On the Cover

The 2026 annual meeting illustration was designed by AHA marketing coordinator Rebecca L. West. The image draws inspiration from the work of Chicago-based architect Frank Lloyd Wright, especially the mural he created for Midway Gardens, which stood in Hyde Park from 1914–29. The design also features Chicago's iconic skyline and the Lake Michigan waterfront that is so important to the culture and economy of the city.

The 139th annual meeting of the Association will be held January 8–11, 2026, in Chicago, Illinois. More than 1,500 scholars will participate in the four-day meeting. In addition, 40 specialized societies and organizations have scheduled sessions and events in partnership with the Association.

Land Acknowledgment

We acknowledge that we are gathered on land that intersects with the ancestral homelands of several tribal nations: the Neshnabék: the Potawatomi, Odawa, and Ojibwe Nations; the Illinois Confederation: the Peoria and Kaskaskia Nations; and the Myaamia, Wea, Ho-Chunk, Sauk, and Meskwaki Nations. The Menominee, Kickapoo, and Mascouten Nations also call the region of northeast Illinois home. Indigenous people continue to live in this area and celebrate their traditional teachings and lifeways. Today, Chicago is home to one of the largest urban Indigenous communities in the United States, and this land remains an important place for Indigenous peoples. Adapted from the Newberry Library; please visit indigenous-chicago.org.

Health and Safety

The AHA and our meeting hotels are working together to follow public health best practices to make meeting attendance as safe as possible. We expect that all attendees will have been vaccinated for COVID-19 by the time of the meeting (and received a booster if possible). Attendees should comply with all health and safety rules and guidelines established by the AHA, the CDC, the conference hotels, and the local government. Masks are welcome for those that wear them. See historians.org/ampolicies for the latest information.

Accessibility Information

All meeting hotels have accessible lobbies with at least one entrance with auto-slide doors; door-service personnel are available at other entrances. Each elevator has a wheelchair-accessible keypad. Elevators either have audible announcements or Braille numerals beside each control button. Restrooms in lobbies and on meeting room floors are wheelchair accessible and have tactile signage.

All hotels have accessible registration desks or provide clipboards to guests to complete registration documentation. All hotels have accessible guest rooms. Among other amenities, these rooms feature wheelchair-accessible doors, lever door handles, security peepholes, ample room space, grab bars in restrooms, low sinks with insulated pipes, accessible towel racks, and accessible mirrors. The following auxiliary aids are available at most properties: flashing fire alarm, doorbell, and telephone; vibrating alarm clock; closed-caption decoders; Braille signage; and TDD telephones. Additional information about accessible sleeping rooms is available through Maritz, the AHA's housing service.

Code of Professional Conduct

The AHA is committed to creating and maintaining a harassment-free environment for all participants in the Association's activities, regardless of their actual or perceived sex, gender, gender expression, gender identity, sexual orientation, marital status, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, socioeconomic status, veteran status, age, or religion. All members and participants, including employers, contractors, vendors, volunteers, and guests, are expected to engage in consensual and respectful behavior and to preserve AHA's standard of professionalism at all times. The policy pertains to all venues where officially sanctioned AHA conferences, meetings, and other activities occur.

Details, including procedures for addressing violations of the statement, are posted at historians.org/conduct.

Recording Policy

The AHA and the press occasionally record sessions for use in broadcast and electronic media, and film or photograph public areas at the meeting. Registration, attendance, or participation at the meeting constitutes an agreement to the use of the attendee's image in photographs, video, audio, and electronic communications. Presenters who do not wish for their session to be recorded may opt out by contacting annualmeeting@historians.org. In order to encourage open debate and allow members to speak as freely as possible, the AHA does not permit audio or video recording of its business meeting. Anyone who wishes to conduct audio or video recording must obtain permission from participants in advance. The AHA is not responsible for unauthorized recording but does reserve the right to revoke registration of anyone who records sessions without appropriate permissions.

Social Media Policy

To facilitate virtual conversations arising from the annual meeting, the AHA encourages attendees to post on social media using #AHA26. Participants are encouraged to share their social media handles. Speakers presenting material that they do not wish to be shared in real time should make a request to the audience at the beginning of their presentations.

Childcare

Grants to subsidize childcare are available by application. Please visit historians.org/childcaregrants for more information.

Formal childcare services will not be provided at the meeting. Attendees should make arrangements directly with a provider prior to arriving in Chicago (some options are noted below). The AHA assumes no responsibility with respect to these services and accepts no liabilities related to the services provided.

Child Registration Policy

Parents and guardians whose children, 15 years old and younger, will accompany them to the meeting may bring their own child into the Exhibit Hall at no extra charge. Attendees ages 16 and up must register at the appropriate registration rate. The AHA assumes that parents and guardians will provide appropriate supervision for their children.

Business Meeting

The AHA Council, divisions, and committees will report to the Association at the annual business meeting. Reports are subject to discussion and appropriate motions relating to them. Resolutions must be submitted to the office of the executive director by October 1, to allow time for publication. Resolutions must be in proper parliamentary form; must be signed by members of the Association in good standing at the time of submission, and by at least 2 percent of the total Association membership as of the end of the previous fiscal year (213 people); must not be more than 300 words in length including any introductory material; and must deal with a matter of concern to the Association or to the discipline of history. Such resolutions must be in accord with the Association's Guiding Principles on Taking a Public Stance (historians.org/public-stance). Signatures in support of such resolutions must be collected no earlier than January 1 of the year in which the resolution is submitted. Resolutions submitted by the deadline, and meeting the criteria for consideration, shall be published in the November issue of Perspectives on History.

Only AHA members and others who receive permission from the Council may attend the business meeting. Please confirm in advance that your membership is up to date.

Affiliated Societies

A table in the Exhibit Hall has been set aside during normal hours for affiliated societies to display materials and to meet with members of the discipline on a rotating schedule. Check the online program for the schedule.

Organizing an Informal Meeting

The AHA has set aside space for small group conversations about historical and professional issues. Those interested in hosting an informal conversation with colleagues during the annual meeting can arrange a gathering in our community and coworking space. Members registered for the meeting may also reserve a room for small group meetings during the conference for board meetings, focus groups, or collaborative projects. See historians.org/meetups for details.

WORKSHOP

Friday, January 9, 8:30–11:30 a.m.

Op-Ed Workshop

Hilton Chicago, Astoria Room

Organized by the AHA Research Division

Writing short articles for the general public is an important skill in the historian's toolkit. From newspaper op-eds to magazine articles to blog posts, there are many publications where historians can share their research, connect it with current events or popular culture, and reach new readers.

A panel of experienced editors and writers will begin the session by discussing how to pitch, write, and edit op-eds meant for a general audience. In the second part, small groups will be able to workshop their own ideas for short-form writing with each other and the experts.

No charge; because space is limited, free advance registration is required.

Chair: Laura Ansley, American Historical Association

Panel: Keisha N. Blain, Brown University

Tour leaders: Crystal Johnson, Chicago History Museum; Martin Tuohy, Pullman State Historic Site; Hank Bell, Pullman National Historical Park

The 1881 Pullman Car Works and Hotel Florence, located 15 miles and 30 minutes directly south of downtown Chicago, offer a rare chance to learn how historians, archivists, and curators interpret a massive 1880s industrial complex amid competing interpretations of what matters.

The tour will visit the unrestored 1881 Front Erecting Shops, the Rear Erecting Shops, and the recently rehabilitated Pullman Administration Building. The tour will explore the 1880s–1930s interchange between persons who came to Pullman from England, Prussia, Italy, Japan, and elsewhere and the Pullman Company's export of Chicago-built cars to Manchuria, Central and South America, South Africa, Italy, and England. If weather allows, the group will visit the car works' superintendent's restored house (now home to a coffee shop and house tour).

Please note: The tour will travel via public transit and walk to and from the 11th Street–Museum Campus Metra station. The Pullman station is not accessible, with approximately 100 steps. LOCAL ARRANGEMENTS COMMITTEE TOUR

Sunday, January 11, 9:30 a.m.–2:30 p.m.

Tour 6: Little Palestine: Stories, People, Struggles

Hilton Chicago, 8th Street North Registration

Tour leaders: Palestinian Historians Group, Historians for Peace and Democracy, Historians for Palestine, and the Justice Coalition

This immersive bus and walking tour will take participants through the heart of “Little Palestine” in the southwest Chicago suburbs. The tour explores how Little Palestine has been shaped by larger historical forces and mobilizations, both in the US and abroad, from the civil rights era to the war on terror. As we visit local grassroots organizations, a bakery, a grocer, a school, and a coffeehouse, the tour will explore intersecting histories of immigration, foreign policy, diasporic politics, and community organizing. Participants will hear stories from local leaders, educators, veterans, artists, elected officials, and ordinary people about the shifting history of Palestinian migration to the city; the struggles of building cultural, religious, and political institutions; and efforts to resist unjust policies and state surveillance at home and abroad. Attendees will gain a deeper understanding of how the people of Little Palestine transformed this corner of Chicagoland despite intergenerational displacement and dispossession, and wrote a chapter in the global history of the Palestinians.

Please note: The group will travel by bus, with some walking around the neighborhood. Participants will have the opportunity to purchase lunch at a local business during the tour.

Limit 24 people. $55 members. $65 nonmembers.

Saltwater: Grief in Early America

"A profound meditation on the universality and historical specificity of grief. . . . This book is essential reading for early Americanists and a timely reflection on the subtle forms of grief that constitute the human experience."—Sarah Rivett, Princeton University

Susan Juster

A Common Grave: Being Catholic in English America

"Mining a dazzling array of sources, including those foregrounding ritual and material culture, Juster introduces us to an early American Catholicism that was far more geographically, ethnically, and racially diverse. . . . This remarkable book will change our understanding of religion in the English colonies."—Kathleen Sprows Cummings, University of Notre Dame

Lauren Duval

The Home Front: Revolutionary Households, Military Occupation, and the Making of American Independence

"In this captivating and deeply researched book, Duval reveals that the battles of the Revolution were hardly confined to the battlefields; instead, the British occupation of colonial America's largest cities threw colonists' most intimate spaces into turmoil and made domestic life central to the Revolution's aims and outcomes."—Serena Zabin, Carleton College

The American Revolution: Essays on the Founding Era* An Omohundro Institute Collection Edited by Nicholas Popper

"This superb collection explores lesser-known aspects of the American Revolution, including the participation of ordinary men and women, Native Americans, citizen soldiers, and enslaved people. Accessible to students, scholars, and general readers alike, the essays deepen our knowledge of the founding moment in our nation's history."

American Lesson Plan: Teaching US History in Secondary Schools

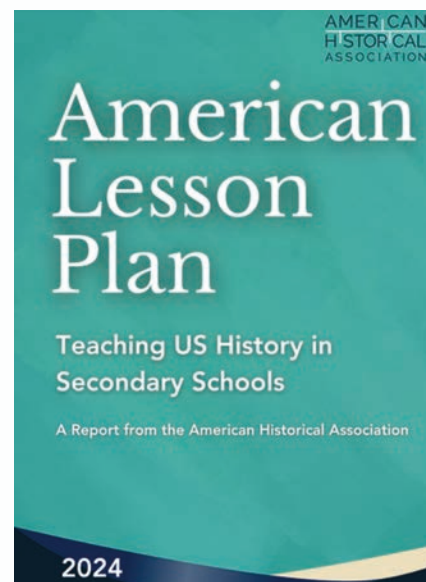

A Report from the American Historical Association

What are K–12 students learning about US history?

The AHA's American Lesson Plan summarizes key findings from the most comprehensive study of secondary US history education undertaken in the 21st century.

In 2022, we launched a project to analyze what is actually happening in classrooms across the country. Are teachers distorting history or indoctrinating children? Careful research transcends the heat and noise surrounding history instruction and enables us to provide a helpful and reliable source of information to parents, administrators, legislators, journalists, historians, and the many other stakeholders invested in the future of public education.

The resulting report distills insights gathered during a two-year exploration of secondary history education. Combining a 50-state appraisal of standards and legislation with a nine-state deep-dive into local contexts, we commissioned a National Opinion Research Center survey of over 3,000 middle and high school US history educators, conducted long-form interviews with over 200 teachers and administrators, and collected thousands of pages of instructional materials from small towns to sprawling suburbs to big cities. The US education system—diverse, devolved, and divided—could never be captured by the blunt slogans that have dominated sensationalist media and drawn attention from even more careful observers.

Rethinking Revolution. Rediscovering Loyalists.
Not everyone chose independence.

At americanloyalists.org, explore the overlooked narrative of allegiance, displacement, and survival in the American Revolution. Through archives, teaching resources, maps, and new scholarship, the project restores Loyalist voices to the historical record.

Led by the Loyalist Studies Institute at St. Thomas Aquinas College, the initiative blends historical research with digital humanities. Faculty and students together reveal the complexities of allegiance and offer fresh perspectives on America's founding conflict.
