valuable studies to urban history. With pride in the role it has played in bringing attention to the field and promoting interest in it, Oxford will now conclude the Urban Life in America Series with the January publication of three important new books. Reflecting the breadth of conception of urban history that the series fostered, these works, like so many of their predecessors, may well join the list of recognized classics in the field.

■ THE REMEMBERED GATE: Origins of American Feminism: The Woman and the City 1800-1860 by Barbara Berg assesses the impact of urbanization on 19th-century feminism through the examination of 150 female voluntary agencies. $14.95

■ RACE RELATIONS IN THE URBAN SOUTH 1865-1890 by Howard N. Rabinowitz shows how an entrenched system of segregation became fully established in five representative Southern cities and recreates the lives of Southern urban blacks in the period. $17.95

■ THE SLUM AND THE GHETTO: Neighborhood Deterioration and Middle-Class Reform, Chicago 1880-1930 by Thomas Lee Philpott probes the question of how and why white immigrants could rise out of slum conditions while residents of the black ghetto remained trapped. $17.95

A CONCISE HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC

Samuel Eliot Morison • Henry Steele Commager
William E. Leuchtenburg

A CONCISE HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC is an abridged and thoroughly revised and rewritten version of the classic work, THE GROWTH OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC. While maintaining the style of the original work, the authors have brought the material fully up to date to reflect significant modern research. In describing and interpreting the American experience from the advent of the Indians on the North American Continent through the American Republic's Bicentennial, the text is sharply analytical and reveals a concern for social history. A CONCISE HISTORY is richly illustrated with over 250 paintings, cartoons, and photographs, many of which have never before appeared in an American history book, and 30 maps. The illustrations were chosen with the expert guidance of Judith Mara Gutman.

FRANCE 1848-1945

THEODORE ZELDIN

Senior Tutor and Dean of St. Antony's College, Oxford

Volume II: Intellect, Taste and Anxiety

This fascinating history of Frenchmen goes beyond the recital of events to investigate their attitudes and behavior in an unusually wide range of activities. Part I explains their sense of national identity, their provincial variations, their attitudes about foreigners, their educational system, and their logic and verbalism.

Part II examines taste, the role of artists, the way literary reputations were made, fashion, furniture, music, newspapers, advertising, corruption, attitudes toward prosperity and comfort, happiness and humor, and the history of French cooking and wine. Part III inquires into the private lives of Frenchmen, their psychology, their troubles with worry, boredom, and hysteria, family planning, the army, the colonies, crime, religion, anticlericalism, the politics of the inter-war years, technocracy, gerontocracy, and hypocrisy. The conclusion summarizes the method which the book offers for making sense of the contradictions of this colorful and brilliant society.

Britain & America

An Interpretation of Their Culture 1945-1975

DANIEL SNOWMAN

Britain and America is a comparative study in two senses: it compares the social values of two societies, and it also compares the different forms these values have taken in each society as it passed through different periods—the aftermath of the war, the “sex-and-drugs” culture of the 1960’s, the new trends of the seventies.

“Martin E. Marty combines the skills of a perceptive historian and responsible journalist in this impressive interpretation of Protestant history in the United States. . . . Righteous Empire is an important book—it is informed by many of the newer and revisionist currents of church historiography that are just surfacing.”—ROBERT T. House Made of Dawn

N. SCOTT MOMADAY

He was a young American Indian named Abel, and he lived in two worlds. One was that of his fathers, wedding him to the rhythm of the seasons, the harsh beauty of the land, the ecstasy of the drug called peyote. The other was the world of the twentieth century, goading him into a compulsive cycle of sexual exploits, dissipation, and disgust. Home from a foreign war, he was a man being torn apart, a man descending into hell. . . . “Almost unbearably authentic and powerful. . . .”—Cleveland Plain Dealer

Organized Labor in Latin America

Historical Case Studies of Urban Workers in Dependent Society

HOBART A. SPALDING, Jr.

“The working class, along with the peasantry, constitutes the vast majority of Latin American society. Despite this fact, scholars have devoted it scant attention. That situation is changing, but significant gaps in our knowledge exist. This book seeks to advance the study of one aspect of working-class history, urban organized labor.”—from the Introduction

THE FREE AND THE UNFREE

A New History of the United States

by Peter N. Carroll and David W. Noble

The Free and the Unfree is a provocative revisionist study of U.S. history from pre-Columbian times to the post-Watergate era. The authors focus their analysis on the dynamic relationship between power-holders and the various out-groups. Throughout, historical, social, and political events are interwoven to provide "a broad, interpretive and extremely well-written analysis of the American experience that offers new insight into the American past."

NEW FOR 1978

MAIN PROBLEMS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

Fourth Edition

Edited by HOWARD H. QUINT, MILTON CANTOR, and DEAN ALBERTSON, all of the University of Massachusetts

A fresh look at old issues is presented in this well-received two-volume paperback, now in its Fourth Edition. The 30-some essays comprising the text have been written exclusively for this collection by renowned historians. The elimination of problems such as segregation and discrimination has made way for new problems on women and social unrest while the remaining articles have been abridged for clarity and conciseness. Pertinent documents and copious suggested readings supplement each selection. The text of these volumes is designed to run parallel to college survey courses in American history. (Paperbound)

FROM THE TIGRIS TO THE TIBER

Revised Edition

By TOM B. JONES, University of Minnesota

The revision of this popular book offers new discoveries and interpretations in ancient history, new maps, additional illustrations, and an extended bibliography. Meticulous, yet lively, this narrative of the past explores the civilizations of the Near East, Greece, and Rome in a general survey compatible with introductory courses in European or Western Civilization. (Paperbound)

JACKSONIAN AMERICA:

Society, Personality, and Politics, Revised Edition

By EDWARD PESSEN, The Graduate Center of the City University of New York

Considered one of the most thorough examinations on the Jacksonian Era, this book has been revised with the influence of possibly every related source published since the 1969 edition. Highlights of this study include the lampooning of traditional dogmas, the investigation of overlooked aspects of the era, and the synthesis of clashing interpretations. The book can be used as a basic text for the Jacksonian Period or a supplement for courses in Pre-Civil War history. (Paperbound)

NEW & FORTHCOMING

Abraham Lincoln and the Indian Civil War

David A. Nichols. Placing Indian affairs in the broader context of American development, Nichols shows that Lincoln's attitudes toward Indian affairs were inextricably enmeshed in a labyrinth of financial, political, military, and social problems. 1978 $15.00 (T)

The Twentieth-Century American West A Potpourri

Gene M. Gressley. In six evocative essays, Gressley treats the topics of colonialism, western regionalism, and federalism and the western bureaucracy, as he endeavors to examine and define various thematic concepts in the history of the American West. 1977 $12.00

Marcus Crassus and the Late Roman Republic

Allen M. Ward. Ward shows that Crassus (115-53? B.C.), a strenuous rival of Pompey, did not have the support of the leading optimates. Argues that Crassus's sudden political shifts as he maneuvered for advantage explain many perplexing problems surrounding the history of the late Roman Republic. 1977 $15.50

"Young Bob" La Follette A Biography of Robert La Follette, Jr.

Patrick J. Maney. This full-scale biography of La Follette is the first to be based on the massive La Follette Family papers. Maney goes beyond the man to shed light on pivotal movements and developments in twentieth-century American life. 1978 $17.00 (T)

Louis Kossuth and Young America A Study of Sectionalism and Foreign Policy, 1848-1852

Donald M. Spencer. Exiled Hungarian leader Louis Kossuth arrived in the U.S. in the 1850s determined to raise support for his second revolution attempt. Spencer discusses Kossuth's profound influence on Young America, a movement committed to spreading abroad the principles of Americanism. 1977 $12.50

The Arts and Architecture of German Settlements in Missouri A Survey of a Vanishing Culture

Charles van Ravenswaay. This monumental survey, featuring more than 600 photographs, graphically portrays evidence of the rich German influence upon the arts and architecture of the lower Missouri River valley. Documents the German immigrants' success in adapting to the Missouri environment, re-creating much of their traditional homeland culture. 1977 $45.00

LIDDELL HART

A Study of his Military Thought

BRIAN BOND

Basil Liddell Hart (1895-1970), British military strategist, theoretician, historian, and widely-read journalist was, as Bond sees him, a pragmatic thinker drawing lessons from history—particularly from the appalling mistakes of World War I. "...the first comprehensive and systematic analysis of the ideas of a writer who helped shape Western military thought after 1918."—Peter Paret.

'BONEY' FULLER

Soldier, Strategist, and Writer, 1878-1966

ANTHONY JOHN TRYTHALL

John Frederick Charles Fuller was, like his friend Liddell Hart, a prolific writer on military affairs who attempted to persuade his countrymen of the importance of mobilized warfare. Trythall, a British army officer, brings to this work a special understanding of the qualities and shortcomings of the man and of the influence of his views. "...no other book on Fuller is likely to reach the level of this one, and as long as Fuller's books are read there should be a demand for an authoritative biography."—Jay Luvaas.

THE MAKING OF THE NEW POOR LAW

The Politics of Inquiry, Enactment, and Implementation, 1832-39

ANTHONY BRUNDAGE

Brundage examines the crucial first five years of the establishment of England's New Poor Law, making full use, for the first time, of the vast store of Poor Law Commission manuscripts. He presents a new view of this law as developmental rather than revolutionary and as a measure that had the support of the peers and the gentry and of Tories as well as of Whigs. "...the most coherent, incisive, and illuminating study of the New Poor Law that I have read." —David Roberts.

THE SECOND EMPIRE REVISITED

A Historiographical Study

STUART L. CAMPBELL

Campbell uses the historiography of the Second Empire as an example of the extent to which historians are advocates who take the present as their point of departure. He discusses how, until recently, French politics and the writing of French history have been virtually indistinguishable, how Berr, Febvre, and Bloch strove to raise historiography beyond politics, how Mathiez introduced the Marxist view, and how present historians emphasize Bonapartist political economy and the modernization of society.

BISHOP AND CHAPTER

The Governance of the Bishopric of Speyer to 1552

LAWRENCE G. DUGGAN

The author uses the cathedral chapter of Speyer as a case study of the rise of territorial governance in medieval Germany, covering such matters as the power of prelates who were also princes; the relation to both papal and feudal authority; and the conflicts between bishops, canons, and burghers. "Duggan handles his source material very well and presents his evidence in a lucid and clear way." —F.L. Carsten.

CHRISTIANS IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

by Mark A. Noll

Following introductory chapters tracing British-American relations and the development of American religious history during the eighteenth century, Noll discusses four primary, distinct responses to the Revolution—the Patriots, the Reformers, the Loyalists, and the Pacifists. In each case, it becomes clear that Christians lent a particularly religious urgency to the political arguments of the period, and that the events of the Revolution deeply affected religious life and theology in the United States. A final chapter examines the religious-national connection forged at the time of the Revolution and sketches its impact on subsequent U.S. history. 1706, paper, $4.95

MODERN EUROPEAN THOUGHT

Continuity and Change in Ideas, 1600-1950

Franklin L. Baumer, Yale University

512 pages (approx.) paper

This new analysis and interpretation of European intellectual history examines the changes in Western thought from 1600 to the present by looking at five major questions that have dominated intellectual history during that time—the questions of God, nature, man, society, and history. Baumer argues that our world view has developed from the relatively static outlook of the Middle Ages to the dynamic, constantly changing one of the twentieth century—in his words, western man's view has changed "from Being to Becoming."

BLACK JACK

The Life and Times of John J. Pershing

By Frank E. Vandiver

1200 pp. Illus. Maps. Bibliography.
Index. Two volumes.

"Here at last is a complete, accurate, and absorbing biography of Pershing. I recommend this splendid work to scholars and general readers alike." —
— JOHN TOLAND.

Pershing's colorful, sometimes controversial career covered a vast span of American history — Indian campaigns, the Spanish-American War, campaigns against the Moro in the Philippines, the Punitive Expedition against Villa, and World War I. One of the American conquistadores who spearheaded Yankee colonialism, he set patterns of military government that persist today. His role as organizer of the AEF capped a career that helped shape the U.S. Army into a modern military force. Both captain and manager, Pershing stood tall among the new breed of soldiers his country's emerging world role required. Vandiver looks at the man in the events of his time, examining the qualities of and challenges to Pershing the soldier without losing sight of the man who wore the uniform. Making extensive use of both domestic and foreign sources, he presents a full-bodied portrait of this remarkable soldier, new insights into U.S. and international military history, and a fresh view of the United States' rise to power. $35.00.

What they say about . . .

Herbert Hill's BLACK LABOR AND THE AMERICAN LEGAL SYSTEM

"Written by a scholar activist with a long record of distinguished service, Herbert Hill's book is the most complete and up-to-date study of the development of American law and legislation regarding racial discrimination in employment. It is historical and analytic, scholarly and readable. . . . A work for professional reference and for the student of public affairs."

—Milton R. Konvitz, Cornell University

"An original and major contribution . . . impressively researched. . . . Unquestionably a tour de force."

—Charles V. Hamilton, Columbia University

"An immensely valuable book. . . . Impressive for its scope and analytical nature. . . . A major study."

—Alfred W. Blumrosen, Rutgers University

" . . . the definitive study . . . makes obsolete all previous literature in this field . . . a monumental piece of legal history. Encyclopedic in scope. . . ."

—Stanford M. Lyman, New School for Social Research

" . . . an invaluable contribution to political science and, indeed, to the community of scholars at large."

—Albert Fried, Sarah Lawrence College

" . . . will become a classic."

—Marshall Patner, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle

" . . . an important book . . . especially valuable for all who are interested in labor history and race relations . . . will be a standard reference work for years to come."

—Sheldon H. Harris, California State University at Northridge

This comprehensive, two-volume study is an interpretative history of the evolution of American law on employment discrimination, and of the response of employers and organized labor to legal prohibitions against discrimination, past and present. Volume I, Race, Work, and the Law, is concerned with developments from the abolition of slavery onward, and with the events that preceded and affected the enactment of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Volume II (in preparation) deals with The Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Volume I is available at $17.50 per copy. To order, please write:

DAY BY DAY: The Forties

Sign up at BOOTH 213 to win a FREE copy.

DAY BY DAY is the new historical reference series based on a chronological approach to world events. The social, economic, and political history of an entire decade is presented in a series of daily time charts under ten different headings: World Affairs, European Affairs, Middle East and Africa, The Americas (Western Hemisphere), Asia and the Pacific, U.S. Politics and Social Issues, U.S. Foreign and Military Affairs, U.S. Economic Affairs, Science, Technology, and Nature, Culture and Life Style.

This structure allows a reader to examine the events of a single 24-hour period—and to interrelate them at a glance.

There is a genuine feeling for the times, reflected in the hit songs, best-selling books, Academy Award movies, and other social phenomena of the period. Trend issues—those that have no one “date”—are handled in special summaries, both month by month and year by year. Thus, the series is for both the serious scholar and the “browser” who wants to know what it was like to live during a particular decade. A simple but extensive index makes it easy to locate people, places, and events.

Four volumes are planned in the DAY BY DAY series: The Forties, Fifties, Sixties, and Seventies. The first volume to be published, DAY BY DAY: THE FORTIES, is written by Dr. Thomas M. Leonard, History Department, University of North Florida, Jacksonville, Fla.

DAY BY DAY: THE FORTIES contains approximately 1,000 pages and 100 photographs. Clothbound and indexed, the book is 10¼ x 13". Its price is $49.95.

Five copies of DAY BY DAY: THE FORTIES will be given away at the conclusion of the A.H.A. convention. Sign up at booth 213 to participate in the free drawing! (Only one entry per registrant, please!)
